BACK TO SCHOOL AT SEMINARY

School opened today at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry, first Marin school to start the new term. In foreground as students start familiar trek among classroom buildings are Don Crowley and Gayle Brian, two of about 300 students at the Strawberry campus, who represent most of the 50 states and several foreign countries. Board Passes $12 Million Budget

A fiscal 1962 Marin County budget of $12,186,933.07 was approved late yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors, which also set the county tax rate at $2.05 per $100 of assessed valuation, down seven cents from last year.

The supervisors also passed the library budget of $274,244 and set the library tax rate at 14 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

A letter by Assistant Auditor Michael Mitchell accompanied submission of the budget figures to the board.

This letter for the first time gave a breakdown of the amounts of assessed valuation represented by the five supervisorial districts.

The breakdown showed that except in Ludy's district, most of the assessed valuation is within incorporated areas.

Here are the figures:

First District (Supervisor Walter R. Castro) $22,772,600 of valuation in unincorporated areas, $52,592,480 in incorporated areas, $75,365,080 total; 28.1 per cent of county's assessed valuation.

Second District (Supervisor William D. Fusselman): $24,648,660 unincorporated, $55,986,230 incorporated, $80,634,890 total; 30 per cent of county.

Third District (Supervisor J. Walter Blair): $30,852,770 unincorporated, $41,133,215 incorporated, $71,985,985 total; 26.8 per cent of county.

Fourth District (Supervisor George Ludy): $8,053,500 unincorporated; no incorporated; $8,053,500 total; three per cent of county.

Fifth District (Supervisor William Gnoss): $15,045,630 unincorporated, $17,281,500 incorporated, $32,327,130 total; 12.1 per cent of county.

Though the tax rate is decreased, the budget is more than 10 per cent higher than last year, when the budget figure was $11,648,400.

Mitchell's breakdown of means of financing the new county budget showed $5,747,449.79, or 47.2 per cent, coming from property taxes. Aid from other governmental agencies, mostly the state, will be $4,074,830.31 or 33.4 per cent.

Biggest item among expenditures is listed under charities and corrections (largely welfare and probation expenses), which is 39.2 per cent of the total.

Next largest is general government at $3,361,583.87 or 27.6 per cent.

Mitchell's letter said a further breakdown by major classifications shows salaries taking $4,074,999 or 33.5 per cent; maintenance using $5,496,856.50 or 45.1 per cent; capital outlay and construction $2,365,077.51 or 19.4 per cent and reserve $250,000 or two per cent.

Figures for the county tax rate show $1.609 for general fund, down 5.1 cents from 1961; capital improvement and building fund 45 cents, down 3.4 cents, and unappropriated reserve 6.1 cents, up 1.5 cents.

School Board Outing Under Fire In Marin

Group In Junket To Lake County Over Weekend

Legality of an unpublicized weekend junket of San Jose School District trustees, superintendent, special teachers and principals at Hoberg's resort in Lake County was questioned today by a county official.

The weekend outing, at which 19 persons including a quorum of the school board were present, cost $577.50 of funds of the district, which faces severe curtailment of its school program if extension of federal funds for "federally impacted" areas fails to pass Congress.

Asst. County Auditor Michael Mitchell asked County Counsel E. Warren McGuire today for an opinion on whether it is legal for a school district to hold a meeting for its members outside the county at district expense.

AT HOBERG'S

"Of course it's legal," said Supt. Philip W. Schneider. "Other districts in California do it every year."

McGuire said he would not state definitely until tomorrow whether the meeting was covered by a section of the state education code.

"The district did not pay for the eight husbands and wives who went along," Schneider said: "That would be illegal.

"We picked Hoberg's because it was inexpensive. We could not find anything reasonable in Marin County."

Meetings were held Friday night, Saturday morning, afternoon and night, and Sunday morning, Schneider said.

SMALL AMOUNT

"It was a small amount of money to spend compared to the benefit the district will get out of it," he declared. "District personnel gave up their weekend and in this way became better informed."

The San Jose District board was scheduled to meet last

Pair Gets $9,699 At Airport Bank

Wilhelm (William) N. Hartauer of San Rafael went out just to roll down the windows of his car at San Francisco International Airport parking lot yesterday and ended up as hostage in a bank holdup.

Hartauer was held in the trunk of his car while two bandits took $9,699 at gunpoint from the Bank of America branch at the airport. He later pried his way out of the car trunk and called police.

Hartauer, married, resides at 45 Martens Boulevard, San Rafael, and is assistant controller for Interstate Hosts, Inc., restaurant operators at the airport.

Hartauer went to his car about 10:30 a.m. yesterday to roll down the windows so the car would not get overheated. He was sitting in the car when a gun was pushed through the open window and pointed at his head, he later told Millbrae police.

One bandit, tall and thin and called "John," got in on one side; "Charley," shorter and fatter, got in on the other side. The car was driven to a remote corner of the parking lot where Hartauer was blindfolded and locked in the trunk.

The bandits drove around and bought gasoline for the car while Hartauer used a pry bar to push open a corner of the trunk lid.

The bandits heard him and told him to "quit messing around or I'll let you have it," he related.

With Hartauer still in the trunk, the bandits pushed a gun at bank teller Richard Nelson of San Mateo, who had gone outside the bank to get his lunch from his car.

They formed Nelson to enter the bank with them, one carrying a revolver, the other a sewed-off shotgun, and fled with $9,699 in cash.

Hartauer remained in the trunk as the car headed for Millbrae, where the robbers apparently picked up another car. The two cars drove on to the Mills Estate Shopping Center in Burlingame. There Hartauer's car was abandoned, the robbers apparently fleeing in the other car.

Hartauer by that time had unscrewed the screws to the trunk lid hinges. He jumped out and phoned Millbrae police.

Board Hears Old People's Home Plans

Marin County supervisors in about a week are expected to hear details of plans for private construction of a 150-bed old people's convalescent home to be leased by the county.

Preliminary plans outlined in a meeting this morning with some county officials indicated that the home would be constructed in Lucas Valley.

Frank E. Marsh, president of the International Industrial Institute, Ltd., San Francisco, asked county guidance in drawing up preliminary plans to be presented to the supervisors.

MARSH PROPOSAL

The county presumably would lease beds at the home. Any bed space available after filling county needs might be let to individuals, Marsh indicated.

Most probable site of the building is at Lucas Valley, the present site of the county hospital which has failed to meet state standards. Three bond issued for replacing the hospital have failed in Marin.

LUCAS VALLEY

Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr., county physician, said he favored the Lucas Valley site over one near Marin General Hospital. But he said he would not object to a site near the Marin General "if it isn't tied into the Marin County Hospital District. I can see no advantage . . . The type of patients are completely different," Dufficy told the group.

Marsh generally agreed that the Lucas Valley site would be the one, with County Administrator Alan Bruce indicating that the present county home might be converted to office use for juvenile authorities.

COMPLETE

The proposed building should be complete in itself, Dufficy said, instead of having a proposed common kitchen with the juvenile hall.

The building could be used for up to 200-210 patients without additional construction, if

Nine Fall To Death As Jet Snaps Air Rail Cable In Alps

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—A French Air Force jet fighter plane sliced through the support cable of an aerial railway on the slopes of Mont Blanc today, sending at least nine persons plummeting to their deaths and stranding about 80 more suspended in terror in cars over an icy gorge, many injured.

The plane that cut through the cable in the freak accident was an FB-4F Thunderstreak. It suffered only superficial damage and managed to reach its base near Lyons.

Helicopters from a nearby base promptly flew to the scene, which is in the French Alps about 450 miles from Paris, in an effort to try to rescue the tourists, swaying high above the glaciers and jagged rocks.

When the cable parted, some of the cars crashed into the rock wall and the glacier slope. But most remained suspended in the air above the valley.

A spokesman for rescue teams on the scene said there were no mechanical means of bringing the cars to safety.

Helicopters were sent immediately to the scene, but it appeared unlikely that they could rescue the tourists.

RIPS RIGHTIST SOCIETY

Former Agent Of OSS Tells How Birch Died

HONOLULU (AP)—A Honolulu piano teacher who says he was a World War II agent for the Office of Strategic Services, told today how the Chinese Communists murdered John Birch near Soochow in 1945.

Curtis Grimes called a news conference to tell about the slaying, saying: "I don't like to see a man's name used as John Birch's name is being used."

He was referring to the rightist John Birch Society which took the name of Army Capt. Birch, a wartime agent of the OSS.

Grimes said the John Birch Society "should be stamped out." He criticized it was "using the name of John Birch in vain."

Grimes told of an OSS mission on which he, Birch, a Lt. Ogle, a radio operator named Smith and a Chinese aide were sent. It was on this mission that Birch and the Chinese aide were slain.

Grimes said they were headed for Soochow on an intelligence mission to the Chinese coast when their railroad handcar was stopped by Red Chinese troopers 30 miles from Soochow.

"They allowed Birch and his interpreter to go down to a mud hut village," Grimes said. "Birch wanted them to let us through but they kept him there for at least an hour. I heard the shots that killed Birch and the aide and so did the two men with me.

"Birch was shot in the head, but it didn't kill him. He was dragged across a gully and his throat was cut with a bayonet.

"Not being satisfied with that, they ripped the skin off his face. The adjutant general has pictures in Washington."

Grimes, 54, said he learned

Another Berlin Refugee Slain

BERLIN (AP)—Communist militiamen today shot and killed a refugee trying to swim across a canal to West Berlin, Western police reported.

The Communists captured another refugee fleeing with him.

Firemen from both East and West grappled for the body.

This was the second incident of its kind within a week. Last Thursday Red railway police fire killed a man trying to swim to safety across the barge harbor in what was once the center of the city.

San Francisco Tax Rate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted an $8.31 tax rate, 17-cents lower than the previous rate despite a proposed 10-million-dollar increase in the city's spending program.

Community Clubhouse Trial Opens

The battle for possession of the Novato Community Clubhouse and property opened today before Judge Joseph G. Wilson, sitting in Marin Superior Court.

Attorney William O. Weissich, representing the city of Novato and one of the originators of the Novato Community Inc., Alfred W. Bowman. Weissich contends the clubhouse should be given outright to the new City of Novato with no strings attached.

PRESENT OFFICERS

Attorney Jack Burnam, representing the present officers of the corporation, allege that the present officers can amend the bylaws and can decide what should be done with the building.

In his opening argument, Weissich declared that the corporation was formed in 1947, and the founders announced at that time that money and property of the corporation should revert to the City of Novato when the city incorporates.

Burnham, on the other hand, argued that the bylaws were amended in 1954, and the amendment provides that the title to the property must go to a similar charitable institution and does not necessarily have to go to the City of Novato.

SOCIAL CENTER

If the clubhouse goes to the city, it will be made into a city hall and city jail, Burnham declared. "This will take away the only social center available to the community."

Weissich's first witness this morning was John C. Flugger, who was chairman of the Community Club Council, which

Hunt Yields Pair With Pellet Pistol

Two Marin youths, armed with a carbon dioxide pellet pistol that looks like a .45 caliber revolver, were caught in Santa Venetia this afternoon in a search for San Francisco peninsula bank robbers.

Sheriff's deputies said, however, there is no evidence to connect the two with the San Francisco Airport bank robbery.

One of the youths taken to the sheriff's office for questioning was Leroy Grundhauser, 23, San Rafael. The other was Robert P. Sundberg, 19, Santa Venetia.

The chain of events that led to the capture went like this:

A man with a mustache and with a gun in his hip pocket was spotted on Magee Avenue in Mill Valley about 11:20 a.m. by a 17-year-old boy.

The man, a woman and small, blond child, believed to be a boy about three years old, entered a light green Pontiac sedan.

The boy went to Mill Valley police because he thought the youths looked something like the sketches of bandits wanted for the bank holdup which had appeared in a San Francisco morning newspaper.

The sheriff called for a countywide roadblock.

Policeman Tells Of Interviews At Death Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Unusual tesitmony of two police officers marked the street car murder trial of four youths today.

Inspectors William Guthrie and Robert McLennan read their testimony from a manuscript typed from a tape-recorded interviews with one of the defendants, Larry Magee, 16.

'BEAT VICTIM'

Guthrie asked the questions as the jury listened, and McLennan gave the answers.

In his first statement to police, Magee refused to "rat" on his codefendants. But he insisted, "I don't feel I murdered nobody."

In his second statement, however, he spoke freely into the tape recorder.

He said he and his companions were seeking men they thought were homosexuals when they saw Hall waiting for a streetcar and went up to him. Magee said:

"I says, 'Are you a queer?' The guy says, 'What if I asked you that?'

TONE OF VOICE

"He said it in such a tone I got kicked off because I hate them. I can't stand queers."

Magee said he went up to the teacher and they got in an argument, but he (Magee) "just pushed him. I didn't hit him," he insisted.

The statement added, however, that codefendants William Castillo, and Bob Hall, each 17, jumped in and "started whaling him."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Made It To Freedom

VORDINGBORG, Denmark (AP)—Two East German youths made their way to freedom through Denmark yesterday. They told police they went ashore from a pleasure yacht. Police decided to escort them to Grossenbrode, West Germany.

Air Hijack Death

The measure, given final congressional approval yesterday, defines the in-air seizure of planes as an act of piracy and provides penalties from 20 years in prison up to death.

It also defines other crimes committed aboard an airplane in flight as federal offenses and provides penalties.

Ted Williams' Mother

SANTA BARBARA (AP)—May Williams, mother of former Boston baseball star Ted Williams, died Sunday in a rest home. She was about 60 years old.

Mrs. Williams, for years a dedicated worker for the Salvation Army, made considerable personal sacrifice to support Ted and his late brother, Danny. She saw Ted through Hoover High School, San Diego, and at 17 he signed a contract with the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League as a pitcher. He was soon converted to the outfield, and two years later was signed by the Boston Red Sox.

Williams was en route to Santa Barbara for funeral services Tuesday. Mrs. Williams moved there from San Diego about two years ago.

A-Sub At Sea

The "Abe" left Charleston yesterday on her first tour of duty. She is the fifth missile-firing nuclear submarine to be put on active duty by the U.S. Navy.

Cmdr. Leonard Erb is in charge of the Abraham Lincoln which arrived here Aug. 16 to be outfitted with missiles and pick up other supplies at the Charleston Naval Ammunition Depot.

False Alarm

HONOLULU (AP) — A pilot's report that he saw debris and vivid green smoke at sea sent search planes scrambling over the Pacific yesterday.

The searchers found nothing. No planes or ships were reported missing in the area, 800 miles northeast of here.

Record Crop Of Births

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record crop of babies during the first six months of 1961 bids fair to make this a record year for births the Public Health Service reported yesterday.

It said an estimated 2,077,000 live births were registered during the first half of 1961, compared with a previous first-half record of 2,056,000 set in 1959. "Should the relative increase observed during the first six months of 1961 be maintained through December, there will be an estimated yearly total of 4,386,000 registered births," the service said.

Mrs. Taft Dies

She served for more than 20 years on numerous international relief organizations.

Until her resignation three weeks ago, she was the president of the Cincinnati Citizenship Council. She was a sister-in-law of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

STATE FAIR IS OPENING TOMORROW

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California State Fair opens tomorrow with the crowning of the winner of the Maid of California contest.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown will announce the winner in ceremonies at the plaza in front of the counties building. She will be selected from 11 finalists.

A youth parade, featuring high school bands, will be another highlight of the opening day of the 12-day exposition.

Admission charge for the fair is $1. Children under 16 years of age and servicemen in uniform will be admitted free.

G.M. Looks Like Target For Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today picks which of the Big Three automakers it may strike at 12:01 a.m. Friday in support of new contract demands.

Speculation snowballed there will be a strike when current three-year contracts run out at midnight Thursday unless General Motors, Ford and Chrysler improve on the wage package they offered a week ago.

General Motors, the giant of the industry, ranks No. 1 in speculation on which of the three would be struck. The Detroit Free Press said today: "G.M. is certain to be the target." In 1955 and 1958 Ford was the target.

The UAW's International Executive Board will meet in special session late this afternoon and is expected to authorize strikes against all but also tell workers at two to withhold action. The third would be struck in hopes of winning a pattern-setting contract for all of the Big Three.

National councils of the union's G.M., Ford and Chrysler departments meeting in advance of the executive board session are expected to submit formal requests for strike authority.

Workers in plants of all three companies voted overwhelmingly to walk out, if necessary, to back up demands for improvements in wages and fringe benefits.

Strike authorization would not necessarily mean there would be a strike.

"Awful Poison Oak Itch Kept Me Away From Work 3 Days" Reports Lineman

I was away from work 3 days and scratched and itched for three nights, then a druggist told my wife about BATHE-AWAY POISON OAK.

That evening I poured a little of this delicately scented lotion into a tub of water and actually "bathed-away the itch and rash of poison oak!"

I've thrown away all the messy creams and ointments. Bathe-Away is invisible. Now when I've been exposed to poison oak I come home and BATHE-AWAY POISON OAK before it even starts.

I'm really grateful to the druggist for telling my wife about Bathe-Away Poison Oak. See your druggist at once.

U.S., British Consuls Under Congo Guard

Anti-Western Feelings High In Stanleyville

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — United Nations troops in the Stanleyville stronghold of leftist Antoine Gizenga kept the U.S. and British consuls under close guard today because of anti-Western feeling in the city.

Embassy officials here said consuls Tom Cassilly of Baltimore and Donald Ballantyne of Gatwick, England, were safe under the protection of Ethiopian U.N. troops.

TO FLY OUT

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Cassilly probably would be flown out of Stanleyville in a few days.

Stanleyville is the capital of Oriental Province which nominally is controlled by Gizenga, the Communist-favored Congo leader. Gizenga recently announced recognition of Premier Cyrille Adoula's central government after maintaining a separate regime in Stanleyville for a year.

The exact whereabouts of Cassilly, the focal point of the trouble in Stanleyville, was unknown but it was believed he was in U.N. headquarters. Ballantyne was said to be in the British Consulate, across the street from the headquarters building.

Officials here said the trouble apparently started when Cassilly went to the airport Friday night to investigate the status of two American crewmen of an Air Jordan plane which landed with a cargo of clothes and food.

BECOMES ANGRY

Stanleyville Army chief Gen. Victor Lundula was reported to have become angry when he found the plane was being held by the United Nations. He blamed the United States and ordered Cassilly arrested.

Cassilly bargained for his freedom from Congolese soldiers who stuck their rifles in his ribs, but he was re-arrested moments later. Then, according to the U.S. embassy, Cassilly asked the Ethiopian troops, who were watching the incident, to give him protection. They complied, and the Congolese soldiers withdrew.

Saturday night, another group of Congolese soldiers, apparently not distinguishing between Britain and the United States, set out for a restaurant where Ballantyne was dining with Ian Alexander, whom Ballantyne was replacing as consul.

LEFT SUNDAY

An Ethiopian officer entered the restaurant and told the Britons that Congolese soldiers were converging on the place. Alexander and Ballantyne immediately went to the British Consulate.

Reports from Katanga Province reported calm there after yesterday's sweeping arrests by U.N. forces of Belgian and other European military men. Nearly 100 officers and men serving with the Katanga armed forces were arrested and disarmed.

The U.N. operation was ordered to force compliance with the U.N. Security Council resolution of last Feb. 21 barring foreign troops and advisers from the Congo.

WHAT BECAME OF RUSSIA'S VENUS PROBE?

Soviet scientists aren't quite sure. They lost track of the rocket two weeks after launching, but they assume it's either still whirling through outer space or that it has burned up.

The 1,418-pound vehicle was supposed to make the 167-million-mile journey to Venus in 97 days, and come within 62,000 miles of the cloud-shrouded planet.

The Soviets have been unable to locate the rocket.

No communiques have been released, and no word has been printed anywhere in Russia about the fact that radio contact with the rocket has been lost.

Soviet Ship Spotted Off Alaska Coast

NOME, Alaska (UPI)—A charter pilot sighted a mysterious Russian ship Saturday about two miles from the Alaskan Island of St. Lawrence, it was reported today.

The ship, definitely not a fishing trawler, quickly started to move after the plane spotted it. Ironically the sighting report came one day after the Soviet Union warned it would destroy any submarines found prowling about its shore.

Pilot Dick Gallaher of Nome said he was contacted by an Air Force radar station at Northeast Cape and asked to check on a report of an unidentified ship off the coast of Savoonga, a village about 40 miles west of the station.

Gallaher, who was flying passenger to St. Lawrence at the time, said he spotted the ship 20 minutes later and made four passes alongside the vessel. He said the ship was "short and stubby," flying a Russian flag, and had Russian lettering on the side.

The pilot said he was flying less than 100 feet above the water and was low enough that he could look across the ship rather than down at it. A passenger with Gallaher took several pictures of the vessel.

Gallaher said the ship was barely moving when he first sighted it, but that it began moving out to sea as he approached. Four hours later, when he was returning here, the pilot saw the vessel again and said it was steaming "full speed" due west.

He said its position then was about 25 miles northwest of Savoonga and that it probably was heading toward a Russian Navy base on the Siberian coast.

The ship definitely was not a fishing trawler, Gallaher said. He added that it had no fishing gear visible and looked more like a tanker or an ore ship.

St. Lawrence is about 150 miles east of Nome which is on the Alaska mainland east coast.

Lost Man Survives 10 Weeks In Wilds

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—"I prepared to die," William C. Waters said today as he described the harrowing 10 weeks he spent lost in the Alaska wilds. Rescue came just as he thought the last hope had gone.

Waters, 42, virtually given up for dead, was recovering in a hospital where he told of walking until he fell and being pawed by a bear cub as he lay half conscious.

The story of survival that amazed even Alaskans used to wilderness hardships was told as Waters slowly began to recover strength after an ordeal that cut his 190-pound weight almost in half.

Waters, a Cincinnati postal employee from Erlanger, Ky., was on a long-planned Alaska vacation trip when he left his automobile and hiked to Big Lake, 120 miles northeast of here, to fish.

"After an hour at the lake," said Waters, "I figured there must be a creek off in the foothills and set out for it, but I never found one. I turned to go back and started following a stream, thinking it would take me back to the road."

That was June 20. What happened after the first few days, Waters recalled hazily.

"For the first three or four days," he said. "I heard airplanes but I didn't think I was lost. Every day would get worse. My feet became sore and swollen. I was afraid to take my shoes off for fear I wouldn't get them on again."

At first it was hot and mosquitoes were bad. Then it rained two and-a-half days and turned cold.

"At one time I was lying exhausted on my back with my face covered and my feet crossed," said Waters. "Something was turning my feet over and over. I would put them back and something would turn them over again. I pulled my coat off my head and there was a little cub. Two larger bears were there but ran off."

Last Friday as Waters lay near a stream he heard a boat come down the river and then return. Too weak to move, he felt this was the end. The next day the boat returned and this time Waters dragged himself to the bank. Two moose hunters from Fairbanks rescued him.

Waters said he kept alive by eating wild cranberries, raspberries and rosehips—the pods of wild roses gone to seed.

"As the season ended and the berries started to go," he said. "I figured I'd go too."

Waters, a bachelor, is a hunting and fishing enthusiast who served in the Army Air Corps from 1940 to 1946. His parents are dead. Two brothers and a sister live in Ohio.

"Our prayers have been answered," said brother John C. Waters in Cincinnati.

Atlanta Tense As School Nears

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Special police security measures went into effect today just 24 hours before nine Negroes planned to attend white public high schools for the first time in Georgia history.

Originally 10 Negroes were entered with about 4,400 white pupils at four widely separated city schools.

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said literature was being distributed calling for a boycott of the four high schools. He said some of the literature carried names, addresses and photographs of the Negroes being admitted to the schools under a federal court order.

Negro Charged In Kidnaping Still At Large

MONROE, N.C. (UPI) — Police said last night a Negro leader charged with kidnaping a white couple during racial violence here apparently has fled the city.

Officers with shotguns and tear guns raided the headquarters of Robert Williams, a bearded admirer of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro who was expelled by the NAACP for advocating violence against whites.

Williams had disappeared, officers said, and no guns were found in the building. Police asked the FBI to issue an alarm for Williams, who was believed to be traveling north.

About 50 law enforcement officers, working in teams of 25 on each shift, patrolled the city on an around-the-clock basis to prevent a recurrence of racial violence here.

There were no incidents or arrests last night.

The nation's maintenance and repair bill for buildings of all kinds has grown to around 20 billion dollars a year.

Fairfax City Workers To Get Raises

Fulltime employees of the City of Fairfax got a $25-per-month raise last night.

Mayor Kenneth M. Edgar moved for the raise at the city council meeting. After an immediate second it was voted in 3-0 without discussion. Councilmen Waldemar E. Radtke and Rolfe M. Ockenden were absent.

The council awarded a contract of $9,936 to Reichhold and Jurkovich of San Pablo for improvement of Tamalpais and Oak roads, Toyon Drive and portions of Elsie Lane. The San Pablo contractor was low bidder and is to begin work within 25 days, reported Street Supt. Charles M. Thornton.

In other action, the council:

1. Set for Sept. 5 at 8 p.m. a meeting in the firehouse to set the tax rate for 1961-62. Rate is expected to be $1.25 per assessed valuation, said City Clerk Alice Leonesio.

2. Set Sept. 11 for public hearing on the planning commission's decision to leave Piper Lane area in Manor zoned for apartments.

3. Told A. B. Whittemore he could go ahead and improve and sell his property at 181 and 183 Pine Drive despite neighborhood protests that Whittemore had advertised the residence, a triplex when he described it, as a "duplex plus." Whittemore told the council that he knew it was illegal to build a triplex in the area and had no intention of doing so. The "plus" he said meant an extra bathroom and rumpus room for which he had a building permit.

4. Instructed City Atty. Wallace S. Myers to bring the council some more sign and gasoline station ordinances for consideration. Last night the attorney presented San Rafael's gasoline station ordinance and a "comprehensive" sign ordinance to be read individually by the councilmen.

5. Received a letter of thanks for the careful and efficient manner in which the Fairfax Fire Department put out a mattress fire recently at the Lanaii Apartments on Sir Francsi Drake Boulevard. The police department was also commended by the owner for its participation.

6. Instructed the city attorney to notify Francisco Sales Co. of San Francisco it is in violation of a state-city subdivision act if it sells property off Cascade Drive without filing a subdivision map with the city. Thornton told the council that some of the property had already been sold.

7. Heard several letters of complaint regarding parking conditions on Fairfax Streets. The letters were short and in essence said only that conditions were crowded. City Clerk Leonesio said they included to support of the city's proposed 1962 off-street parking ordinance which the council said it will decide upon when all the councilmen are present.

How to get up to 30 extra miles per tankful

Here are some tips from Shell's experts on how to get maximum mileage from your car. If you practice these good driving habits—and if you use today's Super Shell, with 9 ingredients for top performance—you may well save a pretty penny on gasoline bills.

SHELL scientists spend much of their working lives figuring out how to get the most mileage out of a gallon of gasoline. Here are some of the things they've learned.

1. Don't race a cold engine. When your engine is cold, it uses up more fuel. You're also in danger of underlubrication. You pay for this in greater engine wear. (A properly operating thermostat assures a full warm-up—saving fuel and wear.)

NOTE: Today's Super Shell has fast warm-up ingredients to save gasoline. And Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil moves freely even when cold—saves fuel and reduces engine wear.

2. Use a light touch with the accelerator. Tromping down on the pedal is an expensive habit. Starting up, it holds your automatic transmission in a lower "gear" longer. This makes the engine turn faster, wasting fuel.

Under way, uneven pedal pressure is costly, too. Instead, feed just enough fuel to maintain even speed.

3. Drive "ahead of your car." Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. You'll be able to coast up to the stopping cars, instead of braking heavily when you get there.

4. Don't let fuel costs creep up at the stop light. If your car "creeps" when idling with the automatic transmission engaged, have your engine idle speed adjusted. You may save plenty. If you drive a stick shift, remember that pumping the accelerator won't change the light. It only pulls your gasoline gauge down.

5. Don't indulge in jack rabbit starts. Racing starts are fine on race tracks—but the drivers of those cars are lucky to get 6 miles per gallon.

NOTE: One thing you can't do anything about is the weather. Yet air resistance at high car speed is the biggest single drain on power. It increases approximately as the cube of the vehicle speed. Even fox tails on aerials may cost you gasoline.

6. Check tire pressure—regularly. Keep tires properly inflated. Under-inflated tires increase friction and cut mileage.

NOTE: Tire pressures build up during a long run. Don't let air out to bring the pressure down—it makes the tires run even hotter. Check cool tires only.

7. Check for dragging brakes. Have your Shell dealer check for wheel drag next time you're in for a lubrication. If brakes drag, you pay for it every mile you drive.

8. Get these fuel-saving adjustments. If spark timing is off, for example, you pay for it in wasted gasoline and possible engine damage. Have the compression checked—it can reveal power-wasting valve and ring conditions. There are other essential adjustments:

A. Keep your spark plugs at peak efficiency. Use Super Shell gasoline with unique TCP* additive to give them extra life.

B. Adjust carburetor for correct air-fuel mixture and proper idle speed.

C. Have automatic choke checked for correct operation.

D. Clean or replace filters for air, fuel, oil as manufacturer recommends.

E. Tighten fuel line connections.

F. Have automatic transmission or clutch checked regularly.

9. Get regular oil changes and lubrication—including transmission and differential. Your Shell dealer knows what to do. He has the finest equipment and lubricants to do it with. Your car will last longer. Your gasoline will go farther.

10. Show this advertisement to everyone who drives your car—especially if you pay their gasoline bills. Insist that they stop for service at the sign of the Shell. We can't guarantee 30 extra miles per tankful—but the closer you follow these tips the better your mileage will be. To start off right, fill up with today's Super Shell gasoline. Its nine ingredients mean top performance. See box below for details.

The 9 ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

#1 is TCP for power and longer plug life.
#2 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
#3 is anti-knock mix to resist all knocks.
#4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock."
#5 is Butane for quick starts.
#6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
#7 is an "anti-icer"—added in cold weather.
#8 is gum preventive for clean carburetors.
#9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

ARM-IN-ARM—Two German soldiers were accompanied by two local girls as they strolled in the Town of Pembroke, Wales, while on pass. The soldiers were from an advanced guard of the West German Troops that will train at the nearby Castlemartin tank ranges. (AP Wirephoto)

Big Welcome In Wales For German 'Invasion'

MILFORD HAVEN, Wales (UPI) — The German army has "invaded" Wales and captured the hearts of the British women here.

An advance guard of 40 of the 400 German soldiers who will train under a North Atlantic treaty organization plan has been given a surprisingly warm reception instead of the protest demonstrations that were anticipated.

The recently-arrived Germans were welcomed by women waving from windows or smiling from doorways. Young girls rushed up to the German soldiers to get their autographs and have them sign their names in books or on postcards, scraps of paper of parcels.

The Germans have been getting admiring glances as they stroll down the streets and most of them have had not trouble lining up dates.

One German signed his name on the arm of a girl and she said proudly, "I shan't wash this arm for a year."

The London Times said: "One lesson from this is surely that the Germans with their civilized and smart uniforms are going to be enormously successful with the local girls."

Last night, Charlie Melling, a British veteran of the Arnheim campaign during World War II, said after receiving a letter from the commander of the German soldiers in Wales that "I no longer hate the Germans."

Replying to a letter from Melling, Col. Karl Wilhelm von Kleist said: "What a shame, what an absurdity the war was when your people and mine had to be enemies and shot each other."

Melling said: "This colonel is right. At least he took the trouble to reply."

Peace Corps Sends Out First Groups

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first two Peace Corps contingents head overseas today, carrying President John F. Kennedy's high hopes for a fresh assault on poverty and ignorance in needy nations.

On the eve of their departure—bound eventually for Ghana and Tanganyika—the president told the 80 young volunteers they also carry with them the future of the Peace Corps.

"If you do well," he said, "then the Peace Corps will be developed and more and more Americans will go abroad and then will find a greater and greater response to this idea of serving our country."

Kennedy has said he hopes to have 2,700 Peace Corps volunteers in the field by next June 30.

The first two contingents face still more training before they reach Africa.

The highest tourist road in Europe is the Grand Alpine Route which extends for 375 miles through Austria, France, Germany, Italy, Monaco, Switzerland and Yugoslavia.

Korean Junta Place Nine More On Trial

SEOUL (UPI) — Nine persons went on trial today in the ruling military junta's special revolutionary courts, which have sentenced six persons to death this month.

Two close associates of ex-Premier John M. Chang were brought to trial on charges of attempting to organize a counter-coup shortly after the May 16 military coup d'etat.

In a separate trial, seven members of the now-defunct Socialist Party were accused of "encouraging and supporting the activities of anti-state organizations" by advocating peaceful unification through negotiations with the communists.

ECONOMIC AID

The seven also are accused of opposing the U.S.-South Korean economic aid agreement.

All nine pleaded innocent to all charges.

Ham Chang Woo, former publisher of the Catholic-operated newspaper Kyunghyang, and Sunoo Chong Won, director of the mint under Chang, were accused of holding a secret meeting with four assistants of the ex-premier the day following the coup and urging Chang to order Lt. Gen. Lee Han Lim to organize a counter-coup.

Lee said he did not hear either of the two accused discussing any specific plan to counter the coup, but he said both were trying to contact the premier.

He said he heard Sunoo say, "I wish Premier Chang would tape-record a statement that the Chang regime is safe and have it broadcast over the United Nations command radio."

SOCIALISTS

Lee also said Sunoo tried to reach General Lee but was unable to do so.

The Seven Socialists on trial include party secretary Moon Hi Choong, planning committee chairman Yoo Han Chong and propaganda chief Ha Tae Hwan. The others were lower party officials.

The indictment against the Socialists accused them of "spreading propaganda and instigating the same line as the North Korean Communists."

Rusk-Gromyko Meeting Seen Soon On Soviet Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk may meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in about three weeks to sound out the Soviet position on Berlin negotiations, informed sources said today.

The meeting reportedly would take place at the United Nations as the General Assembly session gets under way Sept. 19.

Rusk reports to President John F. Kennedy at the White House today following his New York meeting yesterday with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

The possibility of an informal Rusk-Gromyko parley remains an "if" depending, among other things, on whether Gromyko shows up for the U.N. fall meeting.

If Gromyko does attend the U.N. opening—as will the Western big power foreign ministers—an aim of a Rusk meeting would be to gauge whether more formal negotiations on the Berlin crisis would be worthwhile.

Rusk said the Western foreign ministers may meet in Washington or New York shortly before the start of the U.N. session.

Proponents of an informal Rusk-Gromyko get-together contend it would have the advantage of keeping open the path to a peaceful settlement of the explosive dispute while avoiding a too-eager rush to an East-West conference where the West would find all the negotiating focused on Western concessions.

The State Department noted anew yesterday that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has offered so far to negotiate only on the West's rights in West Berlin. This is unacceptable to the Western Allies.

Rusk said after a two-hour luncheon discussion with Hammarskjold and Stevenson that "there will be negotiations" on Berlin but the timing, place and circumstances are still a matter being discussed by the Western powers.

Asked whether Khrushchev knows the West will fight to hold Berlin, Rusk said: "I think he knows that the West will not be pushed out of Berlin."

Congress May Be Forced Prevent Sugar Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may find it difficult to go along with the Kennedy administration in postponing action on new sugar control legislation until next year.

Strong pressure is being exerted on lawmakers to take emergency action before they go home. Such action would be designed to prevent a tightening of controls on domestic production. The pressure is coming largely from areas of the Midwest and West which produce sugar beets and want to produce more.

New demands for congressional action were triggered by steps taken recently by the Agriculture Department to impose acreage controls on the 1962 sugar beet crop.

The present sugar control act expires next June 30. It provides for marketing and import quotas designed to help stabilize prices and supplies in the interest of consumers and domestic producers.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced a few days ago the administration will have no recommendations for extension of the present act until early next year.

Marin Rancher Buys Oregon Acres

Al Borello, longtime Marin rancher, has purchased a 2,400 acre ranch in the Oregon's Rogue River Valley.

Borello and his wife formerly owned about 1,000 acres of land in San Geronimo Valley. It was sold about two years ago to the Lagunitas Development Co. which plans to develop part of it for a golf course and, with other land purchases, make a residential a subdivision.

Hospital Turns Patient Away --She Dies

DALLAS (UPI) — Mrs. Robert Madsen, 49, the wife of a retired Navy chief petty officer, died yesterday in an ambulance after a doctor refused to admit her to a veterans administration hospital because he said there was nothing wrong with her "except hysteria."

Mrs. Madsen telephoned a neighbor, Mrs. Edward Gates, and asked her to drive her to the Dallas Naval Air Station to get a shot she took periodically for a previous hepatitis illness.

When Mrs. Gates arrived, Mrs. Madsen had collapsed. Mrs. Gates telephoned the air station and was told to take her either to the VA Hospital or to Carswell Air Force Base Hospital in Fort Worth because the air station did not have adequate facilities.

The doctor of the VA Hospital said she could not be admitted because she was not a veteran. He said if the hospital had known the seriousness of her illness, however, she would have been treated.

"I checked her heart and it sounded all right and her lungs were clear," the doctor said. "I certainly thought she would make it to another hospital."

The doctor said it appeared to him Mrs. Madsen was just suffering from hysteria.

"She died a few blocks from the hospital and there was nothing we could do to revive her," said ambulance driver Joe Long.

Belvedere Burglary Is Solved

Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington took two 17-year-old boys to juvenile hall yesterday, and was to cite a third today on charges of burglary of the home of Harry Waste at 242 Beach Road on July 31.

Woodington said the boys, one from Belvedere and two from San Francisco, were from well-to-do families and had apparently done the burglary "for kicks."

Items taken, worth approximately $600, included an automatic shotgun, phonograph records, liquor, and cuff links made of $5 gold pieces.

Entry was made at night, Woodington said, through an open bathroom window. Waste, away in Canada at the time, reported the loss on his return five days ago. Woodington said Donald E. Midyett, district attorney's investigator, assisted in the investigation.

Telephone Extension Hearing Is Tomorrow

The State Public Utilities Commission will hold a hearing tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the San Rafael City Hall on proposed "extended area" services between central and southern Marin.

The proposal by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., if approved, would mean there would be no toll charge for a phone call between the San Rafael area and the Tiburon peninsula, between San Rafael and Sausalito, and between San Rafael and Ignacio.

Instead, there would be a rise in monthly basic telephone rates for the exchanges affected.

If the telephone company proposal is approved by the PUC, subscribers on the Tiburon peninsula and Ignacio also would be able to dial directly to San Rafael instead of first calling an operator. Subscribers in other exchanges already may dial directly.

A call between the peninsula and the San Rafael area now costs 10 cents for the first three minutes; between Sausalito and San Rafael, 15 cents; between Ignacio and San Rafael, 10 cents.

PT&T officials say there is an average of 39,000 calls monthly between the peninsula and the San Rafael area, nearly 60,000 between Sausalito-San Rafael and about 27,000 monthly between Ignacio-San Rafael.

In each case, the calls are about equally divided in origination between the cities and the large number of them indicates the need for extended service, company officials say.

The San Rafael City Council is the only group which officially has come out against the move. It has been endorsed by chambers of commerce from San Anselmo, Tiburon and Sausalito, the Marin Industrial Development Foundation, some homeowners associations, Hamilton Air Force Base and the San Jose School District in Ignacio.

Customers in the GLenwood, HOward and GReenfield exchanges in San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax, Kentfield, Ross, and Terra Linda areas would be affected, along with GEneva customers on the Tiburon peninsula and EDgewater subscribers in Sausalito.

No decision can be expected from the utilities commission until a month or more after the hearing.

In lieu of the per-call cost, the telephone company proposes to raise basic monthly residential rates in Sausalito from $4.55 to $5.90 for a one party line; from $3.75 to $4.55 for two party. The basic monthly business rate would go from $9.25 to $12.45 for a one-party line.

In San Rafael, basic monthly one-party residential rates will go from $4.80 to $5.40 monthly and for two party from $3.75 to $4.05. The basic business phone rate would go from $10.25 to $11.45 for a one-party line.

On the peninsula, the rates would go from $4.55 to $5.65 for a one-party residential line and from $3.75 to $4.30 for two-party residential. Business rates would go from $9:25 to $11.95.

In Ignacio, the one-party residential rate would go from $4.40 to $5.65 and the two-party rate would go from $3.60 to $4.30. The basic business one-party rate would go from $7 to $11.95.

Marin Girl Back Home After Visit To France

Laura-Louise G. Reed, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Reed of 45 Bolinas Avenue, San Anselmo, was back home today after spending two months in France under the Experiment in International Living program.

She won't be home long. She's due to begin classes Sept. 18 at Wheaton College in Norton, Mass., where she will major in political science.

While in France the past two months, Miss Reed lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Freysz and their children, a boy 17, a girl 14 and a younger brother 11, in Strasbourg.

After a month in Strasbourg, Miss Reed with nine other visiting American students went on a one-month tour led by Prof. and Mrs. Charles Courtney of Santa Barbara.

"We went camping in a bus that carried our bicycles and other luggage," she said. "We traveled through the Loire Valley and saw many interesting old chateaux. We stayed on Brittany Beach for a while.

"We spent a week in Paris, mostly visiting museums and art galleries. Some of the girls saw the opera 'Madame Butterfly,' but I missed it. I was sick."

Miss Reed was one of more than 1,200 young Americans who spent the summer living and traveling in 28 countries under the Experimental program.

With Dispute Settled, Met Begins Working

NEW YORK (AP)—Metropolitan Opera executives worked against the clock today in arranging a 1961-62 season — made possible with White House aid.

The target date is the originally scheduled Oct. 23, with Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West." The management had declared the season canceled because of a contract deadlock with the Musicians Union.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who worked out an agreement between the Met and the union representing its 92-member orchestra, said: "I think it is quite evident we can all look forward to another successful Metropolitan season."

Met General Manager Rudolf Bing jumped into action the minute the arbitration agreement was reached in Goldberg's Washington office yesterday.

Bing sent telegrams to singers all over the world from Goldberg's office. Artists' managers in New York said that as far as they knew all the artists would be available.

Leaders of various unions representing opera employes lent a hand with the big push to put the season together.

The Metropolitan Opera Assn. and Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians agreed to binding arbitration of their wage dispute. Goldberg, who was assigned to the Metropolitan impasse by President John F. Kennedy weeks ago, will personally arbitrate. Both sides agreed to accept whatever Goldberg decides is fair.

Held To Answer In Assault Case

Robert B. Nunnally, 37, San Rafael house painter accused of assault with intent to commit rape, was held to answer to the charge yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

The district attorney's office has 15 days in which to decide whether the charges will be pressed. Meanwhile Nunnally is free on $1,050 bail.

He is charged by a 20-year-old San Rafael woman who alleges the attack took place on July 16. Nunnally is represented by attorney Harold R. Hayes.

Infant Falls In Pool

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Tony Anselmo, 18-month-old son of Vince Anselmo, managing editor of the Las Vegas Sun, died at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital last night after tumbling into a neighbor's swimming pool.

Fairfax Gives Some Ground In 'Chuckhole Drive' Fight

Under fire, along with Supt. of Streets Charles M. Thornton, from some 15 residents of the Cascades at a council meeting, the councilmen backed down a little on their stand that they don't improve unaccepted streets without residents putting up some money. The councilmen agreed to take a look at Cascade, and if it needs it, have it leveled and oiled.

"The school buses and police cars won't even drive over it," cried one protestant.

Daniel A. Giles of 610 Cascade, apparent spokesman for the residents at last night's meeting, told councilmen the street is a mass of chuck holes, some six inches deep.

"We want action. Our cars are falling apart," he said.

Another spokesman claimed the city might be liable if an accident happened because of the street's condition. "We've all had near-misses up there trying to avoid chuck holes we cannot straddle with our cars," he added.

Councilman Stanley R. Wilsey told the group that there were many streets with similar problems, that he lived on one (Toyon Drive) until he and other residents put up 80 per cent for the cost of its permanent repair. The other two councilmen (Rolfe M. Ockenden and Waldemar E. Radtke were absent) agreed something like that would have to be worked out for permanent repair of Cascade.

Thornton said he had offered to do some temporary repair. He was interrupted by Mrs. Giles with "and all you did was fill the holes with gravel that would flip on our windshields." Thornton went on to explain that former Mayor Floyd Elliot at an Aug. 14 meeting said he did not want any temporary repair of Cascade, where he also resides.

"Elliott speaks for himself," cried one woman.

The council's principal argument was that no permanent repair could be made because the street was not accepted by the city. City Atty. Wallace S. Myers was asked to explain just what a city accepted street was. He said it was difficult to determine, that public use can make it one, or even the city's slight maintenance might.

"But," he said, "if the city doesn't have the money it doesn't have to do anything." Myers said remedies included district bond issues, or cooperative financing similar to the Toyon Drive program described by Wilsey.

First U.S. newspaper to use "water base" type ink*

Have you noticed that I-J type looks cleaner . . . and blacker? That you can read more easily?

This printing advance has been years in the making. It's all due to a new kind of "water base" type ink developed by the California Ink Company. And your newspaper, the Independent-Journal, is the first* in this country to adopt it for printing the entire paper.

For advertisers, this new ink means a sharper image, a wider range of tones in illustrations, less "show through" of type and pictures. (Which also helps the reader).

We're still trying to improve it, working with Cal-Ink research experts . . . changing the "mix," running the presses. (We'd like to lick the problem of smudge or rub-off, for instance . . . which bothers every newspaper).

It's another example of how the I-J is putting new ideas into print . . . to bring you a better newspaper.

Ex-Brazil President Gives Support To Leftist Vice President Goulart

Goulart reaffirmed his intention to mark time in Paris.

Kubitschek said he talked to the vice president by telephone and assured him of his support. Then he announced plans to go to Brasilia where Congress was embroiled in a bitter dispute with military chiefs who have barred Goulart from returning to the country.

Goulart, wealthy rancher and former cowboy who served as vice president under Kubits? chek, said he would remain in Paris "to await the development of the situation."

He returned today from an over night visit with his children who are vacationing in Spain.

His statement seemed to rule out for the moment any attempt by Goulart to dash for Brazil and claim the presidency despite the military opposition.

Angry congressmen in Brasilia, the nation's capital, named a multiparty commission of eight senators and eight deputies to study the position of the three service chiefs who say they are barring Goulart from coming back for security reasons.

Fidel Urges Brazilians To Revolt

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro today urged Brazilians on to a popular uprising in the style of his own revolution to prevent "reactionary militarists" from installing an "illegal fascist regime" following the resignation of Janio Quadros as Brazil's president.

The Cuban prime minister spoke on television as military leaders in Brazil sought to block Vice President Joal Goulart, an even more outspoken admirer of Castro than Quadros, from taking the presidency.

"Profit from the experience of Cuba," Castro declared. Reading from press dispatches, he told his Cuban TV audience that the situation in Brazil is confused.

"If the Brazilian people make use of Cuba's experience and take arms and throw themselves into the fight in the mountains, jungles and forests, the reactionaries will never be able to succeed," he said.

SUPERVISORS' VOTE

Tam Valley Flood Control Dissolved

Dissolution of the Tamalpais Valley Flood Control Assessment District was voted yesterday afternoon by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The action was taken on suggestion of attorney Eugene K. Sturgis, who said Tamalpais Valley residents would get back about 73 per cent of their money. The project was launched more than two and one-half years ago.

The supervisors' action authorized accelerating the payment of bonds for the project from money on hand, consisting of funds paid in cash by some residents and in instalments on bonds by other residents.

Bruce J. Gillette of 407 Spruce Street, Tamalpais Valley, appeared at the board meeting and requested that those who paid cash be reimbursed before the bonds were paid.

But Sturgis, who said the plan he recommended had been approved by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire, declared that to pay cash investors back before the bonds were liquidated would result in a less than 73 per cent return to installment payers.

Assistant Auditor Michael Mitchell supported this contention. Supervisor Chairman William D. Fusselman said the plan outlined by Sturgis would have to be approved as most nearly equitable to all residents.

During the complicated discussion which preceded the supervisors action, Fusselman asked Sturgis how much had been paid in cash on the project and how much installments. Sturgis replied $10,426.28 in cash and $14,323.72 in installments.

The supervisors received notice from the Corps of Army Engineers last April that no further study would be made of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio channel improvements.

The engineers said that though work on the channel seemed economically justified, local residents had indicated inability to make the required contribution.

For some time before this, it had become apparent that nothing would eventuate in the project after the Army Engineers disclosed rising costs which hiked the county share far above earlier estimates.

Sturgis disclosed his plan for dissolution of the project last June. It took until recently for the county auditor's office to work out the exact amounts of money to be returned to residents.

Foreign Aid Compromise Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Speaker Sam Rayburn forecast after a meeting with President John F. Kennedy today that congressional conferees will approve a "rather generous" foreign aid compromise.

Rayburn said the compromise probably will provide for more than one year of treasury borrowing to finance long term development loans.

"We think the conferees are going to get together on a good bill, one that will be adopted by both houses," Rayburn said. He spoke after the regular weekly breakfast meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with the president at the White House.

The speaker said, "I don't know yet" when asked what the financing terms of the bill would be. But he replied "probably" when asked first whether it would be more than a one-year program, and then whether it would include Treasury borrowing rather than annual congressional appropriations for the development loans.

"There are a great many men on the conference committee that want that," Rayburn told reporters.

U.S. Troops In Berlin Begin Training Tests

BERLIN (AP)—Orientation of the U.S. Berlin garrison's latest reinforcements turned today from lectures and sight-seeing tours to a field test of combat readiness.

The 1,500 men of the 18th Infantry's First Battle Group, who were welcomed with cheers and flowers by West Berliners Aug. 20, donned battle gear and rushed into maneuvers that teach methods of development in heavily populated areas. They exercised several hours. The test ended about 11 a.m.

The maneuvers are held periodically by all the Big Three garrisons, which total about 12,500 men.

The city border, where Communist barricades were under armed watch by both sides, was quiet.

A private Western intelligence agency, Information Bureau West, reported opposition by some East German youths to military service in the build-up of the Communist army that has accompanied the closing of the city's sector border.

Anti-Cancer Serum Effective On Animals Used On Humans

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — James H. Rand III, president of Rand Development Corp., said last night an anti-cancer serum developed by a Cleveland scientist and reported effective in animals has been used on human patients within the last three years.

He denied reports that the serum had proved effective on cancer patients at Doctors Hospital here, saying that no such conclusions could be drawn from tests so far.

Rand said that in the last three years between 40 and 50 patients—not all in Doctors Hospital but throughout the country—have received the serum, but emphasized that it was "much too early" to appraise the results.

"We hope to have another 150 patients in the next six months," he said. "We don't know what the results will be."

Dr. Sergio de Carvalho, who developed the serum would not confirm that it had been used on human patients.

Vandals Toss Paint On Car

The paint was thrown on the hood, windshield, seat, dashboard and steering wheel, police said. Paint cans were left in the back of the truck, which was parked behind the pool office.

Little Girl Knocked From Bike By Auto

Seven-year-old Colleen Kennedy of 289 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital last night for bruised knees resulting from an accident earlier in the day.

Colleen was knocked off her bicycle at 11:21 a.m. yesterday by a car backing out of a neighbor's driveway, driven by Raymond Earl Anderson of 912 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. Anderson told police he was moving, at about five miles per hour and did not see the child.

Three Injured Inmates Back At Prison

Three inmates injured fighting fires in Six Rivers National Forest were returned today to San Quentin Prison. They all were reported in good condition.

The severest injury was suffered by Fortunato G. Escoto, 37, of San Mateo County. The small of his back was sprained when a log rolled on him. Escoto was flown from the fire line to a hospital at Hoopa Indian Reservation, Humboldt County. He was not hospitalized at the prison today, however, reported Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

The other two firefighters of Los Angeles County were also treated at the reservation hospital and released, but brought back to the prison with Escoto. The remaining 72-man crew of inmates were released from the six Rivers firelines last night and were to return to the prison about 8 o'clock tonight.

The others injured were Arthur Garcia, 28, who tore his hand when he grabbed a bush to keep himself from sliding down a steep hill, and Charles Burns, 32, who suffered minor cuts in the rugged country, said Frady.

2 Sanitary Board Members Resign

Jerome F. Downs and Valerian Skrylov resigned last night as directors of the Almonte Sanitary District due to pressure of their businesses.

Both men had served three years on the board, Downs' term to have ended in 1962 and Skrylov's to be up in 1964.

Chairman Homer E. Winfield said today that persons interested in serving on the board may get in touch with him at 186 Morning Sun Drive.

Race Wire Operator Takes 5th At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas F. Kelly Sr., head of a Chicago race wire service, took the fifth Amendment today when asked whether he so intimidated an employee that the man tried to commit suicide rather than testify before Senate crime investigators.

Kelly told the Senate Investigations subcommittee that answers to this and practically every question asked of him might tend to incriminate him.

A big, balding man with a fringe of gray hair, Kelly sat impassively at the witness table as the subcommittee heard testimony that the employee, Frank W. Lyons, took an overdose of sleeping tablets Saturday.

Police Sgt. Lawrence J. English of the Chicago suburb of Arlington Heights testified that Lyons is still too ill to be interviewed but that Mrs. Lyons told him her husband had been driven by intimidation to a suicide attempt.

English said Mrs. Lyons mentioned no names, but had informed him that "those he works with told him to take the Fifth."

He said this meant Lyons was pressured to invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to testify in the hearings. Lyons had been subpoenaed for questioning about Kelly's race wire operations.

Though apparently unmoved by English's testimony, Kelly glared in red-faced anger at some of the questions flung at him by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) the subcommittee chairman.

McClellan said that "Since you couldn't get him (Lyons) to do it (invoke the Fifth Amendment) you are going to do it yourself."

"Don't you think such a person is the lowest scum of humanity?" he asked.

Kelly: "I decline to answer on grounds my answer might tend to incriminate me."

McClellan: "Did you undertake to coerce and intimidate him?"

Again Kelly recited the amendment plea.

Kelly took the Fifth, too, to questions about his occupation.

He had just heard Downey Rice, a former FBI agent, give testimony linking the name of Kelly's Illinois Sports Service with such Chicago mobsters as Tony Accardo and Murray (The Camel) Humphries.

Rice, who served as counsel to the old Senate Crime Investigating Committee in 1950-51, called Accardo part of "the scum of the underworld."

Seven Questioned In Pinball Burglary

Seven teen-agers, six from San Rafael and one from Hamilton Air Force Base, were being questioned today with their parents by juvenile authorities regarding burglary of pinball machines last night at the Marin Bowl, Third Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

The youths allegedly broke open the machines with a hammer, took coins from the boxes and played the machines for free by tripping the operation lever.

Burglar Steals PG&E Tools

Angus MacDonald, foreman for PG&E, reported the loss yesterday to Sheriff's Deputy Harold Goerndt. The thief cut padlocks to tool boxes to get the equipment, including hand tools, a battery, and about 15 gallons of gasoline. During the previous weekend, thieves stole acetylene torches and an oxygen tank, MacDonald reported.

Carpenter In Fall In Good Condition

Edmond Bedecarrax, 57, carpenter of 149 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, who suffered severe bruises in fall from a scaffold at the Marin County Civic Center construction site in Las Gallinas yesterday morning, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Also injured later yesterday in a fall into a hole at the civic center site was pipelayer James Burgess, 33, of Penngrove, Sonoma County. He suffered several bruises, said attendants at Marin General Hospital.

Senate Votes Tomorrow On Civil Rights Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today scheduled a preliminary vote tomorrow in the fight over a proposal to extend the Civil Rights Commission for two years.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader, abandoned plans for a vote this afternoon.

Planners Deny Zone Request In Novato

The Novato Planning Commission last night denied a request by Jack and Beatrice Caristi to rezone a parcel of land across from Novato Hospital at Diablo and Hill streets from limited agriculture to multiple family.

The commission members said this request conflicted with the master plan.

The commission continued until Sept. 11 any decision on setting up restrictions in the rezoned Hanna Industrial Park North of Ignacio Wye and between Highway 101 and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. The commission wants to put the industrial area restrictions into the master plan.

The commission also delayed until Sept. 11 action on an application by Andrew Talbot for parking lot plans at Grant Avenue and Fifth Street.

The planners adjourned to Wednesday night for a special study meeting on the master plan with the county planning commission.

night. The meeting was canceled.

However, Schneider said no votes of the school board were taken during the weekend sessions.

Those attending besides Schneider, included: trustees Jean Ansley, Daniel Barber and Robert Allen—a quorum of the five-member board: Principals Alfred Rivasplata, Ross Carter, Fred Newton and Joseph Mouille; Duane V. Moeller, assistant superintendent for business services; Mrs. Godean Eagle, speech therapist; Mrs. Margaret Englehart, school nurse; Mrs. Lois D. Uniforms Slated For Mill Valley Police

Twenty active reserve officers with the Mill Valley Police will be provided blue uniforms by the city in about 40 days, Police Chief Dan Terzich said today.

Uniforms will include zippered jackets, trousers and caps. The men are to buy their own shirts and ties.

the need arose, Marsh indicated.

The prime stumbling block to private construction of the facility apparently is in the type of contract which the county would have to enter for county patients.

Officials meeting today made no estimate as to the actual cost to the county, nor were construction costs discussed. But Douglas Maloney, assistant county council, noted that the county would need some airtight contractural assurance that county patients would not be evicted from any private hospital over county-hospital administration disagreement on operation or cost.

"The county could place itself in a great deal of jeopardy . . . if it placed its responsibility with somebody else," Maloney said.

Discussions indicated that the hospital would not need to include a laboratory nor X-ray facilities. Marsh said that he was considering only limited rehabilitation facilities.

Final plans, cost estimates and methods of operation must still be approved by the supervisors.

At the meeting today were Betty Presley, county welfare director; Thomas Campanella of the welfare department; Bette McDonald, administrative assistant to Dufficy; James E. Moore, administrator of Center Medical Hospital in Terra Linda, who is advising Marsh; Bruce, Dufficy, Maloney and Marsh.

Bilking Roofer's Sentencing Set

Vernon G. Lawson, 24, Sacramento roofer found guilty last week of cheating two elderly San Anselmo sisters on house repairs, will be sentenced in Marin Superior Court on Sept. 18.

Josepha Daniel, 82, and her sister Emma Daniel, 85, told a jury they had given Lawson a check for $800 for repairing and repainting their house at 101 Ross Avenue. They said Lawson failed to perform the work for which he contracted.

'Money Back Guarantee' Originator Dies At 81

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — The man who put the "money back guarantee" formula into sales work is dead.

The story of how Richard C. Barnum rose from a poor Texas boy to become known as one of the country's greatest salesmen at the turn of the century was recalled today following his death, almost unnoticed by most people, at his home Sunday.

Barnum, a distant relative of P. T. Barnum, began his career while a freshman student at Hiram College in Ohio. He walked through the farm states, selling a three-in-one volume combining tips on cooking, care of livestock, and home medical treatment.

Impressed with the popularity of such books on the farm, he quit as a salesman to write a competing volume, "The People's Home Library."

Soon Barnum had about 2,000 college students in his organization working their way through college. His book sold more than a million copies and he never returned to college.

In 1920, Barnum ran for vice president on the single-tax party ticket headed by Robert C. Macauley. He had read Henry George's "Progress and Poverty" while in high school and profoundly believed in George's theory that there should be only one tax, which should be based upon the profits from land.

By the time Barnum was 39, he was a rich man who had run for vice president and owned or controlled six subscription book companies.

Barnum, who was born in a house in Texas he called a "plaster shack," was known as the "king of the book agents."

He returned to his sales-publishing organization following his defeat as a vice presidential candidate. His last corporation was dissolved in the mid 1930s.

Sunday Barnum died at his home at the age of 81. Private services will be tomorrow.

later that Birch's Chinese aide had been "battered on the head with a rifle, lost an eye, lost an arm, lost a leg, but was still alive."

Grimes said the communist soldiers took the aide and Birch's body to Soochow, where another OSS interpreter learned of the killing, got pictures and radioed a report to Chungking.

Grimes said he Ogle and Smith were disarmed, bound and taken to Yunan, where the Reds held them captive for two months before protests of American military officers brought their release.

Referring to the John Birch Society, Grimes said "For a dead man, dying as Birch did, to be brought back from the dead to be used as a political deal, it's rotten."

Grimes said Birch was opposed to communism.

Sausalitan Hurt In Car Accident

Robert T. Kent of 205 Second Street was in an accident Saturday about noon when a foreign car he was driving rolled three times on Highway 101 near the Alto overpass.

Kent, 31, told the highway patrol that the car rolled after he tried to correct his steering in a wind gust. The patrol's report recorded no complaint of injury.

Boy Hurt In Bike Fall

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY
Quiet Beauty
for families of every faith
Ninety years ago, Marin pioneers set aside this lovely site as a final resting place for all faiths.
Since then, Mount Tamalpais has developed facilities to meet each family's preference. Here are lovely gardens, the Angeles Garden or Memory Chapel mausoleums for above-ground burial, Marin's modern new crematorium, and the Chapel of Light Columbarium.
If you haven't visited Mount Tamalpais, you are invited to see the beauty of its typically Marin setting. Our staff will be glad to answer your questions.

Underground Utilities Asked By Planners

Corte Madera Planning Commission last night approved the tentative map of the Mariner Highlands subdivision but tacked on an underground utility section which will be appealed to the town council.

Commissioners told Daniel P. Coleman of Dan Coleman and Associates of San Francisco they wanted the electric and telephone lines underground instead of overhead. Coleman protested that this would increase the price of the lots about $1,500 or $1,700.

When the commissioners voted 3-2 in favor of the underground lines, Coleman said he would appeal to the council.

The subdivision is east of Marin Estates and south of Paradise Drive.

Rev. Gerald S. Moyer of the First Baptist Church in Corte Madera asked that a walkway be built to provide pedestrian access to Paradise Drive. The commissioners, with Coleman in agreement, said this would be done.

The commissioners also approved an application for conditional use and a design review for a temporary bus shelter at the southwest corner of Loyola Way and El Camino drive, sought by the Marin Estates Homeowners Assn. The costs and maintenance would be paid by the association, the commissioners pointed out.

Wolfe Grade School Cost Called Legal

Supt. Howard C. Harmon told Kentfield School District trustees last night it would be legal for the district to pay the costs of work on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to provide a safer crossing for Wolfe Grade School children.

Harmon said County Counsel E. Warren Maguire confirmed the legality of the district paying the costs. The work would include widening the boulevard across Wolfe Grade and construction of a pedestrian overpass.

Trustees had hoped the cost would be shared by nearby Marin Catholic High School, but Harmon reported high school officials said they would not participate because most of their students drive automobiles to school.

The trustees approved new rules governing the use of school buildings which included a regulation that groups using the school facilities would not have to sign loyalty oaths. Their previous rule made it mandatory for all organizations using any of the district's schools to sign the oaths.

Groups can meet in the schools from 3:20 to 11 p.m. The previous rule set the time from 2:30 p.m. to midnight. The trustees said groups using the facilities cannot store equipment in the schools.

Jack Williams was hired as district guidance consultant at an annual salary of $10,000 effective Sept. 6; and Mrs. Dorothy Keays as three-quarter time library clerk at Greenbrae School at a salary of $2,625.

Session Planned For Students New At Terra Linda

An orientation session for all students entering Terra Linda High School for the first time next week will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Principal Webster Wilson called attention that this is two days later than the freshman orientation session scheduled at San Rafael High School. The Friday meeting will be for all entering freshman and for sophomores and juniors who did not attend Terra Linda High last year, he said. Terra Linda has no senior class this year.

Advance registration of new students from outside Dixie and San Rafael Elementary School Districts was being taken at Terra Linda High today.

Reed School Board Is Meeting Tonight

Reed Union School District trustees will discuss the position of materials center director at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Reed School multi-purpose room.

Also on the agenda is discussion of renovation of the ranch house on the Reed School property and approval of staff salary study procedures, according to Supt. Edward C. Pino.

K. K. Bechtel Divorce Is Reported

Kenneth K. Bechtel, 57, Ross insurance executive noted for his Boy Scout leadership in Marin for the past 20 years, was reportedly divorced from his wife, the former Elizabeth Hay, in Nevada last month.

The divorce, which was reported as "friendly," was uncontested and involved a property settlement, the terms of which were not revealed. The Bechtels were married in 1926 and have two grown sons, Peter and Jon.

Bechtel has been head of the Industrial Indemnity Co. of San Francisco for the past 31 years. He became a member of the executive board of the Marin Council of Boy Scouts in 1940 and has served as president of the organization.

During World War II he was president of Marinship Corporation of Sausalito. The family formerly lived in Belvedere. They have lived in Ross since 1941. The family home is on Makin Grade.

Novato Taxi Firm Seeking Third Cab

The Yellow Cab Co. of Novato will ask the city council tonight for approval to operate a third cab.

Last week the city council approved operation of two taxicab companies in the city, with two cabs each. Yellow Cab Co. is protesting that it already had a third cab in operation.

The council will be asked by the Novato Chamber of Commerce to endorse a moon watch station for the area. The chamber wants the National Aviation and Space Agency to put a station in the Novato area.

The chamber will also ask the council to set Sept. 12 for a meeting of its freeway committee with the council.

San Rafael's Dr. Hund Given Surprise Party

A surprise party to pay tribute to Dr. Harry O. Hund of San Rafael for his 50 years in medical practice was attended by about 150 persons last night at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

Dr. Leo Stanley, former San Quentin Prison physician, was master of ceremonies. The event began about 6:30 p.m. with dinner and lasted until about 11 p.m.

"The doctor was completely surprised, flabbergasted," reported Mrs. Joseph Ghiringelli, co-owner with her husband of Deer Park Villa. The Ghiringellis arranged the tribute.

The event originally had been set for Hund's 76th birthday Aug. 22 but was delayed because he was attending a meeting of the Nevada Medical Assn. in Reno.

Dr. Hund reported today he has not retired. He still is in general practice and still serving as district physician and surgeon for the Southern Pacific Co.

Dr. Hund has served as San Rafael's city health officer for more than 20 years and was one of the first members of the Marin Medical Society. He is a member of the staffs of Marin General Hospital, San Rafael General Hospital and the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco.

Dr. Hund, whose father, Dr. Frederick J. Hund, also was a doctor, was born in San Francisco. He received his M.D. at University of Pennsylvania in 1911.

He returned to Marin to join his father in serving El Recreo Sanitarium on Laurel Grove Avenue in Ross, an institution the father build in 1907.

Dr. Hund began practice in the horse and buggy doctor days. He recalls finding the Maxwell automobile a vast improvement over the buggy.

Besides belonging to numerous medical associations, Dr. Hund has been active in the Elks, the Masons, the Shrine and other groups.

San Rafael Firm Hit On Smog Control

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District has ordered Henry Hess Lumber Co. of San Rafael to discontinue use of its sawdust burner within 60 days.

In the first crackdown by the smog district on a San Rafael industry, Benjamin Linsky, smog district control officer, disclosed he has served the notice on Charles T. Lund, manager of the lumber company.

The action was taken because of complaints by residents about smoke from the sawdust burner, Linsky said.

He further declared "state highway people" had informed the smog district that none of the lumber company property will be taken for widening of the Highway 101 freeway "for at least a year."

Lund is to notify the smog district by Sept. 11 that he will discontinue use of the sawdust burner and dispose of sawdust, chips and blocks by hauling them away "for use and disposal by others," Linsky said. "It is expected that the entire arrangements will be completed within about 60 days."

Supervisors Ask Space Laboratory For Novato

A federal space flight laboratory in Novato that would employ 1,500 persons at the start and probably more later was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors late yesterday on suggestion of County Administrator Alan Bruce.

The supervisors voted to send to James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the following telegram:

"Urge Marin County in general and Novato in particular be considered for space flight laboratory. Believe this area meets both essential and desirable criteria listed by your agency.

"Assure you local authorities will extend every cooperation to your review team and to laboratory if established here."

Bruce introduced the matter after receiving a letter from Rep. Clem Miller (D-California) enclosing a list of the agency's requirements.

1—Decided to consider on Sept. 5 setting of date for appearance by Dr. Rafael G. Diffley Jr., county physician, to discuss proposed revisions in county employee physical examination policy, limiting annual physical exams to employees in certain departments.

2—Asked Bruce to submit a sample copy of a proposed pamphlet containing basic information about the county's government for answering questions by the public. Bruce said requests for information take considerable staff time and frequently include furnishing a copy of the county's budget at a cost of $3. The pamphlets could be printed at 50 cents a copy, Bruce said.

3—Re-appointed for two-year terms beginning on Aug. 1, the following members of the safety commission: Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer, representing health and welfare; Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, representing law enforcement; County Auditor Leon A. deLisle, representing administrative offices, and J. Mansfield Lewis, representing communications.

4—On request of attorney Eugene K. Sturgis, closed the hearing on bids for public improvements for Bel Marin Keys Assessment District. Sturgis said no bids had been received, evidently because contractors did not wish to contend with the approaching rainy season. He said bids would probably be called again in the spring.

5—Approval appropriation of $10,000 to the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

6—On advice of County Counsel E. Warren McGuire authorized continuation of present system of county planning service to Novato. Under this system planners' overtime pay comes from county and Novato reimburses county. Chairman William B. Fusselman specified board to be told in advance by department head the amount of overtime anticipated.

State Fair Opens Tomorrow With A New Marin Exhibit

Tomorrow in Sacramento the annual State Fair opens for a 12-day run.

We've always been enthusiastic about our State Fair. And this year is no exception.

This year there will be several innovations—and an entirely different kind of a Marin County exhibit.

Last year Marin presented live shows in the Counties Building at the fairgrounds. There were everything from Scout organizations to potters, jazz bands, and painters cooperating.

This year the county exhibit is framed around the theme "The All-American City"—a designation we received early this year, only the third time in history that a county has had such a designation.

We think you'll like this year's Marin exhibit. It has beauty that last year's lacked, although it lacks the live show that made last year's such a hit with spectators on hand during the shows.

We think you'll like the Fair in general, too. This year there will be an hour-long pyrotechnic show each night. For the first time hundreds of California birds, many of which you probably never have seen and many which you see daily, will be displayed in their native habitat.

There is the flower show, which we always love; the art in action, Mexican folk dancers, kiddie shows, displays of all types, the finest livestock in the state and, for those who like their horses in action, the races. There's the Gay Way and the industrial exhibits, the barkers, the eating places—everything from cotton candy to steak dinners.

There's plenty to do and see at the State Fair. Plan to go early and stay late.

But plan to go.

Nature As A Teacher

The children will soon be going back to school. Yet most have never left it because Marin is one vast school and Nature is a dandy teacher.

What better way to learn of life's eternal verities than from the simple facts of life around us. Observe the birds. Any child who is interested can acquire a better understanding of life's cycle from bird study.

Nature teaches patience, for flowers are not born nor are trees grown in a single day. The study of Nature enhances one's sense of mystery because the more deeply we pursue the subject, the more profound are the questions.

Best of all, one never outgrows or graduates from Nature's school. Once enrolled, it is a lifetime course.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

DO YOUR DUTY AND BE AT EASE

One day during Colonial times a "dark day" occurred. When the sun seemed to disappear at midday, the people were so alarmed that many of them began to cry, thinking that the world was coming to an end.

Even the legislature was disturbed and confused. Some wanted to adjourn without delay. One stalwart member quelled the confusion in a very meaningful way when he said: "I make a motion that we secure some candles and proceed with our business. If the end of the world is about to come, I want to be found doing my duty."

In times of emergency, make a special point to keep "first things first." Be faithful to the duties that both God and man expect you to fulfill, and you will retain your own sense of balance and peace of mind as well as be a tower of strength to others.

Best of all, you will always be prepared to render an account of your stewardship. Within a relatively short space of time you will be called upon to do just that.

"With all watchfulness keep Your heart, because life issues out from it."

(Proverbs 4:23)

Help me to be so loyal to duty, O Lord, that I will always be ready to appear before you.

Afraid Of Jets? Opera Composer Rossini Fainted On Train Ride

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If in the middle of the jet age you still haven't found the courage to take your first airplane ride, don't feel too bad. Many famous people have been scared of new adventures.

When Gioacchino Rossini, composer of "The Barber of Seville," and other noted operas, took his first train ride in 1836, he became so frightened he fainted—and had to be carried off at the next station.

Summarizing husbands: We do not guarantee the following figures, but someone has estimated that the average husband in his lifetime wears out 103 suits, takes 10,920 baths, gets 1,690 haircuts, uses 507 tubes of tooth paste, works 96,000 hours, tells 123,002 lies—and twice tells his wife she is wonderful.

Oldtime wonder drugs: To draw out the pain from headaches, medieval physicians advised their patients to sip water from a trough from which an ox had drunk. This was about 500 years b.a. (before aspirin).

Serious County Salary Inequities

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As a county employee, I would like to congratulate Randall Gould for his fine article appearing in the Independent-Journal Reporter's Notebook concerning the recent failure of the Board of Supervisors to correct many out-of-line salaries of county employees.

There are still serious salary inequities in many county departments. The welfare department, for example, has achieved national recognition for its focus on rehabilitation of aid recipients with the result of lower welfare costs. However, our "economy-minded" Board of Supervisors has failed to pay the director even a "going rate" for her services.

New employees with previous work experience are required to start at Step 1 salary instead of higher steps which they are able to receive elsewhere in the Bay Area. This policy seriously limits the hiring of capable experienced personnel.

Mr. Michael, probation committee member, correctly observes the long-term effect of the board's policy when he told them (as you reported):

"You should face up. If you think it is wise to let experienced men go, or trade down in ability, you're not meeting your responsibility and you're hurting the county."

The supervisors appear to think that if they grant raises correcting out-of-line salaries, they are required to raise all salaries.

If county employees have "some notion of justice," as Mr. Gould suggests, it would appear that the correction of glaring salary deficiencies would take priority over general raises. Many employees also wish for personnel practices that attract and retain outstanding supervisors and administrators.

The supervisors, by refusal to adjust inequity requests discarded strong recommendations to do so by both Administrator Alan Bruce and Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell. Your paper quoted them as saying, "We believe that both short-run and long-run costs would be increased if the inequity requests are overlooked in relation to employee morale, turnover, and cost of training new employees."

Judge Richard Sims sums up this problem clearly when he told your paper, "Marin County wants reasonable government" . . . but "Refusal to face up to a program of correcting out-of-line salaries of county employees is a short-term economy that is going to produce long-term waste."

It is difficult to believe that the taxpayers of one of the richest counties in the United States do not want to or cannot afford to pay for the outstanding county administration that they have obtained.

Phone Hearing Is Tomorrow

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wonder how many of your readers realize that tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the council chambers in San Rafael, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. is appealing to the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California to abolish toll message service rates between San Rafael, Sausalito, Belvedere-Tiburon and Ignacio.

On the surface, this sounds like it is going to give the telephone subscriber a break, however this is misleading to the public. There are thousands of subscribers affected who rarely, or never, call any of these places and yet if the toll call is abolished a substantial raise on their monthly bill will be approved.

What about the pensioner who has a telephone only for emergency or how about the working couple who are employed and are away from their telephone during the day? What about the housewife who makes most of her calls in the community where she resides? This raise in rate will affect us all!

A dollar or more each month adds up to many dollars at the end of the year for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. That is why they are so eager to push this application through, quickly without opposition.

The Public Utilities Commission is meeting in open hearing on the above date to hear whether this change is justified or not and they will consider similar protests to mine. However, unless public opinion is expressed, either in person or by writing the commissioner, the telephone company may get approval of their application without showing justification.

The Public Utilities Commission advised me that a protest may be made in person or in writing. Each protest entered will confirm the need for an investigation before the application is granted.

Anyone interested should be present or address a letter: In the matter of the application No. 43430. Frederick B. Holoboff, Commissioner, Public Utilities Commission, State of California hearing, Council Chambers, San Rafael.

Chapter 2 In The Legal Muddles Of Thomas Joseph McNicholas

Comes now Chapter 2 in the story of the seventh trial this year of Thomas Joseph McNicholas, a thirsty man born in Ireland 70 years ago.

This column recently reported his arraignment before Judge Leonard A. Thomas in Marin Municipal Court.

The charges were soddenness and being found "living" on the porch of 804 A Street, San Rafael, without the owner's permission.

He vigorously pleaded innocent. Two days later he faced Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

"DO YOU understand these proceedings?" inquired the youthful judge in friendly fashion.

"No, I don't understand these proceedings," he fulminated feyly as though confounded by the little people of his native land. "I was under a hypnotic spell. I'd like to cross it off the books. I'm not guilty. I was under a hypnotic spell."

Mirth rippled through the courtroom.

Forrest Copper Rockwell, evidently about McNicholas' age, testified he owned the porch, with house attached, on which defendant was found sleeping.

Defendant, as his own attorney, questioned Rockwell ineffectively.

Same thing with John R. Chester, Rockwell's tenant, who discovered McNicholas on the second step at 6:30 a.m.

TALL, YOUNG James W. Carlton of the San Rafael Police testified he awakened McNicholas and assisted him to a police car. He smelled alcohol and deemed defendant intoxicated.

"How do you make that out?" McNicholas huffed.

"Because you had difficulty standing and walking and I had difficulty helping you," was Carlton's polite reply.

McNicholas was sworn.

"I wouldn't lie for the world," he told petite Court Clerk Lucyle Manning. Except for his rude clothing he resembled an elderly John Barrymore playing a con man role.

His address?

"Oh," and here his brogue was softly sibilant, "I live down the street a couple of doors. Kind of a floating address."

Spectators laughed.

The judge tried in vain to learn what preceded McNicholas' sleep on the porch. He regretfully found him guilty. He declared in effect a six-month jail term previously suspended. He pronounced a new six-month term, to be concurrent.

"THIS WILL BE an awful shock to me—tomorrow," said McNicholas. "I'll take the pledge. Tomorrow. I couldn't find Father Monahan. He was sick. Will you give me a chance to leave town? When I get a chance to get squared up. In a day or two."

The judge shook his head.

McNicholas, in the faded blue denims with "P" for prisoner painted on them that he'd been given when released two days before his latest arrest, was led back to jail.

Outside the court, Rockwell, owner of the porch, said he knew McNicholas and they both belonged to the local Carpenters Union.

"He was a good mechanic. He worked until about four years ago . . . They say he used to be a prizefighter.

"Where was he born? County Cork, I believe. He's never harmed anyone. Everybody likes him . . . "

THE FOLLOWING Monday night McNicholas beat the rap in a way. He took sick (diabetes, etc.) and was taken to San Rafael General Hospital. His diabetes was too severe to treat with tablets and his doctor feared he could not be counted on to give himself needed injections.

He was to be moved to the county farm.

The doctor found him in good spirits. He asked, "How is your circulation?"

"Oh, I get around," was the reply.

Facts On Communism Shouldn't Be Denied Youth Because Of Abuse

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Probably there will be some controversy over a proposal to include instruction about Communism in the public schools. There always is a controversy whenever the word Communism is mentioned.

Conferences over the proposal have been going on in the State Department of Education, and Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, is about to appoint an advisory committee to study the matter farther.

UNDER THE proposal, the decision as to whether instruction would be given or not, would be made by local school districts. Along with any such course would go instruction in Democracy, the idea being to show the difference between the two philosophies of government.

On the face of the proposal, it would appear a desirable course. At the present time, there is a general "hate Communism" attitude on the part of everyone, and at the same time, few people know what Communism is or what it is trying to accomplish.

WHAT THE educators mayhap don't realize is that there would be a more general antipathy among the people of the state toward the philosophies of Communism if people knew more about the subject. The antipathy would be based on factual knowledge, presumably, and sound reasons would supercede hearsay in pointing the country away from Communism.

Also, the "tricks of the trade," that is the methods used to advance the cause of Communism would become common knowledge, readily recognized when they are used in this country.

On the other hand, such courses could be abused. Let a teacher who happened to be favorable to the Communist philosophy get in the saddle as instructor in a Democracy vs. Communism course, and the cause of Democracy could easily be lost.

This, then, would mean continual hand-picking on the part of governing boards of school districts to select instructors who are known to be loyal to the democratic cause.

THIS WOULD BE a difficult course, for even the invasion of one communistically inclined instructor could do a lot of damage. And the Communists, one can rest assured, would spare no effort to infiltrate the ranks and spread propaganda through this brand new media.

Because of this danger, it could well behoove the education department to figure out ways and means of avoiding tactics which eventually could undermine democratic principles.

BUT AGAIN, teaching "about" Communism could readily be recommended as a means of adding to the store of knowledge of the state's young people. If Democracy is afraid to teach its upcoming citizens what Communism is and what it represents, then those who espouse its cause must have made more progress than they are given credit for.

Facts on any subject should not be denied to young people, and particularly on subjects in which there is such a great amount of interest as there is in Communism.

AH, WHAT A PRETTY KITTY

This mountain lion cub, a new acquisition at the Junior Museum of Marin, looks like such a sweet kitty. But it's wild and vicious. Junior Museum personnel hope, however, that it will become gentler as it gets accustomed to captivity. Meanwhile, it's safely behind bars to be looked at—but from a safe distance. Marin Bank Clerk Killed In Car Crash

Henry Lee Franklin III, chief clerk in the Belvedere-Tiburon branch of Crocker-Anglo National Bank, was killed Sunday in a highway accident 27 miles south of Fredericktown, Mo.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said the 25-year-old Franklin, driving a small compact car, apparently fell asleep at the wheel and veered into the wrong traffic lane, the Associated Press reported from Fredericktown. His car crashed with a convertible driven by Joseph Cecala, 39, of Chicago. Cecala suffered critical injuries and a passenger, Francine Contie, 10, suffered cuts, bruises and a broken arm.

Franklin, who resided with his parents in Boyes Hot Springs, had been chief clerk of the bank on the Boardwalk in Belvedere since last November, said Howard E. Langford, bank manager.

He joined the bank, then a branch of the First National Bank in San Rafael, on completing high school in 1956. He entered college that fall, but returned to the bank's employ in July, 1958, at the head office in San Rafael. In October of that year he entered military service, rejoining the bank as chief clerk of the Belvedere-Tiburon branch on his release last November.

He was on vacation at the time of the accident and had driven to Missouri to get his mother, who had gone there because of the death of her father.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother and two sisters.

FAIRFAX GETS HORSEY, AND LIKES IT

Fairfax is more than a one-horse town and the city planning commissioners want it to stay that way.

Last night, by letter, they asked the city council to amend its proposed new zoning ordinance to include an R-1-A zone which would allow horses to be kept on one-acre lots.

The city fathers thought perhaps the planning commissioners should read laws that already exist, particularly an ordinance that provides for horse lovers to board the animals as long as they are not less than 200 feet from a neighbor's door or window. The council felt this could be done on an acre.

"If anything, they could stake their horse in the middle of the acre—on a short rope," suggested Councilman Stanley R. Wilsey.

Mennen Williams Punched In Jaw By African White

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—An unidentified white man punched Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams in the jaw last night.

Northern Rhodesian Gov. Sir Evelyn Hone and his aide overpowered the man who struck Williams in semi-darkness at the local airport.

Williams, whose wife was standing by his side, rolled with the punch although eyewitnesses said the blow took him completely by surprise.

The attack occurred moments before Williams boarded an aircraft for Leopoldville.

Witnesses said the attacker leaped out of the darkness at Williams. The incident seemed to have no effect on Williams.

Convicted Wife-Slayer Due New Trial In Marin

Despite arguments yesterday by a Pasadena attorney that his client would be placed in "double jeopardy" by another trial for murder, convicted wife-slayer Robert Burdette Rogers will go on trial again on the same charge on Sept. 11.

Rogers, 42-year-old San Gabriel contractor was found guilty in 1959 of murdering his wife in San Rafael. He had served 21 months of a five-year-to-life term for second degree murder when the State Supreme Court decided he had been deprived of due process of law during his first trial.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety demanded yesterday that Rogers be tried again on the charge of murder and held without bail pending trial.

His attorney, Robert H. Aarons of Pasadena, asked that the charge be dismissed. He also asked that if the case were to be tried again that Rogers be released on his own recognizance.

Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims denied both motions.

Party Boat Sinks

BLOCK ISLAND, R.I. (UPI)—A party boat with 49 persons aboard sank in foggy waters off this resort today after a collision with a trawler. All aboard were saved but five were reported in need of medical aid.

The Coast Guard said the party boat Joshua B. foundered near southwest ledge buoy shortly after the collision

Eisenhower Collapse Is Reported

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower collapsed during his visit to Afghanistan last year but was revived by quick administration of oxygen brought along by a secret service agent, according to former Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman.

He said the incident, a well-guarded secret, occurred after Eisenhower climbed up 24 steps during a ceremony in the Afghanistan capital city, Kabul. Kabul is 6000 feet above sea level.

Former White House press secretary James Hagerty said he did not recall any such incident.

"I was there and I didn't know anything about it," he said. "There were a great many steps to the palace, and the president stopped and rested about half way up, as was his custom after his heart attack. In fact, we all stopped and rested because of the altitude."

Giants Call Upon Sanford To Halt Their Nosedive

The blond right-hander pits his 10-7 record against the Milwaukee Braves' Lew Burdette (15-8) in the first of a two-game series with third place in the National League at stake.

Giants Manager Alvin Dark is counting on Sanford to halt the Giants' four-game losing streak. The Giants and Braves have split 14 games so far this year.

Dark has plenty of worries. In addition to the Giants' injury list, slugger Orlando Cepeda has gone three games without a hit. Willie Mays has knocked in just one run in the last four games. Felipe Alou has just one hit in the last three games.

Harvey Kuenn, who had been out with a pulled leg muscle, is scheduled to take Alou's place in the outfield tonight.

The brightest light in the Giant picture at the moment is big Willie McCovey, hitting a sensational .436 since returning to the lineup 10 games ago.

McCovey has hit in nine of those 10 games and collected 17 safeties, including four home runs and four doubles.

Milwaukee is one of McCovey's favorite parks. He's hit .316 there in six games this year, and that includes the night he was blanked in Warren Spahn's no-hitter back on April 28.

Spahn Drawing Close To 20-Win Mark Again

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southpaw Warren Spahn closed in on his 12th season of 20 or more victories last night as the Milwaukee Braves defeated Philadelphia 7-1 and moved within a half-game of third place in the National League race.

It was Spahn's seventh straight success and gave him a career total of 304 victories. That's tops for a left-hander in N.L. history, and just one shy of the all-time major league victory total by a southpaw, Eddie Plank finished with 305 for Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American League.

Spahn's seasonal record is now 16-12.

Spahnie gave up 10 hits, but the Phils' run was unearned. It scored on a single, a walk and two errors in the fourth inning. It was the third time Spahnie has given up 10 hits in his seven-game streak—but the crafty, 40-year-old veteran has allowed no more than two runs in any game in the string.

The Braves, just a half-game behind third place San Francisco going into the opener of a two-game set with the Giants tonight, scored two runs in the second inning, three on Roy McMillan's homer, as Robin Roberts 1-10 suffered the 199th defeat of his career.

Ron Santo did it for the Cubs, who came from behind on his tying double in the seventh inning and then won it in the eighth on his single. Bob Anderson (6-8) was the winner in relief. Reliever Elroy Face (5-7) was the loser, dropping his second decision in three days to the Cubs after running up an 8-0 record against Chicago since 1956.

Yanks, Tigers Setting Stage For Big Series

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Tigers, setting up a hungry growl behind Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash, and the New York Yankees, just fair to middlin' marauders these days behind Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, begin a prelude to pandemonium in the American League pennant race tonight.

The first place Yankees open a three-game series at Minnesota against the ninth-place Twins with Maris and Mantle slumping in pursuit of Babe Ruth's 60 home run record. And the Tigers, now just 1½ games behind New York, start a three-game home stand against the Chicago White Sox with Colavito within reach of an RBI record and Cash leading the league's hitters at .370.

SHOWDOWN FRIDAY

That will carry the two leaders through Thursday — setting up a weekend rumble in the Bronx when Detroit moves into Yankee Stadium for a three-game showndown beginning Friday night.

Detroit, denied a pennant since 1945, closed in on the idle Yankees yesterday with a 7-3 victory for a four-game sweep at Washington. It was Jake Wood's grandslam that put it away, but Cash was 3-for-3 and Colavita walloped his 39th home run, gaining a tie with Maris for the league RBI lead with 120.

It was the ninth consecutive game in which the Rock has batted in one or more runs. The A.L. record is 10, set by Yankee Lou Gehrig in 1931.

ANGELS WALLOPED

Third place Baltimore walloped the Los Angels Angels 8-1 and Boston beat Kansas City 4-3 in the only other A.L. games scheduled.

The Yankees, who have had to scramble to win seven of their last 10 games while the Tigers were winning 10 of 11, go into Minnesota with a 13-2 record against the Twins. Both defeats were shutouts, and one was by Camilo Pascual (11-13), the right-hander whom they meet tonight. It's Ralph Terry (11-1) for the Yanks. He's won six in a row and has a string of 22 shutout innings.

Detroit gives Frank Lary a shot at his second 20th victory season tonight against Ray Herbert (8-12) of the White Sox, who have won only four of 15 from the Tigers.

GRAND SLAMMER

Detroit made it five in a row on Wood's sixth-inning slam off reliever Ed Hobaugh. It was Wood's first bases-loaded home run in the majors, but the 38th of the year in the A.L., breaking the major league record of 37 set by the AL in 1938. Ronnie Kline (5-7) was the winner.

Jim Gentile and Ron Hansen each hit two-run homers for the Orioles while Hal Brown (10-4) held the Angels to five hits. Ted Bowsfield (9-6) was the loser. It was the 40th home run for Gentile.

The Red Sox beat Norm Bass (7-9) with three runs in the first inning and then counted the clincher on Pumpsie Green's two-out single in the third. Bill Monbuquette (10-12) was the winner with relief help.

Key Charger Lineman Hurt

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Coach Sid Gillman of the San Diego Chargers was happy today over his team's progress but unhappy, and understandably so, over injuries to key linemen.

Two tackles were injured in Sunday's game with the Oakland Raiders. Dick Chorovich suffered a fractured left forearm in the contest and will miss the entire season. Ernie Wright popped a lateral cartilage of the left knee while blocking.

Gold Cup Race Looms As Attraction At Fair

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Miss Century 21, a racing boat named to publicize Seattle's World Fair next year, has given the city a chance to hold the national championship Gold Cup for unlimited class hydroplanes during its 1962 exposition.

"I want to see the Gold Cup raced in Seattle next year," declared driver Bill Muncey, 32, who piloted the winner yesterday in finals which had been delayed from Sunday because of winds.

His victory gives the Washington city a virtual option on holding the race, although a final decision won't be made until later — perhaps at the power boat group's annual meeting here Nov. 16-19.

Muncey's victory was his third in Gold Cup competition and he did it without winning any of his three heats at Pyramid Lake, 33 miles northeast of Reno. He won in 1956 and 1957.

Gold Cup judging is based on total points for three heats, and Miss Century 21 won with a trio of second places.

That gave her 900 points against 800 for Miss U.S. 1 of Detroit, winner of two heats but a nonfinisher in her second heat.

Donnie Wilson piloted Miss U.S. 1 to a triumph in the final heat a 103.490 miles per hour for the 30-mile test—10 times around a three-mile course. Muncey calmly kept Miss Century 21 in the No. 2 spot, finishing at 103.399.

Yankee Duo Wins Doubles Tournament

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., U.S. Davis Cup team member and third ranking player in the country, was suspended by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. today for bad conduct.

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, who evened a Davis Cup score while winning the National Doubles tennis title, today said they were "lucky" to do both.

The two now are turning full attention to the National Singles at Forest Hills.

McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., became the first American tandem to win the men's crown here since 1954 when they defeated Mexicans Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 13-11 yesterday.

Osuna and Palafox, both in their early 20s, had beaten McKinley and Ralston in four sets at the Davis Cup interzone finals doubles in Cleveland 10 days ago.

Two Youths Hurt In Grid Workouts

Two young footballers were hurt in Marin practice sessions yesterday.

Dane Durham, 13, suffered a sprained back while practicing with the Redwood Junior Giants, sponsored by the Marin Boys Club. The youth was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital, and attendants said the extent of his injury had not yet been fully determined. He is the son of Jerome Durham of Ross.

Dave Jacobson, 15, a Drake High sophomore and member of the school's jayvee team, was taken from the practice field by ambulance yesterday after receiving a jolt in the stomach. His mother, Mrs. Alvin Jacobsen of San Anselmo, said this morning that her son was home and would not attend school today as he was awaiting further examination by his doctor, but that indications were the injuries were not serious. "The doctor said he appeared to have suffered only some torn muscles in his side," she said, "and that there were no internal injuries."

Johnson Risks NBA Crown In Seattle Fight

There is no return bout contract.

However, Johnson, a 2-1 favorite, doesn't appear worried about putting his crown on the line without a chance to get it back in the event he loses.

Naturally the challenger is making the same kind of boast.

"I expect to win," Cotton said. "I'll be going for a knockout and don't be surprised if I get it."

Johnson was a headhunter throughout the training grind, punishing his sparring partners with power punches to the face. Cotton took the other route, staying in close and honing his body attack.

Both fighters can punch. Johnson, working on a 15-fight winning streak, has kayoed 31 while winning 66 of 74 bouts. Cotton, ranked fourth in the 175-pound division by the NBA, has flattened 24 in hanging up a 41-11-1 slate. He has won his last six.

The fight will not be televised.

49ers Bar Public From Grid Drills

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have opened practice at their regular season camp in Redwood City—and Coach Red Hickey announced that no one except "the press and the owners" will be permitted to watch drills.

"From now on I don't have a friend good enough to get in. Neither do any of the players," Rickey announced yesterday.

Rookie J. W. Lockett oversleft yesterday and reported to the field just as practice was winding up.

He was immediately fined an unspecified amount. Then Hickey announced the incident was closed. And Lockett made it plain he will be on time from here on out.

Hickey had little to say about the game against Minnesota in Portland last Saturday —which the 49ers won 14-10.

"If we had been throwing at all, we'd have won by 50 points. It was just one of those games."

"We'll be thinking about starting the season Friday night when the 49ers meet the Rams.

Shofner Joins His New Team

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Del Shofner has reported to the New York Giants and the Los Angeles Rams, who traded him away, have acquired a No. 1 draft choice for 1962.

The choice is that held by the Minnesota Vikings, who traded it to the Giants for quarterback Buck Shaw. Since the Vikings, making their bow in pro football, figure as a last place team or mighty close to it, the Rams may be able to pick up the top college player in the draft. They should get a highly prized athlete for it, at any rate.

GIANTS LIMBER UP FOR GRID SEASON

Redwood High School's Giants, defending champions of the Marin Athletic League, opened practice for the 1961 season yesterday and got a heaping order of calisthenics and more calisthenics. In background are Coach Bob Troppmann (left) and Principal Donald Kreps. Redwood's prospects for the 1961 season will be published in tomorrow's Independent-Journal—the first in a series dealing with Marin football. (Independent-Journal photo)

Dipsea Race Slated Sept. 17; 85 Rugged Runners Expected

Fifty-first annual Dipsea Handicap Race from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach will be run on Sunday, Sept. 17, it was announced today by Art Articary, race chairman ofr the Pacific Assn., Amateur Athletic Union.

To be sponsored again by the South of Market Boys Club of San Francisco, the mountainous 6.8-mile run is expected to draw 85 runners, Articary said.

Marin Athletic Club, which easily won the team championship last year, has entered 30 runners so far, according to the chairman. However, Coach Jim Imperiale's Marin entry list does not yet include the 1960 winner, schoolboy Bob Hope of Mill Valley. Last year Marin had 51 runners in the lineup.

Articary said several trophies and medals again will be up for grabs.

The race will start at Mill Valley's Lytton Square at 10 a.m. and will end at Main Street in Stinson Beach.

Jewish Athletes Launch Games

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—President Izhak Ken Zvi officially proclaims the sixth Maccabiah Games open today. The Olympic-type athletic carnival attracted more than 1,000 Jewish athletes from the six continents.

The United States with 136 male and female athletes has the second largest squad of the 25 nations.

BOWLING ROUNDUP

Valuable Prizes In Marin Tourney

Marin County's bowlers are setting their sights on some $1,500 worth of prizes up for grabs in a special benefit tournament currently under way at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael. All proceeds will be turned over to Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. of San Rafael, thanks to the tournament sponsored by the San Rafael Lions Club, according to Chairman Bud Maynard.

Competition in the singles handicap tournament for men and women is open daily through Oct. 15. A $1 entry fee, above the cost of the bowling, will be turned over to the Guide Dogs for the Blind.

MARILYN EPIDENDIO and Elinor Davis stole the show and first place money when they teamed up to win Greenbrae Lanes' Women's Doubles Sweeper Saturday afternoon. The duet put on a fine display of consistency by averaging 174 pins per game for a six-game total of 1048. Second place money went to the doubles team of Lu Sharp and Carla Baker, and third place went to Nikki Simonian and Corina Bacigalope, who wound up with series totals of 900 and 895, respectively.

MEANWHILE, in Greenbrae's major loop, the 545 Scratch Trio, Phil Wallace rattled off an 836 four-game series to pace his team to a 3-1 victory over their opponents, and force a two-way tie for first place with only one week of league-play remaining in the season. Wallace, captain of Greenbrae Lanes' entry, deadlocked his team with that of the Plaza, when he shot games of 156-256-211 and 213 for a total of 836. Going into Friday night's final contest, both the Plaza and Greenbrae Lanes have records of 43 wins and 25 defeats. In third place, only one-half game behind, is Weik Brothers Painting.

In the 725 Classic at Country Club Jim Folsom let loose a barrage that totalled 666 pins over three games, including 238, 212 and 216. Bud Kimmell blasted that league's high game, a lofty 246, while Mike Damico went high about his 174 average to turn in a 644 three-gamer, including 234, 218 and 192.

At Nave Lanes' 540 Trio League Bob Miller was at the head of the class with his four-game score of 854, including highs of 244, 217 and 201. In the same circuit Paul Gottlieb rang up an 818 with highs of 236, 201 and 200, while Walt Silva was next with an 816 featuring 230, 212 and 202. Rounding out the honor roll were Vid Vidlock with 801 (217, 204, 202), Will Corda with 798 (243), Phil Wallace 781 (229, 201) and Keith Morris 770 (244).

Other highlights from around Marin:

Heavies Put On Dull Bout In S.F. Ring

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — When even the timekeeper scrams without announcing the exact moment that a prize fight has been stopped, you can be pretty sure that it was a dull bout.

And that's what happened last night when Alejandro Lavorante of Argentina stopped bulky Willi Besmanoff of Far Rockaway, N.Y., in the seventh of a stodgy, 10 round contest promoted by Benny Ford.

A crowd which put $9,264.25 into the till at Civic Auditorium, clapped in rhythm from the fifth round on as the Mutt and Jeff heavyweight combination struggled around the ring.

Matters suddenly ended in the seventh when Besmanoff, who was 4½ inches shorter than the rangy South American and scaled 204 pounds to Lavorante's 209, went to one knee after being tagged by a left and right to the head.

He was up at the count of seven but at that point referee Frankie Carter called in Dr. Don Lastreto, the commission physician, to check a cut right eye which Besmanoff had sustained in the third round. Lastreto halted the bout and then ring announcer Johnny Vick vainly searched the ringside for a sign of Dr. Louis Lichtenstein, local dentist who has been the official timekeeper for years in this area.

The good doctor had vanished into the crowd, which wasn't wasting any time getting out. And so the technical knockout went into the books at an unofficial 58 seconds.

"I don't think the kid is ready yet for Archie Moore," the battle-weary Besmanoff said afterward. "I've fought Archie twice and I know. Lavorante just leaves himself too wide open. I'd have probably nailed him if it hadn't been for this eye."

Split Waterfowl Season Set For 68 Days—Most Generous Fly Way

STEVENS

Now it's official. We are to have a split waterfowl season of 68 days. Most generous of all the Fly Ways.

The split dates are Oct. 14 through Nov. 20 for the first half and Dec. 9 through Jan. 7 for the last half. The duck bag and possession limits have been set at five. No canvasbacks or redhead ducks may be taken and only one wood duck and one hooded merganser in the bag. The statewide daily bag and possession limit on geese will be six, with not more than three of the dark species allowed.

NOTE: Separate seasons and limits have been set for the Tule Lake-Klamath Basin area and for the area along the Colorado River to conform with seasons and limits in Oregon and Arizona.

The Tule-Lake-Klamath Basin-area will have a straight 75-day waterfowl season from Oct. 21 through Jan. 3. In this area the bag limit will be four with total possession of eight.

In the area immediately along the Colorado River the split duck season totals 68 days and runs from Oct. 7 through Nov. 5 and Dec. 1 through Jan. 7. This region will have a straight 75-day goose season running from Oct. 25 through Jan. 7. Bag limit is four per day and eight in possession.

In Fish and Game District 22, which includes Imperial and Coachella valleys and all of the Colorado River area, only one Canada Goose will be allowed in the shooter's bag and none may be taken after Dec. 17.

THE STATEWIDE bag and possession limit will be 25 coots and gallinules, either separate or in the aggregate of the two species.

THE BRANT season was set at 60 days, from Dec. 2 through Jan. 30 with a bag and total possession limit of three.

Shooting is limited to a half-hour before sunrise to sunset and no shooting until noon on the opening days of the seasons, including the second opening of the split season.

TO JUDGE by the reports on the rabbit population in the local areas, the prospects are as good if not better this year than last. Counts in Modoc and northern Lassen counties have been higher than in 1960. In the Sacramento Valley area it appears quite stable with some regions showing an upsurge. Rabbit numbers are generally up throughout the San Joaquin Valley and its surrounding foothills, with, it seems, more jacks than usual.

Whereas most nimrods prefer the brush, cottontail and pygmy rabbits to the bigger jack rabbits, the jack makes a good dish if properly prepared. Appropos of the last statement: If you would like to get a good recipe for the preparing and cooking of a jack rabbit, drop me a note with a self-addressed and stamped envelope and I'll send it to you.

Hunter Tests Viewed With Mixed Emotions

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — We will be watching with interest but mixed emotions as hunters take the first marksmanship tests ever required of adult hunters in the next few weeks.

They will be those who have their names drawn in applications for the Tule elk hunt to be held in the Owens Valley during October. Forty animals will be killed under strictly controlled conditions—a fish and game man will accompany hunters and select the animals to be eliminated.

But the applicant who has his permit drawn must first pass a marksmanship test. This will be the placing of three out of four shots in an eight-inch bullseye at 100 yards or three out of four shots in an 18-inch bullseye at 200 yards.

TOUGH TEST

If this doesn't sound too tough, consider that shooting must be offhand and in an upright position. This means the shooter may not use a rest, may not kneel or squat.

Our own experience in deer hunting, and that of many of our partners, is that it's only seldom one has to shoot without some sort of a rest, even if it's only to kneel and rest an elbow on your knee.

Aside from these problems, there's the whole idea of the tests in the first place.

Several years ago, Senator Ed C. Johnson, (R-Marysville) who was chairman of the Senate Fish and Game Committee, introduced legislation which would have required hunters to take a written examination before being issued a license. The examination would have been somewhat on the order of the test a driver takes before he's issued a driver's license.

We supported Johnson's bill although, in two different sessions, it was banished for interim committee study. The chief drawback at the time was the extra expense involved in preparing and giving the examinations.

Later, as the hunter safety program of the Department of Fish and Game for youngsters getting their first license began to take effect—and it has had a very good effect—the hunter casualty rate leveled off and, in some years, has tapered off, so the urgency for Johnson's plan lessened.

Because some hunters still are killed or wounded each year and because even one hunting casualty is too many, why should we view the required shooting test with mixed emotions.

The reason is the means in which the marksmanship test was inaugurated. The main pressure came from — you guessed it—the humane society folks.

Thus, while some view the required marksmanship test as a means of insuring more certain and quicker killing of game, and less hazard to other hunters, others take a different view. The latter view is that the humane society folks, with this foot in the door, may soon attempt to have all licensed hunters tested.

ELIMINATE HUNTING

If such testing didn't eliminate enough of the hunters, the humane folks could then move ahead with their eventual plan anyway — which is the elimination of all hunting.

Bigamist Kills Wife, Himself

LIVERMORE (AP) — William Wright, 23, went to jail on a bigamy charge in 1960, two days before his second wife, Susan, gave birth to their daughter.

Wright's first wife, Iris, had signed the bigamy complaint, charging Wright had married Susan without obtaining a divorce.

After a year at Alameda County's Santa Rita prison farm, Wright returned to Susan and the couple lived together in the Vila Gulf housing project in Livermore.

Neighbors said they bickered almost constantly.

He said they argued most of the morning. Then as Susan sat down to eat lunch, Hahn said, Wright leveled a deer rifle and shot her. She died instantly.

Then Wright turned to young Hahn. "You'd better get out of here—start running."

As the boy fled he heard another shot. Police found Wright dead, shot through the mouth.

Two At San Quentin Are Denied Parole

A Marin arsonist and a San Quentin killer have been denied parole by the California Adult Authority.

The authority in its August session denied parole for Malcolm Schlette, who is serving an indeterminate term for setting fire to the Bleu Baie Tavern at Tomales in 1954. Further parole consideration was postponed for one year.

Schlette was accused of setting fire to the tavern on Sept. 9, 1954, and again on Feb. 23, 1955—the latter fire burning it to the ground. He was found guilty of the first fire, and the jury failed to agree on his guilt in the second.

He was questioned also regarding the fire at the Lodge in San Rafael in March, 1955, which took eight lives. He was a tenant in the Lodge at the time. He was not charged with this fire, however.

Parole also was denied Victor Bello, a three-time loser who knifed to death a fellow San Quentin Prison inmate on Dec. 29, 1957, because he was annoyed by the inmate's singing.

Bello was found guilty of second degree murder in the prison slaying of Edward L. Daniels, who was serving time for grand theft and narcotics violation. Bello was serving sentences for grand theft and escape. His sentence for second degree murder was made concurrent with the prior terms. Further consideration of his parole application also was postponed one year.

This is the "look" for fall and winter, 1961, as decreed by Marc Bohan of the House of Dior. Narrow, almost skimpy shoulders, long, tight sleeves, flat chest, natural waist, and wide-flaring skirt trace the new silhouette. This version, featuring a tiny bolero jacket, is done in cocoa brown wool with a deeper brown suede belt. It is worn with a head-hugging wild mink hat. (UPI Telephoto)

Parisian Pace Setters

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—The just-released pictures of new Paris creations show that just about every term in the fashion dictionary has been dragged out and put to work for the 1961-62 fall and winter clothes. Capes, hoods, scarves, drapes, flares, godets, diagonals, tucks and gathers are all in the picture.

Basically, it's a princess season, with a cautious approach to figure-fitting lines. Only Marc Bohan of Dior throws caution to the winds and boldly embraces the stringbean silhouette. Even he makes some big flared skirts for insurance, just in case women are not quite ready to go back to corsets yet.

Materials, colors and costume jewelry are kept sober, and for a good reason. The clothes themselves are busy with details and intricate bias cuts. One designed aptly describes them as "clothes conscious clothes."

For those already following Paris on length, there's no need to take up or let down hems. The dressmakers are holding the line just below the knee, with a few skittish mid-knee exceptions. This no-change policy foiled the rumor-mongers who said we were in for a letdown.

Brown is a top colors, crowded closely by the purple range from prune to cyclamen. When red, green and blue appear, they are usually bold and bright. Black, gray and beige are still good for daytime.

Hats have shrunk to reasonable sized helmets and turbans. Many of them are in fur, to go with such fur trimmings as collars, cuffs, hems and narrow outline bands. Some designers showed two-color furs, typically brown with beige. In the same theme are wool coats lined with a contrasting color in the same wool.

Belts have never bene so plentiful since the sack consigned them to the limbo that is always only temporary in the fashon world. Most of them are wide ones for good measure.

Little Red Riding Hood seems to have been just about everybody's inspiration this season. Capes and hoods are all over.

Plaids are almost the only break from plain solid colors. Things get gay for the evening, though, with sinuous sequins and beads, glittering lame and embroidery, brocades and cut velvet. The long slim evening dress has snatched the lead from big-skirted ball dresses.

In a season that seemed tame by comparison with the old days of Fath and Schaiparelli, Nina Ricci's designer Jules Crahay came up with the only thing approaching a dramatic creation. This was his one-sleeved cape, with fan front thrown up over one shoulder.

Lucia Shehadi Weds Richard B. Hoadley

San Anselmo's First Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Lucia Emily Shehadi, daughter of the N. Nicholas Shehadis of San Anselmo, and Richard Bayard Hoadley.

Cynthia Ann Shehadi, as maid of honor for her sister, and bridesmaids Pamela H. Long of New York City and Mrs. Particia Hampsen of Seattle, the bridegroom's sister, wore ballerina gowns of aqua peau de soie.

A reception followed the ceremony on the patio of the church.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and San Francisco State College. This fall, she will do her student teaching in the San Jose School District.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Hoadley of Seattle, was graduated from Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., and is a student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. He is affiliated with the Inter-Collegiate Knights.

If Your Boy Plays Football Be Sure He's In Good Health

Did football practice start earlier this year? Or are our days hotter? Something is wrong. Several players have died from heat prostration in various parts of the country. If you have a boy who plays football, I have several suggestions for you.

Have your boy given a complete physical exam, and don't let him play without your doctor's full approval. I'm sorry, but you cannot always rely on exams given by team doctors. Most team doctors are very careful. But a few are not. I saw one doctor "examine" 100 boys in less than one hour. Enough said.

Check the safety equipment issued your son. Make certain it is complete and in good working order, and that your boy wears it in all scrimmages and games. Helmets are especially important. There have been many deaths because of inadequate safety equipment. Some schools give good protective gear to the first string players, but almost nothing to the scrubs. I believe every boy who goes into a scrimmage should have full protection. The lives of the scrubs are just as important as the lives of the varsity stars.

Ask about the schedule for the season. Be sure your boy's team will not play teams which clearly outclass it. Such games are especially dangerous. Inquire about football player insurance. Is the policy large enough to pay big medical bills? Many schools now carry insurance, but often the policies are small. Finally, make sure that a doctor will be present at all games, and that he will go out on the field and examine boys who get hurt. Amateur "trainers" sometimes make ghastly mistakes.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "A few years ago there was a scandal about coaches giving high school and college football players drugs, so they'd play harder. I believe some doctors uncovered the practice. Do coaches still do that?" R.C.

(A) As far as I know they do not. The practice was not common. I believe it never occurred in this community.

YOUR HOUSEHOLD

Many Modern Kitchens Lack Good Basic Culinary Tools

Does your kitchen measure up to par?

Chances are it doesn't, proud as we American housewives are of our automatic ovens, beaters and blenders, dishwashers and disposals. Surveys show that many American kitchens lack the inexpensive basic tools used in good cooking.

Even the well equipped kitchen is apt to be a grab-bag of spoons, sifters, beaters and other tools that are obsolete. While the man of the house won't do without his complete tool kit or his matched set of golf clubs, the housewife is likely to work three meals a day, seven days a week with odds and ends gotten years ago or passed along by a relative.

What's par for the well-equipped kitchen? Not including pots and bowls, 19 kitchen utensils will give the basic equipment. To purchase all 19 would cost you less than $20, a fraction of the price of the automatic appliances found in almost every kitchen.

Set of divided measuring cups, set of measuring spoons, flour sifter, kitchen tongs, glass measuring cup, two-tined fork, cake tester, pastry brush, grater for cheese, fruit rind and vegetables; slicer-serrator, can and bottle opener, vegetable parer, spatula, turner, paring knife, roasting pan, rolling pin and pastry cloth, baster, food masher.

Check, too, to see that the utensils you have are up-to-date. To be sure you have quality as well as quantity, check these points:

Individual, clearly-marked measuring cups. You can't accurately measure a half-cup in a one-cup measure.

A full set of measuring spoons. Look for the modern, long-handled spoons which reach easily into deep containers, make accurate work easy.

St. Rita's Festival This Weekend

The booth will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moraes. Coffee, homemade cake and hot dogs will be available throughout the festival, which will start on Saturday at 2 p.m. and continue through Monday at 10 p.m.

The Italian Catholic Federation will also be in charge of the chicken and spaghetti dinner which will be served on Saturday evening from 5:30 until 8 p.m. Mrs. David Lippi, chairman of the federation festivities has asked that reservations for the dinner be made for 5:30, 7 or 8 p.m. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Lippi or Mrs. Joseph Scafidi.

In charge of cooking the dinner will be Angelo Guaglianone and Gina Menchini.

Smooth Varnish

If bubbles form when you varnish, they can be removed before they dry by brushing them back into the surface with light feathering strokes of a nearly dry brush before the varnish sets. One way to avoid bubbles is not to stir or shake varnish. Secondly, do not brush varnish out vigorously as you do paint. Instead, flow the varnish on smoothly from a well-loaded brush with as few strokes as possible.

Women Should Learn To Spend Money Wisely

Women are the money bags of the country says an expert in finance, Mary G. Roebling.

"And if they are going to continue control of the nation's purse strings, they should learn to do it well as a contribution to our economy," she says.

The first woman to head a major banking institution and the first woman governor of the American Stock Exchange, Mrs. Roebling points out that 80 per cent of the nation's money is spent by women, "yet women are timid about seeking information that will answer their money problems."

Women own 52 per cent of all stock out today, she says, and when they become aware that high finance isn't a big complicated mishmash of egghead proportions, they become eager for financial knowledge.

"What they fail to realize is that they could stand on a street corner and ask their questions of the first 10 men they meet, and the men would not know the answers either."

Mrs. Roebling started her financial career as a customer's woman in a Philadelphia brokerage house. Fourteen years ago she assumed her late husband's post as director of the Trenton Trust Co. She is now president and chairman of the board. The bank's resources expanded from 17 million dollars to more than 90 million during her tenure.

Her aim has been to encourage women by education in finance, and she has persuaded brokerage houses to point up their advertising to women, service them with a monthly magazine and to institute investment clubs. (AP)

FOOD AND THE FAMILY

Barbecue Is Seen As Sign Of Affluence, Modern Life

One of a series of articles on the housewife and her family's attitude toward food as expressed in a new survey.

By BARBARA HOSMER

"Eating out-of-doors symbolizes modern living and affluence. It is a sign of having leisure and space, or being able to vary one's consumption in ingenious and civilized ways."

This is the finding of the social researchers, who conclude that backyard barbecues seem to be more characteristic of the upper middle class families than lower social strata, but do go on at all levels.

How much outdoor cooking is done depends on the place and type of residence, as we in Marin know, having considerable experience in patio chef work.

Part of the reason many Marinites settled here is that they wanted the space and climate to do such things as barbecue, which in the popular mind is linked with informal entertaining, swimming, the good old summertime and the "this is the life" kind of feeling.

Supposedly the barbecue is easy on the hosts and permits everyone to enjoy the sweet air of summer. Moreover, the food possibilities are many, the range going from hot dogs and burgers with all the fixin's through elaborate shish kabob or fine steaks.

Men customarily do the barbecuing, while the woman prepares all the side dishes and set the table. The men generally take all the bows for the meal, feeling that they have done the important part.

Sometimes the neighbors come over. "We get together with the people next door and have cook-outs, and we have had impromptu cookouts with other neighbors," one wife explained.

"We'll be around the pool, and then we'll just pitch in whatever food we've got and my husband usually does the cooking," she said.

But apartment dwellers, who are on the increase in Marin, tend to wait to be invited to others' barbacues, unless they are lucky enough to have a porch or patio large enough to grill their own foods. Then they usually can only accommodate their own families because of space limits.

Allender-McHarry Nuptials

White flowers were at the altar of the Protestant Chapel of Hamilton Air Force Base on Aug. 19 when Carol McHarry of Novato became the bride of Lt. James R. Allender.

The bride is the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. R. A. McHarry of Novato. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Allender of Garberville.

Capt. Fred Roll served as best man. Ushers were Lts. James Milner, Dean Peterson and William Foster. All the groomsmen are stationed at Hamilton Field.

A reception for 200 guests followed the ceremony at the Officers' Club.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and College of Marin. She is now attending San Francisco State College. Her sorority is Beta Sigma Phi. Mr. and Mrs. John Lassman of Cherryvale, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Neal of Neosho, Mo., are her grandparents.

The bridegroom was graduated frfom the University of Washington and is a member of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. He is a pilot with the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton. He is the brother of Francis Allender of Eureka; Robert, of Arcata; Lee, of Garberville and William, of Santa Rosa.

Following a wedding trip to Canada, the newlyweds will make their home in Ignacio.

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The Samuel Gardiners entertained 50 friends at a dinner party Saturday at their Fairhills home. It was such a delightful evening that dinner was served in their large patio.

SEVERAL PRE-NUPTIAL events honored Susan Marie MacDonald who will become the bride of Stephen Mayhew Allen Saturday morning at the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo. The reception following the 11 o'clock ceremony will be in the Fireside Room of the church. Sunday Susan's mother entertained at a luncheon honoring the bride-to-be and the girls in her wedding party. Guests were Steve's mother, Mrs. Lewis Mayhew Allen of Kent Woodlands, Jeanette Dahl, who will be flower girl and her mother, Mrs. Charles Dahl of Fairfax. Heidi Hubbell of San Anselmo, Susan's friend since early girlhood, who will be organist, Lynne Nelson of San Anselmo and Millicent Mundt, formerly of that city, who with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Carlos Mundt, now lives in Carmel. Lynne and Millicent will be bridesmaids.

Recently Mrs. Allen gave a tea at her home honoring her future daughter-in-law. Invited to meet her were Kent Woodlands neighbors and friends from San Francisco and the Peninsula. The Allens will host a supper party Thursday night for the bridal party following the wedding rehearsal.

HOUSEGUESTS OF the Robert Aldermans of Ross were her cousin, Mrs. Pearl Serbus, and her 14 year old son, Allan. Mrs. Serbus was in San Francisco for a week on business before she came over for five days at the Alderman home. She is editor of three newspapers in the suburbs of Chicago, Dolton, Harvey and Riverdale. She was the original Prudence Penny of the Chicago Herald-American and has a newspaper column.

A CHAMPAGNE DINNER was given Saturday night by Mrs. Bari Frolich to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Ellison to Fairhills and to introduce them to some of their neighbors. Extending a warm welcome to the Ellisons were Senator and Mrs. John McCarthy, Messrs. and Mesdames Kenneth Davis, Hugo Rinaldi and Lou Ashe. (Mr. Ellison is a business associate of Lou Ashe.)

Highlight of the evening was an impromptu fashion show. The women guests modeled hats Mrs. Frolich had received from Mr. Tom, Hollywood designer. Ursula McCarthy did a clever and amusing commentary.

The party adjourned to the Lou Ashe home for a music finale. Margaret Davis, concert pianist, played a number of Bach compositions. Hugo Rinaldi entertained with violin numbers and Lou Ashe, who was a professional singer and has a glorious baritone voice, gave a delightful performance.

BACK in their Kentfield home after a two week vacation trip are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Barr. They left Aug. 15 for Pendleton, Ore. to visit Lynn's mother, Mrs. Sophia Thomson. After that they drove to Spokane, Wash. and to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Then they traveled north to Lake Louise, Banff and to Calgary, Canada. They crossed the border again to visit Glacier National Park in Montana, Grand Teton National Park and Yellowstone National Park. On the return trip the Barrs drove through Pocatello, Twin Falls, Idaho, then south to Jack-Pot, Elko, Winnemucca and Reno.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 29, the 241st day of the year with 124 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1901, Kansas temperance agitator Carrie Nation, armed with a hatchet, descended on a New York City saloon. Earlier she had harrassed city hall officials.

In 1945, Marine Major Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, World War II hero, was found alive in a Japanese prison camp.

In 1960, the premier of Jordan and 11 others were killed when a time bomb exploded in the premier's office.

A thought for today: English poet Geoffrey Chaucer said: "Let no man think that he's exceptional, for fortune will desert us one and all."

Opening lead — ♠ 6

West opened the six of spades, and South wondered how he was going to play the diamonds. If he could afford it, he would try some sort of finesse. He was willing to give up one diamond trick to make sure of the other six tricks.

Meanwhile, East could see that the situation was virtually hopeless. West's opening lead was clearly top-of-nothing. South was going to win two spades, six or seven diamonds and goodness only knew what else.

PLAY ON FEAR: Instead of giving up East decided to play on South's fear. When declarer played the ten of spades dummy at the first trick, East put up the jack instead of winning with the ace.

South won with the queen of spades and reviewed the position. It seemed to him that West had led from a long spade suit headed by A-9-7-6. If East could lead a spade, the hand would blow up.

Since he didn't relish the idea of a blow-up, South decided to play the diamonds in the hope that the queen would drop. He played dummy's ace and king of diamonds, but the only thing that dropped was South's chin as he managed to snaggle only seven tricks.

"Very silly," you may say. Agreed. But South was an experienced, and perhaps you'd better knock wood to make sure it couldn't happen to you.

While you're knocking that wood, give East credit for his imaginative play at the first trick. If East played the ace of spades, South would have no fear of the spades. He would try a diamond finesse and would wind up making eleven or twelve tricks.

Answer: Pass. The hand may be a misfit. If partner has strength in the unbid suit, he will reopen the bidding with a takeout double. If he cannot, you won't lose much by staying out of the bidding.

10 New Beer, Wine Licenses In Marin

Ten new on-sale beer and wine licenses for restaurants were approved for issuance in Marin yesterday by state liquor director Malcolm E. Harris.

Harris said drawings will be conducted in counties where the number of applications exceeds the available licenses. There were 435 licenses approved throughout the state, to go only to restaurants, Associated Press reported from Sacramento.

They were approved on the basis of legislation this year which removed beer and wine from the ratio of one alcoholic beverage license for each 1,000 population in a county.

Officials of the regional Alcoholic Beverage Control Department in Santa Rosa said thus far there had been no applications for the licenses.

Art Store Hours

Hours of Creative Arts, new arts and crafts supplies store at 22 El Portal in Sausalito, will be 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays, owner John Minton said today. He had earlier announced the closing hour Monday through Saturday would be 6 p.m.

Tomales High School Reschedules Opening

Tomales High School students were rejoicing today—their school has rescheduled its opening from Sept. 5 to Monday, Sept. 11.

Principal Anthony Matulich's secretary, Mrs. Helen Smith, announced that contractors remodeling classrooms and reconstructing an administrative building at the school will not be finished in time for a regular opening. She said they should be finished before Sept. 11.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Cost Of Living At New High --With Continued Rise Seen

NEW YORK (AP) — According to the official figures, the cost of living has moved to a new high—and probably will keep rising.

According to many harassed heads of families, making both ends meet keeps geeting harder.

But some business and financial spokesmen hold that the cost of living hasn't risen as much as the Labor Department's consumer price index indicates. They say the quality of many items has increased as well as the price and the index isn't adjusted to show that.

Many of you may retort that neither is it adjusted to take into account the numerous cases where quality of consumer items isn't what it used to be.

Another argument is that the rising cost of living has been offset by the increase in personal incomes — in many cases a rise from wage scales tied directly to the index itself. In other words, both prices and wages have risen, and only the marketplace value of the dollar has dropped.

In judging the worth of the index, others point out that in America individualists are still liberally sprinkled among the conformists. And the increasingly sophisticated housewife or head of the family often can switch from one item to another when prices seem out of line.

So, while the official index goes up seasonally or chronically, many families may simply have changed the items on the dinner table for the time being, or put off buying something or other, or otherwise changed their spending habits. The individual family budget, in other words, may be far different from the average which the consumer price index is supposed to mirror.

All these arguments would tend to minimize the threat of further inflation which some see in the slowly but steadily rising cost of living index.

And the official Washington view just now is that there is little danger because of abundant supplies of most things due to unusued industrial capacity, or a lack of any rush to buy by either consumers or businessmen.

Auto labor negotiations, talk of a price rise in steel this fall, or more and bigger increase in government spending if the Berlin crisis worsens—all these may affect the stock market, but is not official thing as yet.

But at the family level, rising costs are a very present problem.

Seasonal changes in the cost of food are more or less accepted. But always there is that periodic purchase or fee. The replacement always seems to cost more than the original bought a while back.

Or you may be surprised, in spite of all the warnings you had, how much more it will cost you to send your child to college this fall than it cost your parents when you went.

And each year there is something new that your family wants badly if it is to be as happy as the others in the neighborhood or as the families of your fellows at the office or the factory. These wants may be for goods, or, increasingly, they may be for services.

This is known as the rising standard of living and is one of the glories of a prosperous American economy.

But it is also known as the rising cost of living. Prices may go up, but so do the qualities we demand of the goods, services or conveniences we insist on—when we can pay for them.

No Change Seen For School Bus Schedule

There is no change anticipated in bus schedules for the Sausalito School District for the new school year, Supt. Marcus F. Davis said today.

Davis added that, for those parents new to the district, bus schedule information may be obtained by telephoning the district schools. School starts at 8:30 a.m. next Tuesday.

RECEPTIVE!

Readers Welcome
Newspaper Advertising

. . . for ads are news. Through the magic of paper, ink and ideas, they bring the story of products, prices and values. They bring it in print and they bring it today.

This explains why more than 80% of people favor newspaper advertising—more than for any other medium.

With this receptivity, your ads have a headstart in selling. And with the Independent-Journal you get a headstart in readership—for Marin families prefer the I-J's advertising 2 to 1* over any other newspaper that circulates in the county.

Here, then, is the ideal sales climate. So, if you're really sales-minded—come on in. We'll introduce you to 29,000 families . . . with the highest average income in any county in the state.

Babysitting School Being Run By State

By ROBERT FAIRBANKS

Sacramento (UPI)—Lo, the new babysitter — a teen-age girl trained by professionals to fight fires, treat wounds and deal with lewd and lascivious phone calls. She is also trained to change diapers and tell bedtime stories.

Between 18 and 25 of the girls are graduating every week from a "school for babysitters" operated by the State Department of Employment.

Wynton W. Cochran, department representative in-charge, said that it was the first such school in California and probably the nation. If the four-day course proves successful among 6,000 girls registered as babysitters in the Sacramento area, it will soon be given in other parts of the state.

The school opened Aug. 7, he said, because the department got tired of hearing complaints about girls it referred to parents from its regional offices. At first, the department tried issuing pamphlets to the girls. They contained such instructions as:

"Do not use radio or TV without parents' permission. Do not fool with TV adjustments."

But the complaints contined, mostly because a few of the girls did not know how to handle themselves in minor emergencies. One parent complained because a girl did no more than put an adhesive plaster on an infant's serjous cut.

The new school opens with a two-day session on "The Care of Infants." Taught by a registered nurse, this part of the course covers such things as how to hold a baby, how to pass him from one person to another without dropping, diaper changing and feeding.

On the third day, a professional recreation instructor tells the girls how to keep older children amused. The instructor gives each girl a list of games and makes the point that it is best to switch children from active play to storytelling as bedtime nears.

"You won't have so much trouble getting them to sleep," the instructor said.

A policewoman, a fireman and a first aid instructor lecture on the fourth day. The policewoman tells the girls to lock the house and stay inside. If someone makes a lewd phone call, the girl should hang up and forget it. "These are sick people," the policewoman said.

The fireman warns of hazards and the first aid instructor gives the familiar Red Cross course.

Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Marin, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

William R. Talley,
101 Casa Buena Drive,
Corte Madera, California,
WAbash 4-3078
Plaintiff's Attorney.

No. 34642.
Dept. No. 1.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA SEND GREETINGS TO CHARLOTTE ANDERSON

You are hereby directed to appear and answer the complaint filed in the County of Marin in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin, within ten days after the service on you of this summons—if served within said County, or within thirty days if served elsewhere.

You are hereby notified that unless you appear and answer as above required, the said Plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint as arising upon contract, or will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

The object of this action is to have the Court decree the cancellation of a deed running from plaintiff to defendant; that plaintiff be adjudged the owner in fee simple of said real property and that defendant be adjudged to have no estate therein.

The premises affected by this action are situated in the Town of Corte Madera, County of Marin, State of California, commonly known as 673 Redwood Avenue, and particularly described as:

Lot numbered Two Hundred and Twenty-six (226) in Corte Madera Woods, Corte Madera, Marin County, California, as per amended maps filed in the office of the Recorder of said County of Marin.

WITNESS MY HAND AND THE SEAL OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF MARIN, this 21st day of August, 1961.

GEO. S. JONES, County Clerk
By H. F. HAEGELIN, Deputy Clerk.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE

In the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Marin.

In the Matter of the Guardianship of the Person and Estate of LAURA BARSTOW MORRIS, also known as LAURA B. MORRIS, an Incompetent Person.
No. 13615.
Dept. No. 2.

Notice is hereby given that on or after October 15, 1961, the undersigned, WILLIAM R. TALLEY, as guardian of the person and estate of LAURA BARSTOW MORRIS, also known as LAURA B. MORRIS, an incompetent person, will sell at private sale to the highest net bidder, subject to confirmation by the above-entitled Superior Court, all the right, title, interest, and estate of said incompetent person in and to that certain real property located in the Town of Corte Madera, County of Marin, State of California, commonly known as 673 Redwood Avenue, and particularly described as:

Lot numbered Two Hundred and Twenty-Six (226) in Corte Madera Woods, Corte Madera, Marin County, California, as per amended maps filed in the office of the Recorder of said County of Marin.

Subject to: current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way and easements of record. Bids or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing and may be delivered to the guardian at his office, 101 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, California, or may be filed in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

Terms and conditions of sale: cash in lawful money of the United States of America; 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be pro-rated as of the date of confirmation of sale. The examination of title, recording of conveyance, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

DATED: August 21, 1961.

THE MILL CREEK

"The Most Magnificent Address In Marin"

My family is raised. We wish to sell our home with its upkeep and loss of interest and move into an apt. But it must be very large and gorgeous. A 1-bedroom (900 sq. ft.) or 2 bedrm., 2 bath (1200 sq. ft.) We want Country-Park-like setting with tall beautiful redwood trees, a live creek meandering through the property. Must be level, and walking distance to the quaint downtown shopping of Mill Valley . . . OH DEAR! We have just wished ourselves into the MILL CREEK. You will too if you see this unbelievable setting. From $145. Adults.

3 Marinites Win Service Awards

Three Marin residents have been awarded a total of $750 in service awards from the Social Security Administration in San Francisco.

They are Mrs. Mercia L. Kahn, manager of the social security office at 761 South Van Ness Avenue in San Francisco and a resident of 16 Bayview Avenue, Larkspur, and other employees of the same office, Paul Seigel of Mill Valley and Arlo W. Giles of 153 Alpine Street, San Rafael.

The awards were presented by E. W. Tallman, western regional representative of the Social Security Administration, who said the three were being recognized for the office's "high quality of service to the public."

In 'Fleet Sail'

Participating in a large "fleet sail" aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger when the carrier left Hawaii last weekend for a cruise to the Western Pacific were Navy Lt. (jg) Clifford R. Den-Otter, son of Mrs. Lilley J. Den-Otter of 14 Willow Street, San Rafael, and Marshall E. Fenstermaker, Navy seaman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Fenstermaker of 620 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

'MEET THE NEW FAMILY'

New Teachers To Be Welcomed

Teachers new to San Rafael city schools, will be welcomed by the San Rafael Teachers Assn. at a breakfast at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow in the San Rafael High School cafeteria.

Sixty-five new teachers, along with administrators, principals and returning teachers are expected to be present, said Mrs. Margaret Schave, chairman of the event. Frances Mason, president of the association, which is a unit of the California Teachers Assn., will preside. Mrs. Edna Rossi and Mrs. Thelma Tabor are assisting in arrangements for the breakfast.

Did They Mean Cuties Or Duties?

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A copy of a City Council resolution commending George Arneson, retiring city purchasing director, was retyped because of this interesting error:

"Whereas he has carried on the cuties of his office with a minimum of cost to the city."

Enlists In Navy

Harvey Wayne Wallace, 17, son of Harvey G. Wallace of 1 Boardwalk, Larkspur, has enlisted in the Navy at the Marin County Navy Recruiting Office, 1116 Fourth Street, San Rafael, for a four-year tours of duty. He was sent to the Naval Training Center at San Diego, for recruit training.

KTIM Plans Late News Broadcast

Heard at 9:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, the broadcast is devoted mainly to Marin coverage, with a brief look at regional and world developments. Turner pointed out that this late news was impossible formerly because of the AM station's sunset signoff time, dictated by the Federal Communications Commission. The FM outlet at 100.9 megacycles is on the air until 10:30 p.m. weekdays and 10 p.m. on Sunday.

In addition to full coverage from the Independent-Journal, the KTIM final edition picks up any newsbreaks after the I-J's press time, Turner said The newscast is put out by Bob Eldred.

Sausalitans Celebrate 50 Wedded Years

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Taylor, residents of Marin for 40 years, celebrated their golden wedding recently with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bianchi at the Bianchis' home in Contra Costa County.

Taylor, 80, and his wife, Christine, 84, reside at 33 Miller Avenue, Sausalito.

An engineer, Taylor was inspector during the building of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. He is a member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marin Engineers and assistant member of the U.S. Naval Institute. He was West Coast coordinating engineer of the U.S. Maritime Commission.

A charter member of Marvelous Marin and of the Redwood Empire Assn., Taylor was also once on the vestry of Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito.

He was the last chief engineer of Alto power house when it had its own turbines and steam driven generators.

Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of the Murray House Teaching College of Edinburgh.

New Lotion Bathes-Away Poison Oak

This month an exciting new scientific "miracle" product was placed on drug counters in this area. Called BATHE-AWAY the new product is not greasy or messy. It is an invisible delicately scented lotion that bathes away the itch of poison oak—usually with one application. Poison oak sufferers say it clears unsightly poison oak rash very quickly. Children may use it safely. Best idea for families in this poison oak danger area is to have BATHE-AWAY POISON OAK in the medicine chest ready for emergencies. See your druggist at once.

PARENTS OF 4-YEAR-OLDS:
WILL THEY BE READY?

Those students who start at the top of the class, usually stay at the top of the class—and just one simple step could assure your child of a happier, more productive school life. Research shows that the critical years between the ages of three and six are the years when the child's basic concepts and behavior patterns are established—so FYT Pre-Schools was formed to fill this aching void . . . where a scientifically controlled introduction to school in general, and reading in particular, could give the young child a head start towards a successful and happy school career. The purpose of FYT Pre-Schools is to condition children to find satisfaction and PLEASURE in the school situation—and they work towards this end through a carefully selected staff, presenting a program of instruction in foreign languages, music, science and reading readiness. To learn how FYT Pre-Schools foster a happy and creative attitude towards the classroom—and help your child to realize his full potential, phone for information or an interview—GReenfield 9-7711—or attend open house, Wednesday evenings at eight or Saturday at one at FYT Pre-Schools, 10 Joseph Court, Redwood Highway—opposite Terra Linda.

Board Passes $12 Million Budget

A fiscal 1962 Marin County budget of $12,186,933.07 was approved late yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors, which also set the county tax rate at $2.05 per $100 of assessed valuation, down seven cents from last year.

The supervisors also passed the library budget of $274,244 and set the library tax rate at 14 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

A letter by Assistant Auditor Michael Mitchell accompanied submission of the budget figures to the board.

This letter for the first time gave a breakdown of the amounts of assessed valuation represented by the five supervisorial districts.

The breakdown showed that except in Ludy's district, most of the assessed valuation is within incorporated areas.

First District (Supervisor Walter R. Castro) $22,772,600 of valuation in unincorporated areas, $52,592.480 in incorporated areas, $75,365,080 total; 28.1 per cent of county's assessed valuation.

Second District (Supervisor William D. Fusselman): $24,648,660 unincorporated, $55,986,230 incorporated, $80,634,890 total; 30 per cent of county.

Third District (Supervisor J. Walter Blair): $30,852,770 unincorporated, $41,133,215 incorporated, $71,985,985 total; 26.8 per cent of county.

Fourth District (Supervisor George Ludy): $8,053,500 unincorporated; no incorporated; $8,053,500 total; three per cent of county.

Fifth District (Supervisor William Gnoss): $15,045,630 unincorporated, $17,281,500 incorporated, $32,327,130 total; 12.1 per cent of county.

Though the tax rate is decreased, the budget is more than 10 per cent higher than last year, when the budget figure was $11,648,400.

Mitchell's breakdown of means of financing the new county budget showed $5,747,449.79, or 47.2 per cent, coming from property taxes. Aid from other governmental agencies, mostly the state, will be $4,074,830.31 or 33.4 per cent.

Biggest item among expenditures is listed under charities and corrections (largely welfare and probation expenses), which is 39.2 per cent of the total.

Next largest is general government at $3,361,583.87 or 27.6 per cent.

Mitchell's letter said a further breakdown by major classifications shows salaries taking $4.074,999 or 33.5 per cent; maintenance using $5,496,856.50 or 45.1 per cent; capital outlay and construction $2,365,077.51 or 19.4 per cent and reserve $250,000 or two per cent.

Figures for the county tax rate show $1.609 for general fund, down 5.1 cents from 1961; capital improvement and building fund 45 cents, down 3.4 cents, and unappropriated reserve 6.1 cents, up 1.5 cents.

Pair Gets $9,699 At Airport Bank

Wilhelm (William) N. Hartauer of San Rafael went out just to roll down the windows of his car at San Francisco International Airport parking lot yesterday and ended up as hostage in a bank holdup.

Hartauer was held in the trunk of his car while two bandits took $9,699 at gunpoint from the Bank of America branch at the airport. He later pried his way out of the car trunk and called police.

Hartauer, married, resides at 45 Martens Boulevard, San Rafael, and is assistant controller for Interstate Hosts, Inc., restaurant operators at the airport.

Hartauer went to his car about 10:30 a.m. yesterday to roll down the windows so the car would not get overheated. He was sitting in the car when a gun was pushed through the open window and pointed at his head, he later told Millbrae police.

One bandit, tall and thin and called "John," got in on one side; "Charley," shorter and fatter, got in on the other side. The car was driven to a remote corner of the parking lot where Hartauer was blindfolded and locked in the trunk.

The bandits drove around and bought gasoline for the car while Hartauer used a pry bar to push open a corner of the trunk lid.

The bandits heard him and told him to "quit messing around or I'll let you have it," he related.

With Hartauer still in the trunk, the bandits pushed a gun at bank teller Richard Nelson of San Mateo, who had gone outside the bank to get his lunch from his car.

They formed Nelson to enter the bank with them, one carrying a revolver, the other a sewed-off shotgun, and fled with $9,699 in cash.

Hartauer remained in the trunk as the car headed for Millbrae, where the robbers apparently picked up another car. The two cars drove on to the Mills Estate Shopping Center in Burlingame. There Hartauer's car was abandoned, the robbers apparently fleeing in the other car.

Hartauer by that time had unscrewed the screws to the trunk lid hinges. He jumped out and phoned Millbrae police.

School Board Outing Under Fire In Marin

Group In Junket To Lake County Over Weekend

Legality of an unpublicized weekend junket of San Jose School District trustees, superintendent, special teachers and principals at Hoberg's resort in Lake County was questioned today by a county official.

The weekend outing, at which 19 persons including a quorum of the school board were present, cost $577.50 of funds of the district, which faces severe curtailment of its school program if extension of federal funds for "federally impacted" areas fails to pass Congress.

Asst. County Auditor Michael Mitchell asked County Counsel E. Warren McGuire today for an opinion on whether it is legal for a school district to hold a meeting for its members outside the county at district expense.

AT HOBERG'S

"Of course it's legal," said Supt. Philip W. Schneider. "Other districts in California do it every year."

McGuire said he would not state definitely until tomorrow whether the meeting was covered by a section of the state education code.

"The district did not pay for the eight husbands and wives who went along," Schneider said: "That would be illegal.

"We picked Hoberg's because it was inexpensive. We could not find anything reasonable in Marin County."

Meetings were held Friday night, Saturday morning, afternoon and night, and Sunday morning, Schneider said.

SMALL AMOUNT

"It was a small amount of money to spend compared to the benefit the district will get out of it," he declared. "District personnel gave up their weekend and in this way became better informed."

The San Jose District board was scheduled to meet last

Board Hears Old People's Home Plans

Marin County supervisors in about a week are expected to hear details of plans for private construction of a 150-bed old people's convalescent home to be leased by the county.

Preliminary plans outlined in a meeting this morning with some county officials indicated that the home would be constructed in Lucas Valley.

Frank E. Marsh, president of the International Industrial Institute, Ltd., San Francisco, asked county guidance in drawing up preliminary plans to be presented to the supervisors.

MARSH PROPOSAL

The county presumably would lease beds at the home. Any bed space available after filling county needs might be let to individuals, Marsh indicated.

Most probable site of the building is at Lucas Valley, the present site of the county hospital which has failed to meet state standards. Three bond issued for replacing the hospital have failed in Marin.

LUCAS VALLEY

Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr., county physician, said he favored the Lucas Valley site over one near Marin General Hospital. But he said he would not object to a site near the Marin General "if it isn't tied into the Marin County Hospital District. I can see no advantage . . . The type of patients are completely different," Dufficy told the group.

Marsh generally agreed that the Lucas Valley site would be the one, with County Administrator Alan Bruce indicating that the present county home might be converted to office use for juvenile authorities.

COMPLETE

The proposed building should be complete in itself, Dufficy said, instead of having a proposed common kitchen with the juvenile hall.

The building could be used for up to 200-210 patients without additional construction, if

Nine Fall To Death As Jet Snaps Air Rail Cable In Alps

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—A French Air Force jet fighter plane sliced through the support cable of an aerial railway on the slopes of Mont Blanc today, sending at least nine persons plummeting to their deaths and stranding about 80 more suspended in terror in cars over an icy gorge, many injured.

The plane that cut through the cable in the freak accident was an FB-4F Thunderstreak. It suffered only superficial damage and managed to reach its base near Lyons.

Helicopters from a nearby base promptly flew to the scene, which is in the French Alps about 450 miles from Paris, in an effort to try to rescue the tourists, swaying high above the glaciers and jagged rocks.

When the cable parted, some of the cars crashed into the rock wall and the glacier slope. But most remained suspended in the air above the valley.

A spokesman for rescue teams on the scene said there were no mechanical means of bringing the cars to safety.

Helicopters were sent immediately to the scene, but it appeared unlikely that they could rescue the tourists.

RIPS RIGHTIST SOCIETY

Former Agent Of OSS Tells How Birch Died

HONOLULU (AP)—A Honolulu piano teacher who says he was a World War II agent for the Office of Strategic Services, told today how the Chinese Communists murdered John Birch near Soochow in 1945.

Curtis Grimes called a news conference to tell about the slaying, saying: "I don't like to see a man's name used as John Birch's name is being used."

He was referring to the rightist John Birch Society which took the name of Army Capt. Birch, a wartime agent of the OSS.

Grimes said the John Birch Society "should be stamped out." He criticized it was "using the name of John Birch in vain."

Grimes told of an OSS mission on which he, Birch, a Lt. Ogle, a radio operator named Smith and a Chinese aide were sent. It was on this mission that Birch and the Chinese aide were slain.

Grimes said they were headed for Soochow on an intelligence mission to the Chinese coast when their railroad handcar was stopped by Red Chinese troopers 30 miles from Soochow.

"They allowed Birch and his interpreter to go down to a mud hut village." Grimes said. "Birch wanted them to let us through but they kept him there for at least an hour. I heard the shots that killed Birch and the aide and so did the two men with me.

"Birch was shot in the head, but it didn't kill him. He was dragged across a gully and his throat was cut with a bayonet.

Grimes, 54, said he learned

Another Berlin Refugee Slain

BERLIN (AP)—Communist militiamen today shot and killed a refugee trying to swim across a canal to West Berlin, Western police reported.

The Communists captured another refugee fleeing with him.

Firemen from both East and West grappled for the body.

This was the second incident of its kind within a week. Last Thursday Red railway police fire killed a man trying to swim to safety across the barge harbor in what was once the center of the city.

San Francisco Tax Rate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted an $8.31 tax rate, 17-cents lower than the previous rate despite a proposed 10-million-dollar increase in the city's spending program.

Community Clubhouse Trial Opens

The battle for possession of the Novato Community Clubhouse and property opened today before Judge Joseph G. Wilson, sitting in Marin Superior Court.

Attorney William O. Weissich, representing the city of Novato and one of the originators of the Novato Community Inc., Alfred W. Bowman. Weissich contends the clubhouse should be given outright to the new City of Novato with no strings attached.

PRESENT OFFICERS

Attorney Jack Burnam, representing the present officers of the corporation, allege that the present officers can amend the bylaws and can decide what should be done with the building.

In his opening argument, Weissich declared that the corporation was formed in 1947, and the founders announced at that time that money and property of the corporation should revert to the City of Novato when the city incorporates.

Burnham, on the other hand, argued that the bylaws were amended in 1954, and the amendment provides that the title to the property must go to a similar charitable institution and does not necessarily have to go to the City of Novato.

SOCIAL CENTER

If the clubhouse goes to the city, it will be made into a city hall and city jail, Burnham declared. "This will take away the only social center available to the community."

Weissich's first witness this morning was John C. Flugger, who was chairman of the Community Club Council, which

Hunt Yields Pair With Pellet Pistol

Two Marin youths, armed with a carbon dioxide pellet pistol that looks like a .45 caliber revolver, were caught in Santa Venetia this afternoon in a search for San Francisco peninsula bank robbers.

Sheriff's deputies said, however, there is no evidence to connect the two with the San Francisco Airport bank robbery.

One of the youths taken to the sheriff's office for questioning was Leroy Grundhauser, 23, San Rafael. The other was Robert P. Sundberg, 19, Santa Venetia.

The chain of events that led to the capture went like this:

A man with a mustache and with a gun in his hip pocket was spotted on Magee Avenue in Mill Valley about 11:20 a.m. by a 17-year-old boy.

The man, a woman and small, blond child, believed to be a boy about three years old, entered a light green Pontiac sedan.

The boy went to Mill Valley police because he thought the youths looked something like the sketches of bandits wanted for the bank holdup which had appeared in a San Francisco morning newspaper.

The sheriff called for a countywide roadblock.

Policeman Tells Of Interviews At Death Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Unusual tesitmony of two police officers marked the street car murder trial of four youths today.

'BEAT VICTIM'

Guthrie asked the questions as the jury listened, and McLennan gave the answers.

In his first statement to police, Magee refused to "rat" on his codefendants. But he insisted, "I don't feel I murdered nobody."

In his second statement, however, he spoke freely into the tape recorder.

He said he and his companions were seeking men they thought were homosexuals when they saw Hall waiting for a streetcar and went up to him. Magee said:

"I says, 'Are you a queer?' The guy says, 'What if I asked you that?'

TONE OF VOICE

"He said it in such a tone I got kicked off because I hate them. I can't stand queers."

Magee said he went up to the teacher and they got in an argument, but he (Magee) "just pushed him. I didn't hit him," he insisted.

The statement added, however, that codefendants William Castillo, and Bob Hall, each 17, jumped in and "started whaling him."

Made It To Freedom

VORDINGBORG, Denmark (AP)—Two East German youths made their way to freedom through Denmark yesterday. They told police they went ashore from a pleasure yacht. Police decided to escort them to Grossenbrode, West Germany.

Air Hijack Death

The measure, given final congressional approval yesterday, defines the in-air seizure of planes as an act of piracy and provides penalties from 20 years in prison up to death.

It also defines other crimes committed aboard an airplane in flight as federal offenses and provides penalties.

Ted Williams' Mother

SANTA BARBARA (AP)—May Williams, mother of former Boston baseball star Ted Williams, died Sunday in a rest home. She was about 60 years old.

Mrs. Williams, for years a dedicated worker for the Salvation Army, made considerable personal sacrifice to support Ted and his late brother, Danny. She saw Ted through Hoover High School, San Diego, and at 17 he signed a contract with the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League as a pitcher. He was soon converted to the outfield, and two years later was signed by the Boston Red Sox.

Williams was en route to Santa Barbara for funeral services Tuesday. Mrs. Williams moved there from San Diego about two years ago.

A-Sub At Sea

The "Abe" left Charleston yesterday on her first tour of duty. She is the fifth missile-firing nuclear submarine to be put on active duty by the U.S. Navy.

Cmdr. Leonard Erb is in charge of the Abraham Lincoln which arrived here Aug. 16 to be outfitted with missiles and pick up other supplies at the Charleston Naval Ammunition Depot.

False Alarm

HONOLULU (AP) — A pilot's report that he saw debris and vivid green smoke at sea sent search planes scrambling over the Pacific yesterday.

The searchers found nothing. No planes or ships were reported missing in the area, 800 miles northeast of here.

Record Crop Of Births

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record crop of babies during the first six months of 1961 bids fair to make this a record year for births the Public Health Service reported yesterday.

It said an estimated 2,077,000 live births were registered during the first half of 1961, compared with a previous first-half record of 2,056,000 set in 1959. "Should the relative increase observed during the first six months of 1961 be maintained through December, there will be an estimated yearly total of 4,386,000 registered births," the service said.

Mrs. Taft Dies

She served for more than 20 years on numerous international relief organizations.

Until her resignation three weeks ago, she was the president of the Cincinnati Citizenship Council. She was a sister-in-law of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

STATE FAIR IS OPENING TOMORROW

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California State Fair opens tomorrow with the crowning of the winner of the Maid of California contest.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown will announce the winner in ceremonies at the plaza in front of the counties building. She will be selected from 11 finalists.

A youth parade, featuring high school bands, will be another highlight of the opening day of the 12-day exposition.

Admission charge for the fair is $1. Children under 16 years of age and servicemen in uniform will be admitted free.

G.M. Looks Like Target For Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today picks which of the Big Three automakers it may strike at 12:01 a.m. Friday in support of new contract demands.

Speculation snowballed there will be a strike when current three-year contracts run out at midnight Thursday unless General Motors, Ford and Chrysler improve on the wage package they offered a week ago.

General Motors, the giant of the industry, ranks No. 1 in speculation on which of the three would be struck. The Detroit Free Press said today: "G.M. is certain to be the target." In 1955 and 1958 Ford was the target.

The UAW's International Executive Board will meet in special session late this afternoon and is expected to authorize strikes against all but also tell workers at two to withhold action. The third would be struck in hopes of winning a pattern-setting contract for all of the Big Three.

National councils of the union's G.M., Ford and Chrysler departments meeting in advance of the executive board session are expected to submit formal requests for strike authority.

Workers in plants of all three companies voted overwhelmingly to walk out, if necessary, to back up demands for improvements in wages and fringe benefits.

Strike authorization would not necessarily mean there would be a strike.

U.S., British Consuls Under Congo Guard

Anti-Western Feelings High In Stanleyville

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — United Nations troops in the Stanleyville stronghold of leftist Antoine Gizenga kept the U.S. and British consuls under close guard today because of anti-Western feeling in the city.

Embassy officials here said consuls Tom Cassilly of Baltimore and Donald Ballantyne of Gatwick, England, were safe under the protection of Ethiopian U.N. troops.

TO FLY OUT

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Cassilly probably would be flown out of Stanleyville in a few days.

Stanleyville is the capital of Oriental Province which nominally is controlled by Gizenga, the Communist-favored Congo leader. Gizenga recently announced recognition of Premier Cyrille Adoula's central government after maintaining a separate regime in Stanleyville for a year.

The exact whereabouts of Cassilly, the focal point of the trouble in Stanleyville, was unknown but it was believed he was in U.N. headquarters. Ballantyne was said to be in the British Consulate, across the street from the headquarters building.

Officials here said the trouble apparently started when Cassilly went to the airport Friday night to investigate the status of two American crewmen of an Air Jordan plane which landed with a cargo of clothes and food.

BECOMES ANGRY

Stanleyville Army chief Gen. Victor Lundula was reported to have become angry when he found the plane was being held by the United Nations. He blamed the United States and ordered Cassilly arrested.

Cassilly bargained for his freedom from Congolese soldiers who stuck their rifles in his ribs, but he was re-arrested moments later. Then, according to the U.S. embassy, Cassilly asked the Ethiopian troops, who were watching the incident, to give him protection. They complied, and the Congolese soldiers withdrew.

Saturday night, another group of Congolese soldiers, apparently not distinguishing between Britain and the United States, set out for a restaurant where Ballantyne was dining with Ian Alexander, whom Ballantyne was replacing as consul.

LEFT SUNDAY

An Ethiopian officer entered the restaurant and told the Britons that Congolese soldiers were converging on the place. Alexander and Ballantyne immediately went to the British Consulate.

Reports from Katanga Province reported calm there after yesterday's sweeping arrests by U.N. forces of Belgian and other European military men. Nearly 100 officers and men serving with the Katanga armed forces were arrested and disarmed.

The U.N. operation was ordered to force compliance with the U.N. Security Council resolution of last Feb. 21 barring foreign troops and advisers from the Congo.

WHAT BECAME OF RUSSIA'S VENUS PROBE?

Soviet scientists aren't quite sure. They lost track of the rocket two weeks after launching, but they assume it's either still whirling through outer space or that it has burned up.

The 1,418-pound vehicle was supposed to make the 167-million-mile journey to Venus in 97 days, and come within 62,000 miles of the cloud-shrouded planet.

The Soviets have been unable to locate the rocket.

No communiques have been released, and no word has been printed anywhere in Russia about the fact that radio contact with the rocket has been lost.

Soviet Ship Spotted Off Alaska Coast

NOME, Alaska (UPI)—A charter pilot sighted a mysterious Russian ship Saturday about two miles from the Alaskan Island of St. Lawrence, it was reported today.

The ship, definitely not a fishing trawler, quickly started to move after the plane spotted it. Ironically the sighting report came one day after the Soviet Union warned it would destroy any submarines found prowling about its shore.

Pilot Dick Gallaher of Nome said he was contacted by an Air Force radar station at Northeast Cape and asked to check on a report of an unidentified ship off the coast of Savoonga, a village about 40 miles west of the station.

Gallaher, who was flying passenger to St. Lawrence at the time, said he spotted the ship 20 minutes later and made four passes alongside the vessel. He said the ship was "short and stubby," flying a Russian flag, and had Russian lettering on the side.

The pilot said he was flying less than 100 feet above the water and was low enough that he could look across the ship rather than down at it. A passenger with Gallaher took several pictures of the vessel.

Gallaher said the ship was barely moving when he first sighted it, but that it began moving out to sea as he approached. Four hours later, when he was returning here, the pilot saw the vessel again and said it was steaming "full speed" due west.

He said its position then was about 25 miles northwest of Savoonga and that it probably was heading toward a Russian Navy base on the Siberian coast.

The ship definitely was not a fishing trawler, Gallaher said. He added that it had no fishing gear visible and looked more like a tanker or an ore ship.

St. Lawrence is about 150 miles east of Nome which is on the Alaska mainland east coast.

Lost Man Survives 10 Weeks In Wilds

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—"I prepared to die," William C. Waters said today as he described the harrowing 10 weeks he spent lost in the Alaska wilds. Rescue came just as he thought the last hope had gone.

Waters, 42, virtually given up for dead, was recovering in a hospital where he told of walking until he fell and being pawed by a bear cub as he lay half conscious.

The story of survival that amazed even Alaskans used to wilderness hardships was told as Waters slowly began to recover strength after an ordeal that cut his 190-pound weight almost in half.

"After an hour at the lake," said Waters, "I figured there must be a creek off in the foothills and set out for it, but I never found one. I turned to go back and started following a stream, thinking it would take me back to the road."

That was June 20. What happened after the first few days, Waters recalled hazily.

"For the first three or four days," he said. "I heard airplanes but I didn't think I was lost. Every day would get worse. My feet became sore and swollen. I was afraid to take my shoes off for fear I wouldn't get them on again."

At first it was hot and mosquitoes were bad. Then it rained two and-a-half days and turned cold.

"At one time I was lying exhausted on my back with my face covered and my feet crossed," said Waters. "Something was turning my feet over and over. I would put them back and something would turn them over again. I pulled my coat off my head and there was a little cub. Two larger bears were there but ran off."

Last Friday as Waters lay near a stream he heard a boat come down the river and then return. Too weak to move, he felt this was the end. The next day the boat returned and this time Waters dragged himself to the bank. Two moose hunters from Fairbanks rescued him.

Waters said he kept alive by eating wild cranberries, raspberries and rosehips—the pods of wild roses gone to seed.

"As the season ended and the berries started to go," he said. "I figured I'd go too."

Waters, a bachelor, is a hunting and fishing enthusiast who served in the Army Air Corps from 1940 to 1946. His parents are dead. Two brothers and a sister live in Ohio.

"Our prayers have been answered," said brother John C. Waters in Cincinnati.

Atlanta Tense As School Nears

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Special police security measures went into effect today just 24 hours before nine Negroes planned to attend white public high schools for the first time in Georgia history.

Originally 10 Negroes were entered with about 4,400 white pupils at four widely separated city schools.

Police Chief Herbert Jenkins said literature was being distributed calling for a boycott of the four high schools. He said some of the literature carried names, addresses and photographs of the Negroes being admitted to the schools under a federal court order.

Negro Charged In Kidnaping Still At Large

MONROE, N.C. (UPI) — Police said last night a Negro leader charged with kidnaping a white couple during racial violence here apparently has fled the city.

Officers with shotguns and tear guns raided the headquarters of Robert Williams, a bearded admirer of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro who was expelled by the NAACP for advocating violence against whites.

Williams had disappeared, officers said, and no guns were found in the building. Police asked the FBI to issue an alarm for Williams, who was believed to be traveling north.

About 50 law enforcement officers, working in teams of 25 on each shift, patrolled the city on an around-the-clock basis to prevent a recurrence of racial violence here.

There were no incidents or arrests last night.

The nation's maintenance and repair bill for buildings of all kinds has grown to around 20 billion dollars a year.

"Awful Poison Oak Itch Kept Me Away From Work 3 Days" Reports Lineman

I was away from work 3 days and scratched and itched for three nights, then a druggist told my wife about BATHE-AWAY POISON OAK.

That evening I poured a little of this delicately scented lotion into a tub of water and actually "bathed-away the itch and rash of poison oak!"

I've thrown away all the messy creams and ointments. Bathe-Away is invisible. Now when I've been exposed to poison oak I come home and BATHE-AWAY POISON OAK before it even starts.

I'm really grateful to the druggist for telling my wife about Bathe-Away Poison Oak. See your druggist at once.

Fairfax City Workers To Get Raises

Fulltime employees of the City of Fairfax got a $25-per-month raise last night.

Mayor Kenneth M. Edgar moved for the raise at the city council meeting. After an immediate second it was voted in 3-0 without discussion. Councilmen Waldemar E. Radtke and Rolfe M. Ockenden were absent.

The council awarded a contract of $9,936 to Reichhold and Jurkovich of San Pablo for improvement of Tamalpais and Oak roads, Toyon Drive and portions of Elsie Lane. The San Pablo contractor was low bidder and is to begin work within 25 days, reported Street Supt. Charles M. Thornton.

In other action, the council:

1. Set for Sept. 5 at 8 p.m. a meeting in the firehouse to set the tax rate for 1961-62. Rate is expected to be $1.25 per assessed valuation, said City Clerk Alice Leonesio.

2. Set Sept. 11 for public hearing on the planning commission's decision to leave Piper Lane area in Manor zoned for apartments.

3. Told A. B. Whittemore he could go ahead and improve and sell his property at 181 and 183 Pine Drive despite neighborhood protests that Whittemore had advertised the residence, a triplex when he described it, as a "duplex plus." Whittemore told the council that he knew it was illegal to build a triplex in the area and had no intention of doing so. The "plus" he said meant an extra bathroom and rumpus room for which he had a building permit.

4. Instructed City Atty. Wallace S. Myers to bring the council some more sign and gasoline station ordinances for consideration. Last night the attorney presented San Rafael's gasoline station ordinance and a "comprehensive" sign ordinance to be read individually by the councilmen.

5. Received a letter of thanks for the careful and efficient manner in which the Fairfax Fire Department put out a mattress fire recently at the Lanaii Apartments on Sir Francsi Drake Boulevard. The police department was also commended by the owner for its participation.

6. Instructed the city attorney to notify Francisco Sales Co. of San Francisco it is in violation of a state-city subdivision act if it sells property off Cascade Drive without filing a subdivision map with the city. Thornton told the council that some of the property had already been sold.

7. Heard several letters of complaint regarding parking conditions on Fairfax Streets. The letters were short and in essence said only that conditions were crowded. City Clerk Leonesio said they alluded to support of the city's proposed 1962 off-street parking ordinance which the council said it will decide upon when all the councilmen are present.

How to get up to 30 extra miles per tankful

Here are some tips from Shell's experts on how to get maximum mileage from your car. If you practice these good driving habits—and if you use today's Super Shell, with 9 ingredients for top performance—you may well save a pretty penny on gasoline bills.

SHELL scientists spend much of their working lives figuring out how to get the most mileage out of a gallon of gasoline. Here are some of the things they've learned.

1. Don't race a cold engine. When your engine is cold, it uses up more fuel. You're also in danger of underlubrication. You pay for this in greater engine wear. (A properly operating thermostat assures a full warm-up—saving fuel and wear.)

NOTE: Today's Super Shell has fast warm-up ingredients to save gasoline. And Shell X-100® Premium Motor Oil moves freely even when cold—saves fuel and reduces engine wear.

2. Use a light touch with the accelerator. Tromping down on the pedal is an expensive habit. Starting up, it holds your automatic transmission in a lower "gear" longer. This makes the engine turn faster, wasting fuel.

Under way, uneven pedal pressure is costly, too. Instead, feed just enough fuel to maintain even speed.

3. Drive "ahead of your car." Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. You'll be able to coast up to the stopping cars, instead of braking heavily when you get there.

4. Don't let fuel costs creep up at the stop light. If your car "creeps" when idling with the automatic transmission engaged, have your engine idle speed adjusted. You may save plenty. If you drive a stick shift, remember that pumping the accelerator won't change the light. It only pulls your gasoline gauge down.

5. Don't indulge in jack rabbit starts. Racing starts are fine on race tracks—but the drivers of those cars are lucky to get 6 miles per gallon.

NOTE: One thing you can't do anything about is the weather. Yet air resistance at high car speed is the biggest single drain on power. It increases approximately as the cube of the vehicle speed. Even fox tails on aerials may cost you gasoline.

6. Check tire pressure—regularly. Keep tires properly inflated. Under-inflated tires increase friction and cut mileage.

NOTE: Tire pressures build up during a long run. Don't let air out to bring the pressure down—it makes the tires run even hotter. Check cool tires only.

7. Check for dragging brakes. Have your Shell dealer check for wheel drag next time you're in for a lubrication. If brakes drag, you pay for it every mile you drive.

8. Get these fuel-saving adjustments. If spark timing is off, for example, you pay for it in wasted gasoline and possible engine damage. Have the compression checked—it can reveal power-wasting valve and ring conditions. There are other essential adjustments:

A. Keep your spark plugs at peak efficiency. Use Super Shell gasoline with unique TCP* additive to give them extra life.

B. Adjust carburetor for correct air-fuel mixture and proper idle speed.

C. Have automatic choke checked for correct operation.

D. Clean or replace filters for air, fuel, oil as manufacturer recommends.

E. Tighten fuel line connections.

F. Have automatic transmission or clutch checked regularly.

9. Get regular oil changes and lubrication—including transmission and differential. Your Shell dealer knows what to do. He has the finest equipment and lubricants to do it with. Your car will last longer. Your gasoline will go farther.

10. Show this advertisement to everyone who drives your car—especially if you pay their gasoline bills. Insist that they stop for service at the sign of the Shell. We can't guarantee 30 extra miles per tankful—but the closer you follow these tips the better your mileage will be. To start off right, fill up with today's Super Shell gasoline. Its nine ingredients mean top performance. See box below for details.

The 9 ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

#1 is TCP for power and longer plug life.
#2 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
#3 is anti-knock mix to resist all knocks.
#4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock."
#5 is Butane for quick starts.
#6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
#7 is an "anti-icer"—added in cold weather.
#8 is gum preventive for clean carburetors.
#9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

ARM-IN-ARM—Two German soldiers were accompanied by two local girls as they strolled in the Town of Pembroke, Wales, while on pass. The soldiers were from an advanced guard of the West German Troops that will train at the nearby Castlemartin tank ranges. (AP Wirephoto)

Big Welcome In Wales For German 'Invasion'

MILFORD HAVEN, Wales (UPI) — The German army has "invaded" Wales and captured the hearts of the British women here.

An advance guard of 40 of the 400 German soldiers who will train under a North Atlantic treaty organization plan has been given a surprisingly warm reception instead of the protest demonstrations that were anticipated.

The recently-arrived Germans were welcomed by women waving from windows or smiling from doorways. Young girls rushed up to the German soldiers to get their autographs and have them sign their names in books or on postcards, scraps of paper of parcels.

The Germans have been getting admiring glances as they stroll down the streets and most of them have had not trouble lining up dates.

One German signed his name on the arm of a girl and she said proudly, "I shan't wash this arm for a year."

The London Times said: "One lesson from this is surely that the Germans with their civilized and smart uniforms are going to be enormously successful with the local girls."

Last night, Charlie Melling, a British veteran of the Arnheim campaign during World War II, said after receiving a letter from the commander of the German soldiers in Wales that "I no longer hate the Germans."

Replying to a letter from Melling, Col. Karl Wilhelm von Kleist said: "What a shame, what an absurdity the war was when your people and mine had to be enemies and shot each other."

Peace Corps Sends Out First Groups

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first two Peace Corps contingents head overseas today, carrying President John F. Kennedy's high hopes for a fresh assault on poverty and ignorance in needy nations.

On the eve of their departure—bound eventually for Ghana and Tanganyika—the president told the 80 young volunteers they also carry with them the future of the Peace Corps.

"If you do well," he said, "then the Peace Corps will be developed and more and more Americans will go abroad and then will find a greater and greater response to this idea of serving our country."

Kennedy has said he hopes to have 2,700 Peace Corps volunteers in the field by next June 30.

The first two contingents face still more training before they reach Africa.

Korean Junta Place Nine More On Trial

SEOUL (UPI) — Nine persons went on trial today in the ruling military junta's special revolutionary courts, which have sentenced six persons to death this month.

Two close associates of ex-Premier John M. Chang were brought to trial on charges of attempting to organize a counter-coup shortly after the May 16 military coup d'etat.

In a separate trial, seven members of the now-defunct Socialist Party were accused of "encouraging and supporting the activities of anti-state organizations" by advocating peaceful unification through negotiations with the communists.

ECONOMIC AID

The seven also are accused of opposing the U.S.-South Korean economic aid agreement.

All nine pleaded innocent to all charges.

Ham Chang Woo, former publisher of the Catholic-operated newspaper Kyunghyang, and Sunoo Chong Won, director of the mint under Chang, were accused of holding a secret meeting with four assistants of the ex-premier the day following the coup and urging Chang to order Lt. Gen. Lee Han Lim to organize a counter-coup.

Lee said he did not hear either of the two accused discussing any specific plan to counter the coup, but he said both were trying to contact the premier.

He said he heard Sunoo say, "I wish Premier Chang would tape-record a statement that the Chang regime is safe and have it broadcast over the United Nations command radio."

SOCIALISTS

Lee also said Sunoo tried to reach General Lee but was unable to do so.

The Seven Socialists on trial include party secretary Moon Hi Choong, planning committee chairman Yoo Han Chong and propaganda chief Ha Tae Hwan. The others were lower party officials.

The indictment against the Socialists accused them of "spreading propaganda and instigating the same line as the North Korean Communists."

Rusk-Gromyko Meeting Seen Soon On Soviet Berlin Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk may meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in about three weeks to sound out the Soviet position on Berlin negotiations, informed sources said today.

The meeting reportedly would take place at the United Nations as the General Assembly session gets under way Sept. 19.

Rusk reports to President John F. Kennedy at the White House today following his New York meeting yesterday with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

The possibility of an informal Rusk-Gromyko parley remains an "if" depending, among other things, on whether Gromyko shows up for the U.N. fall meeting.

If Gromyko does attend the U.N. opening—as will the Western big power foreign ministers—an aim of a Rusk meeting would be to gauge whether more formal negotiations on the Berlin crisis would be worthwhile.

Rusk said the Western foreign ministers may meet in Washington or New York shortly before the start of the U.N. session.

Proponents of an informal Rusk-Gromyko get-together contend it would have the advantage of keeping open the path to a peaceful settlement of the explosive dispute while avoiding a too-eager rush to an East-West conference where the West would find all the negotiating focused on Western concessions.

The State Department noted anew yesterday that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has offered so far to negotiate only on the West's rights in West Berlin. This is unacceptable to the Western Allies.

Rusk said after a two-hour luncheon discussion with Hammarskjold and Stevenson that "there will be negotiations" on Berlin but the timing, place and circumstances are still a matter being discussed by the Western powers.

Asked whether Khrushchev knows the West will fight to hold Berlin, Rusk said: "I think he knows that the West will not be pushed out of Berlin."

Congress May Be Forced Prevent Sugar Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may find it difficult to go along with the Kennedy administration in postponing action on new sugar control legislation until next year.

Strong pressure is being exerted on lawmakers to take emergency action before they go home. Such action would be designed to prevent a tightening of controls on domestic production. The pressure is coming largely from areas of the Midwest and West which produce sugar beets and want to produce more.

New demands for congressional action were triggered by steps taken recently by the Agriculture Department to impose acreage controls on the 1962 sugar beet crop.

The present sugar control act expires next June 30. It provides for marketing and import quotas designed to help stabilize prices and supplies in the interest of consumers and domestic producers.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced a few days ago the administration will have no recommendations for extension of the present act until early next year.

Marin Rancher Buys Oregon Acres

Borello and his wife formerly owned about 1,000 acres of land in San Geronimo Valley. It was sold about two years ago to the Lagunitas Development Co. which plans to develop part of it for a golf course and, with other land purchases, make a residential a subdivision.

Hospital Turns Patient Away --She Dies

DALLAS (UPI) — Mrs. Robert Madsen, 49, the wife of a retired Navy chief petty officer, died yesterday in an ambulance after a doctor refused to admit her to a veterans administration hospital because he said there was nothing wrong with her "except hysteria."

Mrs. Madsen telephoned a neighbor, Mrs. Edward Gates, and asked her to drive her to the Dallas Naval Air Station to get a shot she took periodically for a previous hepatitis illness.

When Mrs. Gates arrived, Mrs. Madsen had collapsed. Mrs. Gates telephoned the air station and was told to take her either to the VA Hospital or to Carswell Air Force Base Hospital in Fort Worth because the air station did not have adequate facilities.

The doctor of the VA Hospital said she could not be admitted because she was not a veteran. He said if the hospital had known the seriousness of her illness, however, she would have been treated.

"I checked her heart and it sounded all right and her lungs were clear," the doctor said. "I certainly thought she would make it to another hospital."

The doctor said it appeared to him Mrs. Madsen was just suffering from hysteria.

"She died a few blocks from the hospital and there was nothing we could do to revive her," said ambulance driver Joe Long.

Belvedere Burglary Is Solved

Belvedere Police Chief William S. Woodington took two 17-year-old boys to juvenile hall yesterday, and was to cite a third today on charges of burglary of the home of Harry Waste at 242 Beach Road on July 31.

Woodington said the boys, one from Belvedere and two from San Francisco, were from well-to-do families and had apparently done the burglary "for kicks."

Items taken, worth approximately $600, included an automatic shotgun, phonograph records, liquor, and cuff links made of $5 gold pieces.

Entry was made at night, Woodington said, through an open bathroom window. Waste, away in Canada at the time, reported the loss on his return five days ago. Woodington said Donald E. Midyett, district attorney's investigator, assisted in the investigation.

Telephone Extension Hearing Is Tomorrow

The State Public Utilities Commission will hold a hearing tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the San Rafael City Hall on proposed "extended area" services between central and southern Marin.

The proposal by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., if approved, would mean there would be no toll charge for a phone call between the San Rafael area and the Tiburon peninsula, between San Rafael and Sausalito, and between San Rafael and Ignacio.

Instead, there would be a rise in monthly basic telephone rates for the exchanges affected.

If the telephone company proposal is approved by the PUC, subscribers on the Tiburon peninsula and Ignacio also would be able to dial directly to San Rafael instead of first calling an operator. Subscribers in other exchanges already may dial directly.

A call between the peninsula and the San Rafael area now costs 10 cents for the first three minutes; between Sausalito and San Rafael, 15 cents; between Ignacio and San Rafael, 10 cents.

PT&T officials say there is an average of 39,000 calls monthly between the peninsula and the San Rafael area, nearly 60,000 between Sausalito-San Rafael and about 27,000 monthly between Ignacio-San Rafael.

In each case, the calls are about equally divided in origination between the cities and the large number of them indicates the need for extended service, company officials say.

The San Rafael City Council is the only group which officially has come out against the move. It has been endorsed by chambers of commerce from San Anselmo, Tiburon and Sausalito, the Marin Industrial Development Foundation, some homeowners associations, Hamilton Air Force Base and the San Jose School District in Ignacio.

Customers in the GLenwood, HOward and GReenfield exchanges in San Rafael, San Anselmo, Fairfax, Kentfield, Ross, and Terra Linda areas would be affected, along with GEneva customers on the Tiburon peninsula and EDgewater subscribers in Sausalito.

No decision can be expected from the utilities commission until a month or more after the hearing.

In lieu of the per-call cost, the telephone company proposes to raise basic monthly residential rates in Sausalito from $4.55 to $5.90 for a one party line; from $3.75 to $4.55 for two party. The basic monthly business rate would go from $9.25 to $12.45 for a one-party line.

In San Rafael, basic monthly one-party residential rates will go from $4.80 to $5.40 monthly and for two party from $3.75 to $4.05. The basic business phone rate would go from $10.25 to $11.45 for a one-party line.

On the peninsula, the rates would go from $4.55 to $5.65 for a one-party residential line and from $3.75 to $4.30 for two-party residential. Business rates would go from $9:25 to $11.95.

In Ignacio, the one-party residential rate would go from $4.40 to $5.65 and the two-party rate would go from $3.60 to $4.30. The basic business one-party rate would go from $7 to $11.95.

Marin Girl Back Home After Visit To France

Laura-Louise G. Reed, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Reed of 45 Bolinas Avenue, San Anselmo, was back home today after spending two months in France under the Experiment in International Living program.

She won't be home long. She's due to begin classes Sept. 18 at Wheaton College in Norton, Mass., where she will major in political science.

While in France the past two months, Miss Reed lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Freysz and their children, a boy 17, a girl 14 and a younger brother 11, in Strasbourg.

After a month in Strasbourg, Miss Reed with nine other visiting American students went on a one-month tour led by Prof. and Mrs. Charles Courtney of Santa Barbara.

"We went camping in a bus that carried our bicycles and other luggage," she said. "We traveled through the Loire Valley and saw many interesting old chateaux. We stayed on Brittany Beach for a while.

"We spent a week in Paris, mostly visiting museums and art galleries. Some of the girls saw the opera 'Madame Butterfly,' but I missed it. I was sick."

Miss Reed was one of more than 1,200 young Americans who spent the summer living and traveling in 28 countries under the Experimental program.

With Dispute Settled, Met Begins Working

NEW YORK (AP)—Metropolitan Opera executives worked against the clock today in arranging a 1961-62 season — made possible with White House aid.

The target date is the originally scheduled Oct. 23, with Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West." The management had declared the season canceled because of a contract deadlock with the Musicians Union.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J Goldberg, who worked out an agreement between the Met and the union representing its 92-member orchestra, said: "I think it is quite evident we can all look forward to another successful Metropolitan season."

Met General Manager Rudolf Bing jumped into action the minute the arbitration agreement was reached in Goldberg's Washington office yesterday.

Bing sent telegrams to singers all over the world from Goldberg's office. Artists' managers in New York said that as far as they knew all the artists would be available.

Leaders of various unions representing opera employes lent a hand with the big push to put the season together.

The Metropolitan Opera Assn. and Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians agreed to binding arbitration of their wage dispute. Goldberg, who was assigned to the Metropolitan impasse by President John F. Kennedy weeks ago, will personally arbitrate. Both sides agreed to accept whatever Goldberg decides is fair.

Held To Answer In Assault Case

Robert B. Nunnally, 37, San Rafael house painter accused of assault with intent to commit rape, was held to answer to the charge yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

The district attorney's office has 15 days in which to decide whether the charges will be pressed. Meanwhile Nunnally is free on $1,050 bail.

He is charged by a 20-year-old San Rafael woman who alleges the attack took place on July 16. Nunnally is represented by attorney Harold R. Hayes.

Fairfax Gives Some Ground In 'Chuckhole Drive' Fight

Under fire, along with Supt. of Streets Charles M. Thornton, from some 15 residents of the Cascades at a council meeting, the councilmen backed down a little on their stand that they don't improve unaccepted streets without residents putting up some money. The councilmen agreed to take a look at Cascade, and if it needs it, have it leveled and oiled.

"The school buses and police cars won't even drive over it," cried one protestant.

Daniel A. Giles of 610 Cascade, apparent spokesman for the residents at last night's meeting, told councilmen the street is a mass of chuck holes, some six inches deep.

"We want action. Our cars are falling apart," he said.

Another spokesman claimed the city might be liable if an accident happened because of the street's condition. "We've all had near-misses up there trying to avoid chuck holes we cannot straddle with our cars," he added.

Councilman Stanley R. Wilsey told the group that there were many streets with similar problems, that he lived on one (Toyon Drive) until he and other residents put up 80 per cent for the cost of its permanent repair. The other two councilmen (Rolfe M. Ockenden and Waldemar E. Radtke were absent) agreed something like that would have to be worked out for permanent repair of Cascade.

Thornton said he had offered to do some temporary repair. He was interrupted by Mrs. Giles with "and all you did was fill the holes with gravel that would flip on our windshields." Thornton went on to explain that former Mayor Floyd Elliot at an Aug. 14 meeting said he did not want any temporary repair of Cascade, where he also resides.

"Elliott speaks for himself," cried one woman.

The council's principal argument was that no permanent repair could be made because the street was not accepted by the city. City Atty. Wallace S. Myers was asked to explain just what a city accepted street was. He said it was difficult to determine, that public use can make it one, or even the city's slight maintenance might.

"But," he said, "if the city doesn't have the money it doesn't have to do anything." Myers said remedies included district bond issues, or cooperative financing similar to the Toyon Drive program described by Wilsey.

Have you noticed that I-J type looks cleaner . . . and blacker? That you can read more easily?

This printing advance has been years in the making. It's all due to a new kind of "water base" type ink developed by the California Ink Company. And your newspaper, the Independent-Journal, is the first* in this country to adopt it for printing the entire paper.

For advertisers, this new ink means a sharper image, a wider range of tones in illustrations, less "show through" of type and pictures. (Which also helps the reader).

We're still trying to improve it, working with Cal-Ink research experts . . . changing the "mix," running the presses. (We'd like to lick the problem of smudge or rub-off, for instance . . . which bothers every newspaper).

It's another example of how the I-J is putting new ideas into print . . . to bring you a better newspaper.

Ex-Brazil President Gives Support To Leftist Vice President Goulart

Goulart reaffirmed his intention to mark time in Paris.

Kubitschek said he talked to the vice president by telephone and assured him of his support. Then he announced plans to go to Brasilia where Congress was embroiled in a bitter dispute with military chiefs who have barred Goulart from returning to the country.

Goulart, wealthy rancher and former cowboy who served as vice president under Kubits? chek, said he would remain in Paris "to await the development of the situation."

He returned today from an over night visit with his children who are vacationing in Spain.

His statement seemed to rule out for the moment any attempt by Goulart to dash for Brazil and claim the presidency despite the military opposition.

Angry congressmen in Brasilia, the nation's capital, named a multiparty commission of eight senators and eight deputies to study the position of the three service chiefs who say they are barring Goulart from coming back for security reasons.

Fidel Urges Brazilians To Revolt

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro today urged Brazilians on to a popular uprising in the style of his own revolution to prevent "reactionary militarists" from installing an "illegal fascist regime" following the resignation of Janio Quadros as Brazil's president.

The Cuban prime minister spoke on television as military leaders in Brazil sought to block Vice President Joal Goulart, an even more outspoken admirer of Castro than Quadros, from taking the presidency.

"Profit from the experience of Cuba," Castro declared. Reading from press dispatches, he told his Cuban TV audience that the situation in Brazil is confused.

"If the Brazilian people make use of Cuba's experience and take arms and throw themselves into the fight in the mountains, jungles and forests, the reactionaries will never be able to succeed," he said.

SUPERVISORS' VOTE

Tam Valley Flood Control Dissolved

Dissolution of the Tamalpais Valley Flood Control Assessment District was voted yesterday afternoon by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The action was taken on suggestion of attorney Eugene K. Sturgis, who said Tamalpais Valley residents would get back about 73 per cent of their money. The project was launched more than two and one-half years ago.

The supervisors' action authorized accelerating the payment of bonds for the project from money on hand, consisting of funds paid in cash by some residents and in instalments on bonds by other residents.

Bruce J. Gillette of 407 Spruce Street, Tamalpais Valley, appeared at the board meeting and requested that those who paid cash be reimbursed before the bonds were paid.

But Sturgis, who said the plan he recommended had been approved by County Counsel E. Warren McGuire, declared that to pay cash investors back before the bonds were liquidated would result in a less than 73 per cent return to installment payers.

Assistant Auditor Michael Mitchell supported this contention. Supervisor Chairman William D. Fusselman said the plan outlined by Sturgis would have to be approved as most nearly equitable to all residents.

During the complicated discussion which preceded the supervisors action, Fusselman asked Sturgis how much had been paid in cash on the project and how much installments. Sturgis replied $10,426.28 in cash and $14,323.72 in installments.

The supervisors received notice from the Corps of Army Engineers last April that no further study would be made of Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio channel improvements.

The engineers said that though work on the channel seemed economically justified, local residents had indicated inability to make the required contribution.

For some time before this, it had become apparent that nothing would eventuate in the project after the Army Engineers disclosed rising costs which hiked the county share far above earlier estimates.

Sturgis disclosed his plan for dissolution of the project last June. It took until recently for the county auditor's office to work out the exact amounts of money to be returned to residents.

Foreign Aid Compromise Is Predicted

Rayburn said the compromise probably will provide for more than one year of treasury borrowing to finance long term development loans.

"We think the conferees are going to get together on a good bill, one that will be adopted by both houses," Rayburn said. He spoke after the regular weekly breakfast meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with the president at the White House.

The speaker said, "I don't know yet" when asked what the financing terms of the bill would be. But he replied "probably" when asked first whether it would be more than a one-year program, and then whether it would include Treasury borrowing rather than annual congressional appropriations for the development loans.

"There are a great many men on the conference committee that want that," Rayburn told reporters.

U.S. Troops In Berlin Begin Training Tests

BERLIN (AP)—Orientation of the U.S. Berlin garrison's latest reinforcements turned today from lectures and sight-seeing tours to a field test of combat readiness.

The 1,500 men of the 18th Infantry's First Battle Group, who were welcomed with cheers and flowers by West Berliners Aug. 20, donned battle gear and rushed into maneuvers that teach methods of development in heavily populated areas. They exercised several hours. The test ended about 11 a.m.

The maneuvers are held periodically by all the Big Three garrisons, which total about 12,500 men.

The city border, where Communist barricades were under armed watch by both sides, was quiet.

A private Western intelligence agency, Information Bureau West, reported opposition by some East German youths to military service in the build-up of the Communist army that has accompanied the closing of the city's sector border.

Anti-Cancer Serum Effective On Animals Used On Humans

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — James H. Rand III, president of Rand Development Corp., said last night an anti-cancer serum developed by a Cleveland scientist and reported effective in animals has been used on human patients within the last three years.

He denied reports that the serum had proved effective on cancer patients at Doctors Hospital here, saying that no such conclusions could be drawn from tests so far.

Rand said that in the last three years between 40 and 50 patients—not all in Doctors Hospital but throughout the country—have received the serum, but emphasized that it was "much too early" to appraise the results.

"We hope to have another 150 patients in the next six months," he said. "We don't know what the results will be."

Dr. Sergio de Carvalho, who developed the serum would not confirm that it had been used on human patients.

Vandals Toss Paint On Car

The paint was thrown on the hood, windshield, seat, dashboard and steering wheel, police said. Paint cans were left in the back of the truck, which was parked behind the pool office.

Little Girl Knocked From Bike By Auto

Seven-year-old Colleen Kennedy of 289 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital last night for bruised knees resulting from an accident earlier in the day.

Colleen was knocked off her bicycle at 11:21 a.m. yesterday by a car backing out of a neighbor's driveway, driven by Raymond Earl Anderson of 912 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael. Anderson told police he was moving, at about five miles per hour and did not see the child.

Freshman Orientation Beginning Tomorrow

An orientation session for freshmen entering San Rafael High School will begin at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the school.

Three Injured Inmates Back At Prison

Three inmates injured fighting fires in Six Rivers National Forest were returned today to San Quentin Prison. They all were reported in good condition.

The severest injury was suffered by Fortunato G. Escoto, 37, of San Mateo County. The small of his back was sprained when a log rolled on him. Escoto was flown from the fire line to a hospital at Hoopa Indian Reservation, Humboldt County. He was not hospitalized at the prison today, however, reported Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

The other two firefighters of Los Angeles County were also treated at the reservation hospital and released, but brought back to the prison with Escoto. The remaining 72-man crew of inmates were released from the six Rivers firelines last night and were to return to the prison about 8 o'clock tonight.

The others injured were Arthur Garcia, 28, who tore his hand when he grabbed a bush to keep himself from sliding down a steep hill, and Charles Burns, 32, who suffered minor cuts in the rugged country, said Frady.

2 Sanitary Board Members Resign

Jerome F. Downs and Valerian Skrylov resigned last night as directors of the Almonte Sanitary District due to pressure of their businesses.

Both men had served three years on the board, Downs' term to have ended in 1962 and Skrylov's to be up in 1964.

Chairman Homer E. Winfield said today that persons interested in serving on the board may get in touch with him at 186 Morning Sun Drive.

Suffers Broken Hip

Race Wire Operator Takes 5th At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas F. Kelly Sr., head of a Chicago race wire service, took the fifth Amendment today when asked whether he so intimidated an employee that the man tried to commit suicide rather than testify before Senate crime investigators.

Kelly told the Senate Investigations subcommittee that answers to this and practically every question asked of him might tend to incriminate him.

A big, balding man with a fringe of gray hair, Kelly sat impassively at the witness table as the subcommittee heard testimony that the employee, Frank W. Lyons, took an overdose of sleeping tablets Saturday.

Police Sgt. Lawrence J. English of the Chicago suburb of Arlington Heights testified that Lyons is still too ill to be interviewed but that Mrs. Lyons told him her husband had been driven by intimidation to a suicide attempt.

English said Mrs. Lyons mentioned no names, but had informed him that "those he works with told him to take the Fifth."

He said this meant Lyons was pressured to invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse to testify in the hearings. Lyons had been subpoenaed for questioning about Kelly's race wire operations.

Though apparently unmoved by English's testimony, Kelly glared in red-faced anger at some of the questions flung at him by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) the subcommittee chairman.

McClellan said that "Since you couldn't get him (Lyons) to do it (invoke the Fifth Amendment) you are going to do it yourself."

"Don't you think such a person is the lowest scum of humanity?" he asked.

Kelly: "I decline to answer on grounds my answer might tend to incriminate me."

McClellan: "Did you undertake to coerce and intimidate him?"

Again Kelly recited the amendment plea.

Kelly took the Fifth, too, to questions about his occupation.

He had just heard Downey Rice, a former FBI agent, give testimony linking the name of Kelly's Illinois Sports Service with such Chicago mobsters as Tony Accardo and Murray (The Camel) Humphries.

Rice, who served as counsel to the old Senate Crime Investigating Committee in 1950-51, called Accardo part of "the scum of the underworld."

Seven Questioned In Pinball Burglary

Seven teen-agers, six from San Rafael and one from Hamilton Air Force Base, were being questioned today with their parents by juvenile authorities regarding burglary of pinball machines last night at the Marin Bowl, Third Street and Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

The youths allegedly broke open the machines with a hammer, took coins from the boxes and played the machines for free by tripping the operation lever.

Carpenter In Fall In Good Condition

Edmond Bedecarrax, 57, carpenter of 149 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, who suffered severe bruises in fall from a scaffold at the Marin County Civic Center construction site in Las Gallinas yesterday morning, was reported in good condition at Marin General Hospital today.

Also injured later yesterday in a fall into a hole at the civic center site was pipelayer James Burgess, 33, of Penngrove, Sonoma County. He suffered several bruises, said attendants at Marin General Hospital.

Burglar Steals PG&E Tools

Angus MacDonald, foreman for PG&E, reported the loss yesterday to Sheriff's Deputy Harold Goerndt. The thief cut padlocks to tool boxes to get the equipment, including hand tools, a battery, and about 15 gallons of gasoline. During the previous weekend, thieves stole acetylene torches and an oxygen tank, MacDonald reported.

Senate Votes Tomorrow On Civil Rights Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today scheduled a preliminary vote tomorrow in the fight over a proposal to extend the Civil Rights Commission for two years.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader, abandoned plans for a vote this afternoon.

Planners Deny Zone Request In Novato

The Novato Planning Commission last night denied a request by Jack and Beatrice Carisi to rezone a parcel of land across from Novato Hospital at Diablo and Hill streets from limited agriculture to multiple family.

The commission members said this request conflicted with the master plan.

The commission continued until Sept. 11 any decision on setting up restrictions in the rezoned Hanna Industrial Park North of Ignacio Wye and between Highway 101 and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. The commission wants to put the industrial area restrictions into the master plan.

The commission also delayed until Sept. 11 action on an application by Andrew Talbot for parking lot plans at Grant Avenue and Fifth Street.

The planners adjourned to Wednesday night for a special study meeting on the master plan with the county planning commission.

night. The meeting was canceled.

However, Schneider said no votes of the school board were taken during the weekend sessions.

Those attending besides Schneider, included: trustees Jean Ansley, Daniel Barber and Robert Allen—a quorum of the five-member board; Principals Alfred Rivasplata, Ross Carter, Fred Newton and Joseph Mouille; Duane V. Moeller, assistant superintendent for business services; Mrs. Godean Eagle, speech therapist; Mrs. Margaret Englehart, school nurse; Mrs. Lois D. Kulmann, guidance consultant; Richard Silvers, music instructor; Mrs. Margaret W. Todd, librarian; Robin Briscoe, curriculum director; Donald Slezak, Neill Whitman, Sandy Brousseau, Pearl Yee, and Mrs. Mary Hiatt, special teachers.

Uniforms Slated For Mill Valley Police

Twenty active reserve officers with the Mill Valley Police will be provided blue uniforms by the city in about 40 days, Police Chief Dan Terzich said today.

Uniforms will include zippered jackets, trousers and caps. The men are to buy their own shirts and ties.

the need arose, Marsh indicated.

The prime stumbling block to private construction of the facility apparently is in the type of contract which the county would have to enter for county patients.

Officials meeting today made no estimate as to the actual cost to the county, nor were construction costs discussed. But Douglas Maloney, assistant county council, noted that the county would need some airtight contractural assurance that county patients would not be evicted from any private hospital over county-hospital administration disagreement on operation or cost.

"The county could place itself in a great deal of jeopardy . . . if it placed its responsibility with somebody else," Maloney said.

Discussions indicated that the hospital would not need to include a laboratory nor X-ray facilities. Marsh said that he was considering only limited rehabilitation facilities.

Final plans, cost estimates and methods of operation must still be approved by the supervisors.

At the meeting today were Betty Presley, county welfare director; Thomas Campanella of the welfare department; Bette McDonald, administrative assistant to Dufficy; James E. Moore, administrator of Center Medical Hospital in Terra Linda, who is advising Marsh; Bruce, Dufficy, Maloney and Marsh.

Bilking Roofer's Sentencing Set

Vernon G. Lawson, 24, Sacramento roofer found guilty last week of cheating two elderly San Anselmo sisters on house repairs, will be sentenced in Marin Superior Court on Sept. 18.

Josepha Daniel, 82, and her sister Emma Daniel, 85, told a jury they had given Lawson a check for $800 for repairing and repainting their house at 101 Ross Avenue. They said Lawson failed to perform the work for which he contracted.

Army Colonel Joins Staff At Fort Baker

Col. E. T. Ashworth has assumed duties as deputy commander of the Sixth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, with headquarters at Fort Baker.

He took over duties of Col. M. M. Irvine who retired and now resides in San Francisco. Col. Ashworth lives at Fort Baker.

'Money Back Guarantee' Originator Dies At 81

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — The man who put the "money back guarantee" formula into sales work is dead.

The story of how Richard C. Barnum rose from a poor Texas boy to become known as one of the country's greatest salesmen at the turn of the century was recalled today following his death, almost unnoticed by most people, at his home Sunday.

Barnum, a distant relative of P. T. Barnum, began his career while a freshman student at Hiram College in Ohio. He walked through the farm states, selling a three-in-one volume combining tips on cooking, care of livestock, and home medical treatment.

Impressed with the popularity of such books on the farm, he quit as a salesman to write a competing volume, "The People's Home Library."

Soon Barnum had about 2,000 college students in his organization working their way through college. His book sold more than a million copies and he never returned to college.

In 1920, Barnum ran for vice president on the single-tax party ticket headed by Robert C. Macauley. He had read Henry George's "Progress and Poverty" while in high school and profoundly believed in George's theory that there should be only one tax, which should be based upon the profits from land.

By the time Barnum was 39, he was a rich man who had run for vice president and owned or controlled six subscription book companies.

Barnum, who was born in a house in Texas he called a "plaster shack," was known as the "king of the book agents."

He returned to his sales-publishing organization following his defeat as a vice presidential candidate. His last corporation was dissolved in the mid 1930s.

Sunday Barnum died at his home at the age of 81. Private services will be tomorrow.

later that Birch's Chinese aide had been "battered on the head with a rifle, lost an eye, lost an arm, lost a leg, but was still alive."

Grimes said the communist soldiers took the aide and Birch's body to Soochow, where another OSS interpreter learned of the killing, got pictures and radioed a report to Chungking.

Grimes said, he Ogle and Smith were disarmed, bound and taken to Yunan, where the Reds held them captive for two months before protests of American military officers brought their release.

Referring to the John Birch Society, Grimes said "For a dead man, dying as Birch did, to be brought back from the dead to be used as a political deal, it's rotten."

Grimes said Birch was opposed to communism.

Sausalitan Hurt In Car Accident

Robert T. Kent of 205 Second Street was in an accident Saturday about noon when a foreign car he was driving rolled three times on Highway 101 near the Alto overpass.

Kent, 31, told the highway patrol that the car rolled after he tried to correct his steering in a wind gust. The patrol's report recorded no complaint of injury.

Kent is display manager for J. C. Penney Co. in Corte Madera.

Boy Hurt In Bike Fall

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY

Quiet Beauty

for families of every faith

Ninety years ago, Marin pioneers set aside this lovely site as a final resting place for all faiths.

Since then, Mount Tamalpais has developed facilities to meet each family's preference. Here are lovely gardens, the Angeles Garden or Memory Chapel mausoleums for above-ground burial, Marin's modern new crematorium, and the Chapel of Light Columbarium.

If you haven't visited Mount Tamalpais, you are invited to see the beauty of its typically Marin setting. Our staff will be glad to answer your questions.

Underground Utilities Asked By Planners

Corte Madera Planning Commission last night approved the tentative map of the Mariner Highlands subdivision but tacked on an underground utility section which will be appealed to the town council.

Commissioners told Daniel P. Coleman of Dan Coleman and Associates of San Francisco they wanted the electric and telephone lines underground instead of overhead. Coleman protested that this would increase the price of the lots about $1,500 or $1,700.

When the commissioners voted 3-2 in favor of the underground lines, Coleman said he would appeal to the council.

The subdivision is east of Marin Estates and south of Paradise Drive.

Rev. Gerald S. Moyer of the First Baptist Church in Corte Madera asked that a walkway be built to provide pedestrian access to Paradise Drive. The commissioners, with Coleman in agreement, said this would be done.

The commissioners also approved an application for conditional use and a design review for a temporary bus shelter at the southwest corner of Loyola Way and El Camino drive, sought by the Marin Estates Homeowners Assn. The costs and maintenance would be paid by the association, the commissioners pointed out.

Wolfe Grade School Cost Called Legal

Supt. Howard C. Harmon told Kentfield School District trustees last night it would be legal for the district to pay the costs of work on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to provide a safer crossing for Wolfe Grade School children.

Harmon said County Counsel E. Warren Maguire confirmed the legality of the district paying the costs. The work would include widening the boulevard across Wolfe Grade and construction of a pedestrian overpass.

Trustees had hoped the cost would be shared by nearby Marin Catholic High School, but Harmon reported high school officials said they would not participate because most of their students drive automobiles to school.

The trustees approved new rules governing the use of school buildings which included a regulation that groups using the school facilities would not have to sign loyalty oaths. Their previous rule made it mandatory for all organizations using any of the district's schools to sign the oaths.

Groups can meet in the schools from 3:20 to 11 p.m. The previous rule set the time from 2:30 p.m. to midnight. The trustees said groups using the facilities cannot store equipment in the schools.

Jack Williams was hired as district guidance consultant at an annual salary of $10,000 effective Sept. 6; and Mrs. Dorothy Keays as three-quarter time library clerk at Greenbrae School at a salary of $2,625.

Session Planned For Students New At Terra Linda

An orientation session for all students entering Terra Linda High School for the first time next week will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Principal Webster Wilson called attention that this is two days later than the freshman orientation session scheduled at San Rafael High School. The Friday meeting will be for all entering freshman and for sophomores and juniors who did not attend Terra Linda High last year, he said. Terra Linda has no senior class this year.

Advance registration of new students from outside Dixie and San Rafael Elementary School Districts was being taken at Terra Linda High today.

Reed School Board Is Meeting Tonight

Reed Union School District trustees will discuss the position of materials center director at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the Reed School multi-purpose room.

Also on the agenda is discussion of renovation of the ranch house on the Reed School property and approval of staff salary study procedures, according to Supt. Edward C. Pino.

K. K. Bechtel Divorce Is Reported

Kenneth K. Bechtel, 57, Ross insurance executive noted for his Boy Scout leadership in Marin for the past 20 years, was reportedly divorced from his wife, the former Elizabeth Hay, in Nevada last month.

The divorce, which was reported as "friendly," was uncontested and involved a property settlement, the terms of which were not revealed. The Bechtels were married in 1926 and have two grown sons, Peter and Jon.

Bechtel has been head of the Industrial Indemnity Co. of San Francisco for the past 31 years. He became a member of the executive board of the Marin Council of Boy Scouts in 1940 and has served as president of the organization.

During World War II he was president of Marinship Corporation of Sausalito. The family formerly lived in Belvedere. They have lived in Ross since 1941. The family home is on Makin Grade.

Novato Taxi Firm Seeking Third Cab

The Yellow Cab Co. of Novato will ask the city council tonight for approval to operate a third cab.

Last week the city council approved operation of two taxicab companies in the city, with two cabs each. Yellow Cab Co. is protesting that it already had a third cab in operation.

The council will be asked by the Novato Chamber of Commerce to endorse a moon watch station for the area. The chamber wants the National Aviation and Space Agency to put a station in the Novato area.

The chamber will also ask the council to set Sept. 12 for a meeting of its freeway committee with the council.

San Rafael's Dr. Hund Given Surprise Party

A surprise party to pay tribute to Dr. Harry O. Hund of San Rafael for his 50 years in medical practice was attended by about 150 persons last night at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

Dr. Leo Stanley, former San Quentin Prison physician, was master of ceremonies. The event began about 6:30 p.m. with dinner and lasted until about 11 p.m.

"The doctor was completely surprised, flabbergasted," reported Mrs. Joseph Ghiringelli, co-owner with her husband of Deer Park Villa. The Ghiringellis arranged the tribute.

The event originally had been set for Hund's 76th birthday Aug. 22 but was delayed because he was attending a meeting of the Nevada Medical Assn. in Reno.

Dr. Hund reported today he has not retired. He still is in general practice and still serving as district physician and surgeon for the Southern Pacific Co.

Dr. Hund has served as San Rafael's city health officer for more than 20 years and was one of the first members of the Marin Medical Society. He is a member of the staffs of Marin General Hospital, San Rafael General Hospital and the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco.

Dr. Hund, whose father, Dr. Frederick J. Hund, also was a doctor, was born in San Francisco. He received his M.D. at University of Pennsylvania in 1911.

He returned to Marin to join his father in serving El Recreo Sanitarium on Laurel Grove Avenue in Ross, an institution the father build in 1907.

Dr. Hund began practice in the horse and buggy doctor days. He recalls finding the Maxwell automobile a vast improvement over the buggy.

Besides belonging to numerous medical associations, Dr. Hund has been active in the Elks, the Masons, the Shrine and other groups.

San Rafael Firm Hit On Smog Control

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District has ordered Henry Hess Lumber Co. of San Rafael to discontinue use of its sawdust burner within 60 days.

In the first crackdown by the smog district on a San Rafael industry, Benjamin Linsky, smog district control officer, disclosed he has served the notice on Charles T. Lund, manager of the lumber company.

The action was taken because of complaints by residents about smoke from the sawdust burner, Linsky said.

He further declared "state highway people" had informed the smog district that none of the lumber company property will be taken for widening of the Highway 101 freeway "for at least a year."

Lund is to notify the smog district by Sept. 11 that he will discontinue use of the sawdust burner and dispose of sawdust, chips and blocks by hauling them away "for use and disposal by others," Linsky said. "It is expected that the entire arrangements will be completed within about 60 days."

Supervisors Ask Space Laboratory For Novato

A federal space flight laboratory in Novato that would employ 1,500 persons at the start and probably more later was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors late yesterday on suggestion of County Administrator Alan Bruce.

"Urge Marin County in general and Novato in particular be considered for space flight laboratory. Believe this area meets both essential and desirable criteria listed by your agency.

"Assure you local authorities will extend every cooperation to your review team and to laboratory if established here."

Bruce introduced the matter after receiving a letter from Rep. Clem Miller (D-California) enclosing a list of the agency's requirements.

1—Decided to consider on Sept. 5 setting of date for appearance by Dr. Rafael G. Diffley Jr., county physician, to discuss proposed revisions in county employee physical examination policy, limiting annual physical exams to employees in certain departments.

2—Asked Bruce to submit a sample copy of a proposed pamphlet containing basic information about the county's government for answering questions by the public. Bruce said requests for information take considerable staff time and frequently include furnishing a copy of the county's budget at a cost of $3. The pamphlets could be printed at 50 cents a copy, Bruce said.

3—Re-appointed for two-year terms beginning on Aug. 1, the following members of the safety commission: Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer, representing health and welfare; Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, representing law enforcement; County Auditor Leon A. deLisle, representing administrative offices, and J. Mansfield Lewis, representing communications.

4—On request of attorney Eugene K. Sturgis, closed the hearing on bids for public improvements for Bel Marin Keys Assessment District. Sturgis said no bids had been received, evidently because contractors did not wish to contend with the approaching rainy season. He said bids would probably be called again in the spring.

5—Approval appropriation of $10,000 to the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

6—On advice of County Counsel E. Warren McGuire authorized continuation of present system of county planning service to Novato. Under this system planners' overtime pay comes from county and Novato reimburses county. Chairman William B. Fusselman specified board to be told in advance by department head the amount of overtime anticipated.

State Fair Opens Tomorrow With A New Marin Exhibit

Tomorrow in Sacramento the annual State Fair opens for a 12-day run.

We've always been enthusiastic about our State Fair. And this year is no exception.

This year there will be several innovations—and an entirely different kind of a Marin County exhibit.

Last year Marin presented live shows in the Counties Building at the fairgrounds. There were everything from Scout organizations to potters, jazz bands, and painters cooperating.

This year the county exhibit is framed around the theme "The All-American City"—a designation we received early this year, only the third time in history that a county has had such a designation.

We think you'll like this year's Marin exhibit. It has beauty that last year's lacked, although it lacks the live show that made last year's such a hit with spectators on hand during the shows.

We think you'll like the Fair in general, too. This year there will be an hour-long pyrotechnic show each night. For the first time hundreds of California birds, many of which you probably never have seen and many which you see daily, will be displayed in their native habitat.

There is the flower show, which we always love; the art in action, Mexican folk dancers, kiddie shows, displays of all types, the finest livestock in the state and, for those who like their horses in action, the races. There's the Gay Way and the industrial exhibits, the barkers, the eating places—everything from cotton candy to steak dinners.

There's plenty to do and see at the State Fair. Plan to go early and stay late.

But plan to go.

Nature As A Teacher

The children will soon be going back to school. Yet most have never left it because Marin is one vast school and Nature is a dandy teacher.

What better way to learn of life's eternal verities than from the simple facts of life around us. Observe the birds. Any child who is interested can acquire a better understanding of life's cycle from bird study.

Nature teaches patience, for flowers are not born nor are trees grown in a single day. The study of Nature enhances one's sense of mystery because the more deeply we pursue the subject, the more profound are the questions.

Best of all, one never outgrows or graduates from Nature's school. Once enrolled, it is a lifetime course.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

DO YOUR DUTY AND BE AT EASE

One day during Colonial times a "dark day" occurred. When the sun seemed to disappear at midday, the people were so alarmed that many of them began to cry, thinking that the world was coming to an end.

Even the legislature was disturbed and confused. Some wanted to adjourn without delay. One stalwart member quelled the confusion in a very meaningful way when he said: "I make a motion that we secure some candles and proceed with our business. If the end of the world is about to come, I want to be found doing my duty."

In times of emergency, make a special point to keep "first things first." Be faithful to the duties that both God and man expect you to fulfill, and you will retain your own sense of balance and peace of mind as well as be a tower of strength to others.

Best of all, you will always be prepared to render an account of your stewardship. Within a relatively short space of time you will be called upon to do just that.

"With all watchfulness keep Your heart, because life issues out from it."

(Proverbs 4:23)

Help me to be so loyal to duty, O Lord, that I will always be ready to appear before you.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

Afraid Of Jets? Opera Composer Rossini Fainted On Train Ride

If in the middle of the jet age you still haven't found the courage to take your first airplane ride, don't feel too bad. Many famous people have been scared of new adventures.

When Gioacchino Rossini, composer of "The Barber of Seville," and other noted operas, took his first train ride in 1836, he became so frightened he fainted—and had to be carried off at the next station.

Summarizing husbands: We do not guarantee the following figures, but someone has estimated that the average husband in his lifetime wears out 103 suits, takes 10,920 baths, gets 1,690 haircuts, uses 507 tubes of tooth paste, works 96,000 hours, tells 123,002 lies—and twice tells his wife she is wonderful.

Oldtime wonder drugs: To draw out the pain from headaches, medieval physicians advised their patients to sip water from a trough from which an ox had drunk. This was about 500 years b.a. (before aspirin).

Don't apologize if the boss catches you yawning on the job. A yawn helps build up your energy for more work. Scientists say it tones up the muscles of the mouth, chest, back and arms.

The Empire State Building, sold the other day for a tidy 65 million dollars, no longer can boast it is the tallest man-made structure. It is excelled in height by at least three television transmitters — in Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Portland, Me., and Roswell, N. M.

HAVE YOU EVER clocked how fast your wife talks? If she is average, her conversation will flow at the rate of 125 words a minute.

Animal lore: Did you know that some fish can walk, that electric eels can produce up to 700 volts of electricity, that, despite their bulk, elephants require only about half as much sleep as people?

FORGOTTEN HERO: The odds are there aren't 10 kids in America who can identify a man who should be one of their greatest idols — Ernest Hamwi of Damascus. His claim to fame: He invented the ice cream cone in 1904.

It was Artemus Ward who observed, nearly a century before the credit card appeared, "Let us all be happy and live within our means, even if we have to borrow the money to do it with."

Serious County Salary Inequities

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

As a county employee, I would like to congratulate Randall Gould for his fine article appearing in the Independent-Journal Reporter's Notebook concerning the recent failure of the Board of Supervisors to correct many out-of-line salaries of county employees.

There are still serious salary inequities in many county departments. The welfare department, for example, has achieved national recognition for its focus on rehabilitation of aid recipients with the result of lower welfare costs. However, our "economy-minded" Board of Supervisors has failed to pay the director even a "going rate" for her services.

New employees with previous work experience are required to start at Step 1 salary instead of higher steps which they are able to receive elsewhere in the Bay Area. This policy seriously limits the hiring of capable experienced personnel.

Mr. Michael, probation committee member, correctly observes the long-term effect of the board's policy when he told them (as you reported):

"You should face up. If you think it is wise to let experienced men go, or trade down in ability, you're not meeting your responsibility and you're hurting the county."

The supervisors appear to think that if they grant raises correcting out-of-line salaries, they are required to raise all salaries.

If county employees have "some notion of justice," as Mr. Gould suggests, it would appear that the correction of glaring salary deficiencies would take priority over general raises. Many employees also wish for personnel practices that attract and retain outstanding supervisors and administrators.

The supervisors, by refusal to adjust inequity requests discarded strong recommendations to do so by both Administrator Alan Bruce and Asst. Auditor Michael Mitchell. Your paper quoted them as saying, "We believe that both short-run and long-run costs would be increased if the inequity requests are overlooked in relation to employee morale, turnover, and cost of training new employees."

Judge Richard Sims sums up this problem clearly when he told your paper, "Marin County wants reasonable government" . . . but "Refusal to face up to a program of correcting out-of-line salaries of county employees is a short-term economy that is going to produce long-term waste."

It is difficult to believe that the taxpayers of one of the richest counties in the United States do not want to or cannot afford to pay for the outstanding county administration that they have obtained.

Phone Hearing Is Tomorrow

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wonder how hany of your readers realize that tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the council chambers in San Rafael, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. is appealing to the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California to abolish toll message service rates between San Rafael, Sausalito, Belvedere-Tiburon and Ignacio.

On the surface, this sounds like it is going to give the telephone subscriber a break, however this is misleading to the public. There are thousands of subscribers affected who rarely, or never, call any of these places and yet if the toll call is abolished a substantial raise on their monthly bill will be approved.

What about the pensioner who has a telephone only for emergency or how about the working couple who are employed and are away from their telephone during the day? What about the housewife who makes most of her calls in the community where she resides? This raise in rate will affect us all!

A dollar or more each month adds up to many dollars at the end of the year for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. That is why they are so eager to push this application through, quickly without opposition.

The Public Utilities Commission is meeting in open hearing on the above date to hear whether this change is justified or not and they will consider similar protests to mine. However, unless public opinion is expressed, either in person or by writing the commissioner, the telephone company may get approval of their application without showing justification.

The Public Utilities Commission advised me that a protest may be made in person or in writing. Each protest entered will confirm the need for an investigation before the application is granted.

Anyone interested should be present or address a letter: In the matter of the application No. 43430. Frederick B. Holoboff, Commissioner, Public Utilities Commission, State of California hearing, Council Chambers, San Rafael.

Where Will Air Come From?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I just want one question answered by all the advocates of civilian defense shelters. Here it is!

When one has built a substantial shelter against blast, stocked it with food, water, first aid supplies, exactly where is the ventilation in that shelter going to come from, with radio-active air about and around it?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

First victim of San Anselmo's new curfew law was a 15-year-old lad found by Policeman Cecil Barber sleeping in a parked bus at 3:40 a.m. The boy's parents could not be located.

Sounds as though Brigitte Bardot's new press agent is the same smart hombre who wrote copy for La Monroe back in the good old calendar days. A reporter asked Brigitte "When it comes to romance, what's the difference between an American's technique and a Frenchman's?" Miss Bardot's answer: "A Frenchman speaks French."

Las Vegas authorities don't like to see customers lose more at the gaming tables than they can afford. That's the way to get them back again next year! The prize suckers, authorities know, are the ones who turn up with "sure-fire" intricate systems—guaranteed to beat roulette, or "21."

J. J. Cahill, New South Wales potentate, was trying to explain to a University of Wisconsin audience the difference in pronunciation of everyday words in Australia and the U.S.A. "Let me give one small example," suggested Cahill. "In your country, a bison is an animal. In my country, we wash our hands in it."

An office malcontent topped a month of miserable service by asking for a raise. "Okay," snapped the office manager, "you've got your raise. And it will become effective the day that you do."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Chapter 2 In The Legal Muddles Of Thomas Joseph McNicholas

Comes now Chapter 2 in the story of the seventh trial this year of Thomas Joseph McNicholas, a thirsty man born in Ireland 70 years ago.

The charges were soddenness and being found "living" on the porch of 804 A Street, San Rafael, without the owner's permission.

He vigorously pleaded innocent. Two days later he faced Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

"DO YOU understand these proceedings?" inquired the youthful judge in friendly fashion.

"No, I don't understand these proceedings," he fulminated feyly as though confounded by the little people of his native land. "I was under a hypnotic spell. I'd like to cross it off the books. I'm not guilty. I was under a hypnotic spell."

Mirth rippled through the courtroom.

Forrest Copper Rockwell, evidently about McNicholas' age, testified he owned the porch, with house attached, on which defendant was found sleeping.

Defendant, as his own attorney, questioned Rockwell ineffectively.

Same thing with John R. Chester, Rockwell's tenant, who discovered McNicholas on the second step at 6:30 a.m.

TALL, YOUNG James W. Carlton of the San Rafael Police testified he awakened McNicholas and assisted him to a police car. He smelled alcohol and deemed defendant intoxicated.

"How do you make that out?" McNicholas huffed.

"Because you had difficulty standing and walking and I had difficulty helping you," was Carlton's polite reply.

McNicholas was sworn.

"I wouldn't lie for the world," he told petite Court Clerk Lucyle Manning. Except for his rude clothing he resembled an elderly John Barrymore playing a con man role.

His address?

"Oh," and here his brogue was softly sibilant, "I live down the street a couple of doors. Kind of a floating address."

Spectators laughed.

The judge tried in vain to learn what preceded McNicholas' sleep on the porch. He regretfully found him guilty. He declared in effect a six-month jail term previously suspended. He pronounced a new six-month term, to be concurrent.

"THIS WILL BE an awful shock to me—tomorrow," said McNicholas. "I'll take the pledge. Tomorrow. I couldn't find Father Monahan. He was sick. Will you give me a chance to leave town? When I get a chance to get squared up. In a day or two."

The judge shook his head.

McNicholas, in the faded blue denims with "P" for prisoner painted on them that he'd been given when released two days before his latest arrest, was led back to jail.

Outside the court, Rockwell, owner of the porch, said he knew McNicholas and they both belonged to the local Carpenters Union.

"He was a good mechanic. He worked until about four years ago . . . They say he used to be a prizefighter.

"Where was he born? County Cork, I believe. He's never harmed anyone. Everybody likes him . . . "

THE FOLLOWING Monday night McNicholas beat the rap in a way. He took sick (diabetes, etc.) and was taken to San Rafael General Hospital. His diabetes was too severe to treat with tablets and his doctor feared he could not be counted on to give himself needed injections.

He was to be moved to the county farm.

The doctor found him in good spirits. He asked, "How is your circulation?"

"Oh, I get around," was the reply.

Facts On Communism Shouldn't Be Denied Youth Because Of Abuse

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Probably there will be some controversy over a proposal to include instruction about Communism in the public schools. There always is a controversy whenever the word Communism is mentioned.

Conferences over the proposal have been going on in the State Department of Education, and Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, is about to appoint an advisory committee to study the matter farther.

UNDER THE proposal, the decision as to whether instruction would be given or not, would be made by local school districts. Along with any such course would go instruction in Democracy, the idea being to show the difference between the two philosophies of government.

On the face of the proposal, it would appear a desirable course. At the present time, there is a general "hate Communism" attitude on the part of everyone, and at the same time, few people know what Communism is or what it is trying to accomplish.

WHAT THE educators mayhap don't realize is that there would be a more general antipathy among the people of the state toward the philosophies of Communism if people knew more about the subject. The antipathy would be based on factual knowledge, presumably, and sound reasons would supercede hearsay in pointing the country away from Communism.

Also, the "tricks of the trade," that is the methods used to advance the cause of Communism would become common knowledge, readily recognized when they are used in this country.

On the other hand, such courses could be abused. Let a teacher who happened to be favorable to the Communist philosophy get in the saddle as instructor in a Democracy vs. Communism course, and the cause of Democracy could easily be lost.

This, then, would mean continual hand-picking on the part of governing boards of school districts to select instructors who are known to be loyal to the democratic cause.

THIS WOULD BE a difficult course, for even the invasion of one communistically inclined instructor could do a lot of damage. And the Communists, one can rest assured, would spare no effort to infiltrate the ranks and spread propaganda through this brand new media.

Because of this danger, it could well behoove the education department to figure out ways and means of avoiding tactics which eventually could undermine democratic principles.

BUT AGAIN, teaching "about" Communism could readily be recommended as a means of adding to the store of knowledge of the state's young people. If Democracy is afraid to teach its upcoming citizens what Communism is and what it represents, then those who espouse its cause must have made more progress than they are given credit for.

Facts on any subject should not be denied to young people, and particularly on subjects in which there is such a great amount of interest as there is in Communism.

Marin Bank Clerk Killed In Car Crash

Henry Lee Franklin III, chief clerk in the Belvedere-Tiburon branch of Crocker-Anglo National Bank, was killed Sunday in a highway accident 27 miles south of Fredericktown, Mo.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said the 25-year-old Franklin, driving a small compact car, apparently fell asleep at the wheel and veered into the wrong traffic lane, the Associated Press reported from Fredericktown. His car crashed with a convertible driven by Joseph Cecala, 39, of Chicago. Cecala suffered critical injuries and a passenger, Francine Contie, 10, suffered cuts, bruises and a broken arm.

Franklin, who resided with his parents in Boyes Hot Springs, had been chief clerk of the bank on the Boardwalk in Belvedere since last November, said Howard E. Langford, bank manager.

He joined the bank, then a branch of the First National Bank in San Rafael, on completing high school in 1956. He entered college that fall, but returned to the bank's employ in July, 1958, at the head office in San Rafael. In October of that year he entered military service, rejoining the bank as chief clerk of the Belvedere-Tiburon branch on his release last November.

He was on vacation at the time of the accident and had driven to Missouri to get his mother, who had gone there because of the death of her father.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother and two sisters.

FAIRFAX GETS HORSEY, AND LIKES IT

Fairfax is more than a one-horse town and the city planning commissioners want it to stay that way.

Last night, by letter, they asked the city council to amend its proposed new zoning ordinance to include an R-1-A zone which would allow horses to be kept on one-acre lots.

The city fathers thought perhaps the planning commissioners should read laws that already exist, particularly an ordinance that provides for horse lovers to board the animals as long as they are not less than 200 feet from a neighbor's door or window. The council felt this could be done on an acre.

"If anything, they could stake their horse in the middle of the acre—on a short rope," suggested Councilman Stanley R. Wilsey.

Mennen Williams Punched In Jaw By African White

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—An unidentified white man punched Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams in the jaw last night.

Williams, whose wife was standing by his side, rolled with the punch although eyewitnesses said the blow took him completely by surprise.

The attack occurred moments before Williams boarded an aircraft for Leopoldville.

Witnesses said the attacker leaped out of the darkness at Williams. The incident seemed to have no effect on Williams.

Convicted Wife-Slayer Due New Trial In Marin

Despite arguments yesterday by a Pasadena attorney that his client would be placed in "double jeopardy" by another trial for murder, convicted wife-slayer Robert Burdette Rogers will go on trial again on the same charge on Sept. 11.

Rogers, 42-year-old San Gabriel contractor was found guilty in 1959 of murdering his wife in San Rafael. He had served 21 months of a five-year-to-life term for second degree murder when the State Supreme Court decided he had been deprived of due process of law during his first trial.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety demanded yesterday that Rogers be tried again on the charge of murder and held without bail pending trial.

His attorney, Robert H. Aarons of Pasadena, asked that the charge be dismissed. He also asked that if the case were to be tried again that Rogers be released on his own recognizance.

Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims denied both motions.

Eisenhower Collapse Is Reported

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower collapsed during his visit to Afghanistan last year but was revived by quick administration of oxygen brought along by a secret service agent, according to former Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman.

He said the incident, a well-guarded secret, occurred after Eisenhower climbed up 24 steps during a ceremony in the Afghanistan capital city, Kabul. Kabul is 6000 feet above sea level.

Former White House press secretary James Hagerty said he did not recall any such incident.

"I was there and I didn't know anything about it," he said. "There were a great many steps to the palace, and the president stopped and rested about half way up, as was his custom after his heart attack. In fact, we all stopped and rested because of the altitude."

Giants Call Upon Sanford To Halt Their Nosedive

The blond right-hander pits his 10-7 record against the Milwaukee Braves' Lew Burdette (15-8) in the first of a two-game series with third place in the National League at stake.

Giants Manager Alvin Dark is counting on Sanford to halt the Giants' four-game losing streak. The Giants and Braves have split 14 games so far this year.

Dark has plenty of worries. In addition to the Giants' injury list, slugger Orlando Cepeda has gone three games without a hit. Willie Mays has knocked in just one run in the last four games. Felipe Alou has just one hit in the last three games.

Harvey Kuenn, who had been out with a pulled leg muscle, is scheduled to take Alou's place in the outfield tonight.

McCovey has hit in nine of those 10 games and collected 17 safeties, including four home runs and four doubles.

Milwaukee is one of McCovey's favorite parks. He's hit .316 there in six games this year, and that includes the night he was blanked in Warren Spahn's no-hitter back on April 28.

Spahn Drawing Close To 20-Win Mark Again

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southpaw Warren Spahn closed in on his 12th season of 20 or more victories last night as the Milwaukee Braves defeated Philadelphia 7-1 and moved within a half-game of third place in the National League race.

It was Spahn's seventh straight success and gave him a career total of 304 victories. That's tops for a left-hander in N.L. history, and just one shy of the all-time major league victory total by a southpaw, Eddie Plank finished with 305 for Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American League.

Spahn's seasonal record is now 16-12.

Spahnie gave up 10 hits, but the Phils' run was unearned. It scored on a single, a walk and two errors in the fourth inning. It was the third time Spahnie has given up 10 hits in his seven-game streak—but the crafty, 40-year-old veteran has allowed no more than two runs in any game in the string.

The Braves, just a half-game behind third place San Francisco going into the opener of a two-game set with the Giants tonight, scored two runs in the second inning, three on Roy McMillan's homer, as Robin Roberts 1-10 suffered the 199th defeat of his career.

Ron Santo did it for the Cubs, who came from behind on his tying double in the seventh inning and then won it in the eighth on his single. Bob Anderson (6-8) was the winner in relief. Reliever Elroy Face (5-7) was the loser, dropping his second decision in three days to the Cubs after running up an 8-0 record against Chicago since 1956.

Yanks, Tigers Setting Stage For Big Series

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Tigers, setting up a hungry growl behind Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash, and the New York Yankees, just fair to middlin' marauders these days behind Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle, begin a prelude to pandemonium in the American League pennant race tonight.

The first place Yankees open a three-game series at Minnesota against the ninth-place Twins with Maris and Mantle slumping in pursuit of Babe Ruth's 60 home run record. And the Tigers, now just 1½ games behind New York, start a three-game home stand against the Chicago White Sox with Colavito within reach of an RBI record and Cash leading the league's hitters at .370.

SHOWDOWN FRIDAY

That will carry the two leaders through Thursday — setting up a weekend rumble in the Bronx when Detroit moves into Yankee Stadium for a three-game showndown beginning Friday night.

Detroit, denied a pennant since 1945, closed in on the idle Yankees yesterday with a 7-3 victory for a four-game sweep at Washington. It was Jake Wood's grandslam that put it away, but Cash was 3-for-3 and Colavita walloped his 39th home run, gaining a tie with Maris for the league RBI lead with 120.

It was the ninth consecutive game in which the Rock has batted in one or more runs. The A.L. record is 10, set by Yankee Lou Gehrig in 1931.

ANGELS WALLOPED

Third place Baltimore walloped the Los Angels Angels 8-1 and Boston beat Kansas City 4-3 in the only other A.L. games scheduled.

The Yankees, who have had to scramble to win seven of their last 10 games while the Tigers were winning 10 of 11, go into Minnesota with a 13-2 record against the Twins. Both defeats were shutouts, and one was by Camilo Pascual (11-13), the right-hander whom they meet tonight. It's Ralph Terry (11-1) for the Yanks. He's won six in a row and has a string of 22 shutout innings.

Detroit gives Frank Lary a shot at his second 20th victory season tonight against Ray Herbert (8-12) of the White Sox, who have won only four of 15 from the Tigers.

GRAND SLAMMER

Detroit made it five in a row on Wood's sixth-inning slam off reliever Ed Hobaugh. It was Wood's first bases-loaded home run in the majors, but the 38th of the year in the A.L., breaking the major league record of 37 set by the AL in 1938. Ronnie Kline (5-7) was the winner.

Jim Gentile and Ron Hansen each hit two-run homers for the Orioles while Hal Brown (10-4) held the Angels to five hits. Ted Bowsfield (9-6) was the loser. It was the 40th home run for Gentile.

The Red Sox beat Norm Bass (7-9) with three runs in the first inning and then counted the clincher on Pumpsie Green's two-out single in the third. Bill Monbuquette (10-12) was the winner with relief help.

Presidio Wins 4-1 Over Dumont Team

The strong Presidio team notched a 4-1 victory over Dumont in San Rafael Recreation Department A League softball play at Albert Park yesterday.

Gold Cup Race Looms As Attraction At Fair

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Miss Century 21, a racing boat named to publicize Seattle's World Fair next year, has given the city a chance to hold the national championship Gold Cup for unlimited class hydroplanes during its 1962 exposition.

"I want to see the Gold Cup raced in Seattle next year," declared driver Bill Muncey, 32, who piloted the winner yesterday in finals which had been delayed from Sunday because of winds.

His victory gives the Washington city a virtual option on holding the race, although a final decision won't be made until later — perhaps at the power boat group's annual meeting here Nov. 16-19.

Muncey's victory was his third in Gold Cup competition and he did it without winning any of his three heats at Pyramid Lake, 33 miles northeast of Reno. He won in 1956 and 1957.

Gold Cup judging is based on total points for three heats, and Miss Century 21 won with a trio of second places.

That gave her 900 points against 800 for Miss U.S. 1 of Detroit, winner of two heats but a nonfinisher in her second heat.

Donnie Wilson piloted Miss U.S. 1 to a triumph in the final heat a 103.490 miles per hour for the 30-mile test—10 times around a three-mile course. Muncey calmly kept Miss Century 21 in the No. 2 spot, finishing at 103.399.

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, who evened a Davis Cup score while winning the National Doubles tennis title, today said they were "lucky" to do both.

The two now are turning full attention to the National Singles at Forest Hills.

McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., became the first American tandem to win the men's crown here since 1954 when they defeated Mexicans Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 13-11 yesterday.

Osuna and Palafox, both in their early 20s, had beaten McKinley and Ralston in four sets at the Davis Cup interzone finals doubles in Cleveland 10 days ago.

Two Youths Hurt In Grid Workouts

Two young footballers were hurt in Marin practice sessions yesterday.

Dane Durham, 13, suffered a sprained back while practicing with the Redwood Junior Giants, sponsored by the Marin Boys Club. The youth was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital, and attendants said the extent of his injury had not yet been fully determined. He is the son of Jerome Durham of Ross.

Dave Jacobson, 15, a Drake High sophomore and member of the school's jayvee team, was taken from the practice field by ambulance yesterday after receiving a jolt in the stomach. His mother, Mrs. Alvin Jacobsen of San Anselmo, said this morning that her son was home and would not attend school today as he was awaiting further examination by his doctor, but that indications were the injuries were not serious. "The doctor said he appeared to have suffered only some torn muscles in his side," she said, "and that there were no internal injuries."

Johnson Risks NBA Crown In Seattle Fight

There is no return bout contract.

However, Johnson, a 2-1 favorite, doesn't appear worried about putting his crown on the line without a chance to get it back in the event he loses.

Naturally the challenger is making the same kind of boast.

"I expect to win," Cotton said. "I'll be going for a knockout and don't be surprised if I get it."

Johnson was a headhunter throughout the training grind, punishing his sparring partners with power punches to the face. Cotton took the other route, staying in close and honing his body attack.

Both fighters can punch. Johnson, working on a 15-fight winning streak, has kayoed 31 while winning 66 of 74 bouts. Cotton, ranked fourth in the 175-pound division by the NBA, has flattened 24 in hanging up a 41-11-1 slate. He has won his last six.

The fight will not be televised.

Tam Swimmers Win Honors In Meet

Coach Bob Casci of the Tamalpais Swim Club today hailed three of his young students for winning honors in the Far Western AAU Swimming Championships in San Francisco over the weekend.

They are Emily Thomson, Pam Kopan and Steve Shields.

Miss Thomson won a first place medal in the 50-meter breaststroke for girls 10 years and under. Her time was 45.8 seconds.

Pam Kopan copped a third place in the 50-meter backstroke for girls 10 and under while young Shields place second in the 50-meter butterfly and fourth in the 50 freestyle for boys 11 and 12 years of age.

49ers Bar Public From Grid Drills

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have opened practice at their regular season camp in Redwood City—and Coach Red Hickey announced that no one except "the press and the owners" will be permitted to watch drills.

"From now on I don't have a friend good enough to get in. Neither do any of the players," Rickey announced yesterday.

Rookie J. W. Lockett oversleft yesterday and reported to the field just as practice was winding up.

He was immediately fined an unspecified amount. Then Hickey announced the incident was closed. And Lockett made it plain he will be on time from here on out.

Hickey had little to say about the game against Minnesota in Portland last Saturday —which the 49ers won 14-10.

"If we had been throwing at all, we'd have won by 50 points. It was just one of those games."

"We'll be thinking about starting the season Friday night when the 49ers meet the Rams.

Shofner Joins His New Team

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Del Shofner has reported to the New York Giants and the Los Angeles Rams, who traded him away, have acquired a No. 1 draft choice for 1962.

The choice is that held by the Minnesota Vikings, who traded it to the Giants for quarterback Buck Shaw. Since the Vikings, making their bow in pro football, figure as a last place team or mighty close to it, the Rams may be able to pick up the top college player in the draft. They should get a highly prized athlete for it, at any rate.

Sixto Vs. Bobo In S.F. Match

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Former world middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson and Sixto Rodriguez will meet in a 10-round light-heavyweight bout at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium Sept. 11, according to promoter Bennie Ford.

GIANTS LIMBER UP FOR GRID SEASON

Redwood High School's Giants, defending champions of the Marin Athletic League, opened practice for the 1961 season yesterday and got a heaping order of calisthenics and more calisthenics. In background are Coach Bob Troppmann (left) and Principal Donald Kreps. Redwood's prospects for the 1961 season will be published in tomorrow's Independent-Journal—the first in a series dealing with Marin football. (Independent-Journal photo)

Dipsea Race Slated Sept. 17; 85 Rugged Runners Expected

Fifty-first annual Dipsea Handicap Race from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach will be run on Sunday, Sept. 17, it was announced today by Art Articary, race chairman ofr the Pacific Assn., Amateur Athletic Union.

To be sponsored again by the South of Market Boys Club of San Francisco, the mountainous 6.8-mile run is expected to draw 85 runners, Articary said.

Marin Athletic Club, which easily won the team championship last year, has entered 30 runners so far, according to the chairman. However, Coach Jim Imperiale's Marin entry list does not yet include the 1960 winner, schoolboy Bob Hope of Mill Valley. Last year Marin had 51 runners in the lineup.

Articary said several trophies and medals again will be up for grabs.

The race will start at Mill Valley's Lytton Square at 10 a.m. and will end at Main Street in Stinson Beach.

Split Waterfowl Season Set For 68 Days—Most Generous Fly Way

STEVENS

Now it's official. We are to have a split waterfowl season of 68 days. Most generous of all the Fly Ways.

The split dates are Oct. 14 through Nov. 20 for the first half and Dec. 9 through Jan. 7 for the last half. The duck bag and possession limits have been set at five. No canvasbacks or redhead ducks may be taken and only one wood duck and one hooded merganser in the bag. The statewide daily bag and possession limit on geese will be six, with not more than three of the dark species allowed.

NOTE: Separate seasons and limits have been set for the Tule Lake-Klamath Basin area and for the area along the Colorado River to conform with seasons and limits in Oregon and Arizona.

The Tule-Lake-Klamath Basin-area will have a straight 75-day waterfowl season from Oct. 21 through Jan. 3. In this area the bag limit will be four with total possession of eight.

In the area immediately along the Colorado River the split duck season totals 68 days and runs from Oct. 7 through Nov. 5 and Dec. 1 through Jan. 7. This region will have a straight 75-day goose season running from Oct. 25 through Jan. 7. Bag limit is four per day and eight in possession.

In Fish and Game District 22, which includes Imperial and Coachella valleys and all of the Colorado River area, only one Canada Goose will be allowed in the shooter's bag and none may be taken after Dec. 17.

THE STATEWIDE bag and possession limit will be 25 coots and gallinules, either separate or in the aggregate of the two species.

THE BRANT season was set at 60 days, from Dec. 2 through Jan. 30 with a bag and total possession limit of three.

Shooting is limited to a half-hour before sunrise to sunset and no shooting until noon on the opening days of the seasons, including the second opening of the split season.

TO JUDGE by the reports on the rabbit population in the local areas, the prospects are as good if not better this year than last. Counts in Modoc and northern Lassen counties have been higher than in 1960. In the Sacramento Valley area it appears quite stable with some regions showing an upsurge. Rabbit numbers are generally up throughout the San Joaquin Valley and its surrounding foothills, with, it seems, more jacks than usual.

Whereas most nimrods prefer the brush, cottontail and pygmy rabbits to the bigger jack rabbits, the jack makes a good dish if properly prepared. Appropos of the last statement: If you would like to get a good recipe for the preparing and cooking of a jack rabbit, drop me a note with a self-addressed and stamped envelope and I'll send it to you.

Hunter Tests Viewed With Mixed Emotions

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — We will be watching with interest but mixed emotions as hunters take the first marksmanship tests ever required of adult hunters in the next few weeks.

They will be those who have their names drawn in applications for the Tule elk hunt to be held in the Owens Valley during October. Forty animals will be killed under strictly controlled conditions — a fish and game man will accompany hunters and select the animals to be eliminated.

But the applicant who has his permit drawn must first pass a marksmanship test. This will be the placing of three out of four shots in an eight-inch bullseye at 100 yards or three out of four shots in an 18-inch bullseye at 200 yards.

TOUGH TEST

If this doesn't sound too tough, consider that shooting must be offhand and in an upright position. This means the shooter may not use a rest, may not kneel or squat.

Our own experience in deer hunting, and that of many of our partners, is that it's only seldom one has to shoot without some sort of a rest, even if it's only to kneel and rest an elbow on your knee.

Aside from these problems, there's the whole idea of the tests in the first place.

Several years ago, Senator Ed C. Johnson, (R-Marysville) who was chairman of the Senate Fish and Game Committee, introduced legislation which would have required hunters to take a written examination before being issued a license. The examination would have been somewhat on the order of the test a driver takes before he's issued a driver's license.

We supported Johnson's bill although, in two different sessions, it was banished for interim committee study. The chief drawback at the time was the extra expense involved in preparing and giving the examinations.

Later, as the hunter safety program of the Department of Fish and Game for youngsters getting their first license began to take effect—and it has had a very good effect—the hunter casualty rate leveled off and, in some years, has tapered off, so the urgency for Johnson's plan lessened.

Because some hunters still are killed or wounded each year and because even one hunting casualty is too many, why should we view the required shooting test with mixed emotions.

The reason is the means in which the marksmanship test was inaugurated. The main pressure came from — you guessed it—the humane society folks.

Thus, while some view the required marksmanship test as a means of insuring more certain and quicker killing of game, and less hazard to other hunters, others take a different view. The latter view is that the humane society folks, with this foot in the door, may soon attempt to have all licensed hunters tested.

ELIMINATE HUNTING

If such testing didn't eliminate enough of the hunters, the humane folks could then move ahead with their eventual plan anyway — which is the elimination of all hunting.

BOWLING ROUNDUP

Valuable Prizes In Marin Tourney

Marin County's bowlers are setting their sights on some $1,500 worth of prizes up for grabs in a special benefit tournament currently under way at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael. All proceeds will be turned over to Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc. of San Rafael, thanks to the tournament sponsored by the San Rafael Lions Club, according to Chairman Bud Maynard.

Competition in the singles handicap tournament for men and women is open daily through Oct. 15. A $1 entry fee, above the cost of the bowling, will be turned over to the Guide Dogs for the Blind.

MARILYN EPIDENDIO and Elinor Davis stole the show and first place money when they teamed up to win Greenbrae Lanes' Women's Doubles Sweeper Saturday afternoon. The duet put on a fine display of consistency by averaging 174 pins per game for a six-game total of 1048. Second place money went to the doubles team of Lu Sharp and Carla Baker, and third place went to Nikki Simonian and Corina Bacigalope, who wound up with series totals of 900 and 895, respectively.

MEANWHILE, in Greenbrae's major loop, the 545 Scratch Trio, Phil Wallace rattled off an 836 four-game series to pace his team to a 3-1 victory over their opponents, and force a two-way tie for first place with only one week of league-play remaining in the season. Wallace, captain of Greenbrae Lanes' entry, deadlocked his team with that of the Plaza, when he shot games of 156-256-211 and 213 for a total of 836. Going into Friday night's final contest, both the Plaza and Greenbrae Lanes have records of 43 wins and 25 defeats. In third place, only one-half game behind, is Weik Brothers Painting.

In the 725 Classic at Country Club Jim Folsom let loose a barrage that totalled 666 pins over three games, including 238, 212 and 216. Bud Kimmell blasted that league's high game, a lofty 246, while Mike Damico went high about his 174 average to turn in a 644 three-gamer, including 234, 218 and 192.

At Nave Lanes' 540 Trio League Bob Miller was at the head of the class with his four-game score of 854, including highs of 244, 217 and 201. In the same circuit Paul Gottlieb rang up an 818 with highs of 236, 201 and 200, while Walt Silva was next with an 816 featuring 230, 212 and 202. Rounding out the honor roll were Vid Vidlock with 801 (217, 204, 202), Will Corda with 798 (243), Phil Wallace 781 (229, 201) and Keith Morris 770 (244).

Other highlights from around Marin:

Heavies Put On Dull Bout In S.F. Ring

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — When even the timekeeper scrams without announcing the exact moment that a prize fight has been stopped, you can be pretty sure that it was a dull bout.

And that's what happened last night when Alejandro Lavorante of Argentina stopped bulky Willi Besmanoff of Far Rockaway, N.Y., in the seventh of a stodgy, 10 round contest promoted by Benny Ford.

A crowd which put $9,264.25 into the till at Civic Auditorium, clapped in rhythm from the fifth round on as the Mutt and Jeff heavyweight combination struggled around the ring.

Matters suddenly ended in the seventh when Besmanoff, who was 4½ inches shorter than the rangy South American and scaled 204 pounds to Lavorante's 209, went to one knee after being tagged by a left and right to the head.

He was up at the count of seven but at that point referee Frankie Carter called in Dr. Don Lastreto, the commission physician, to check a cut right eye which Besmanoff had sustained in the third round. Lastreto halted the bout and then ring announcer Johnny Vick vainly searched the ringside for a sign of Dr. Louis Lichtenstein, local dentist who has been the official timekeeper for years in this area.

The good doctor had vanished into the crowd, which wasn't wasting any time getting out. And so the technical knockout went into the books at an unofficial 58 seconds.

"I don't think the kid is ready yet for Archie Moore," the battle-weary Besmanoff said afterward. "I've fought Archie twice and I know. Lavorante just leaves himself too wide open. I'd have probably nailed him if it hadn't been for this eye."

Bigamist Kills Wife, Himself

LIVERMORE (AP) — William Wright, 23, went to jail on a bigamy charge in 1960, two days before his second wife, Susan, gave birth to their daughter.

Wright's first wife, Iris, had signed the bigamy complaint, charging Wright had married Susan without obtaining a divorce.

After a year at Alameda County's Santa Rita prison farm, Wright returned to Susan and the couple lived together in the Vila Gulf housing project in Livermore.

Neighbors said they bickered almost constantly.

Susan's brother, Harland Hahn, 14, was at their home yesterday.

He said they argued most of the morning. Then as Susan sat down to eat lunch, Hahn said, Wright leveled a deer rifle and shot her. She died instantly.

Then Wright turned to young Hahn. "You'd better get out of here—start running."

As the boy fled he heard another shot. Police found Wright dead, shot through the mouth.

Two At San Quentin Are Denied Parole

A Marin arsonist and a San Quentin killer have been denied parole by the California Adult Authority.

The authority in its August session denied parole for Malcolm Schlette, who is serving an indeterminate term for setting fire to the Bleu Baie Tavern at Tomales in 1954. Further parole consideration was postponed for one year.

Schlette was accused of setting fire to the tavern on Sept. 9, 1954, and again on Feb. 23, 1955—the latter fire burning it to the ground. He was found guilty of the first fire, and the jury failed to agree on his guilt in the second.

He was questioned also regarding the fire at the Lodge in San Rafael in March, 1955, which took eight lives. He was a tenant in the Lodge at the time. He was not charged with this fire, however.

Parole also was denied Victor Bello, a three-time loser who knifed to death a fellow San Quentin Prison inmate on Dec. 29, 1957, because he was annoyed by the inmate's singing.

Bello was found guilty of second degree murder in the prison slaying of Edward L. Daniels, who was serving time for grand theft and narcotics violation. Bello was serving sentences for grand theft and escape. His sentence for second degree murder was made concurrent with the prior terms. Further consideration of his parole application also was postponed one year.

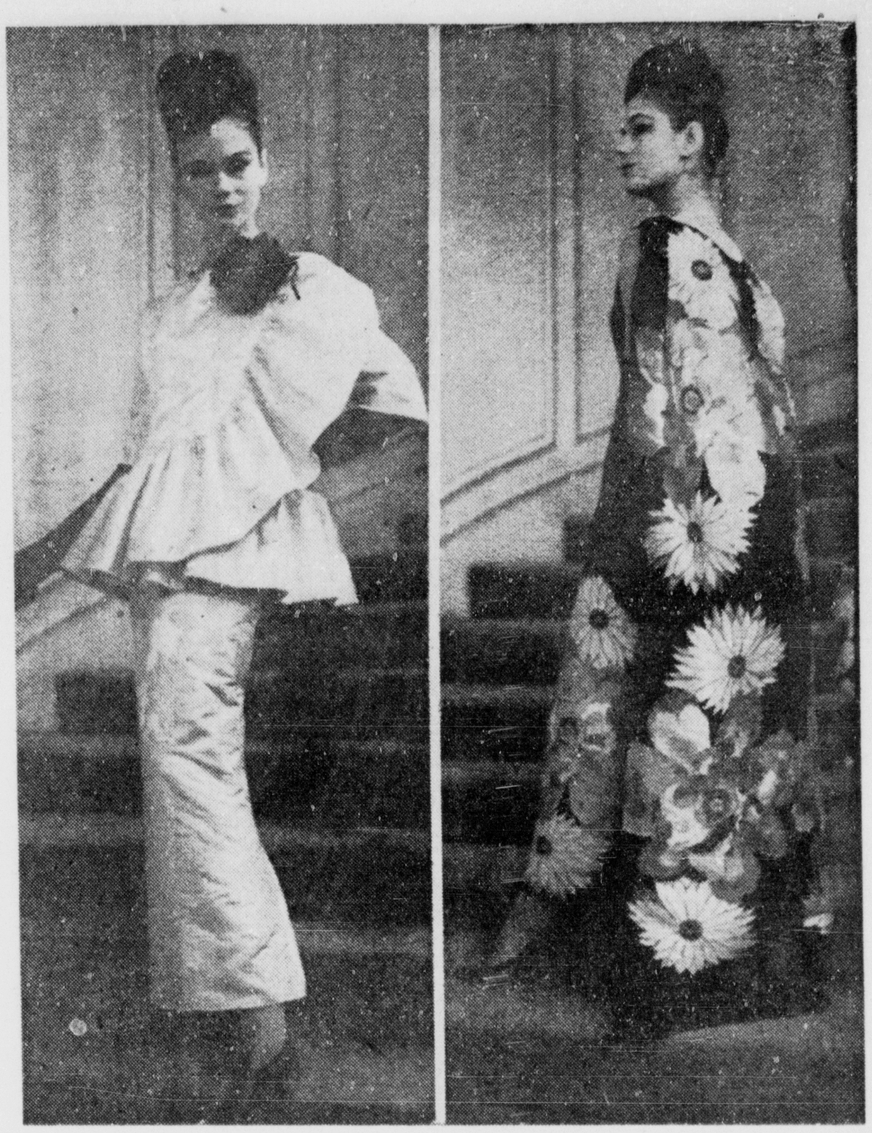
DIOR

This is the "look" for fall and winter, 1961, as decreed by Marc Bohan of the House of Dior. Narrow, almost skimpy shoulders, long, tight sleeves, flat chest, natural waist, and wide-flaring skirt trace the new silhouette. This version, featuring a tiny bolero jacket, is done in cocoa brown wool with a deeper brown suede belt. It is worn with a head-hugging wild mink hat. (UPI Telephoto)



CARDIN

Here are two evening gowns from the fall collection of Paris designer Pierre Cardin. At left is a sheath of white silk with a large flounce running from shoulder to waistline. A big red rose is worn at the start of the flounce. The oriental motif is evident in the gown at the right inspired by the Japanese kimono. It is a sheath in black silk with large, bright colored embroidered flowers. A matching cape is attached to the shoulders and falls gracefully to the floor. (More fashion pictures on page 16). Parisian Pace Setters

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—The just-released pictures of new Paris creations show that just about every term in the fashion dictionary has been dragged out and put to work for the 1961-62 fall and winter clothes. Capes, hoods, scarves, drapes, flares, godets, diagonals, tucks and gathers are all in the picture.

Basically, it's a princess season, with a cautious approach to figure-fitting lines. Only Marc Bohan of Dior throws caution to the winds and boldly embraces the stringbean silhouette. Even he makes some big flared skirts for insurance, just in case women are not quite ready to go back to corsets yet.

Materials, colors and costume jewelry are kept sober, and for a good reason. The clothes themselves are busy with details and intricate bias cuts. One designed aptly describes them as "clothes conscious clothes."

For those already following Paris on length, there's no need to take up or let down hems. The dressmakers are holding the line just below the knee, with a few skittish mid-knee exceptions. This no-change policy foiled the rumor-mongers who said we were in for a let-down.

Brown is a top colors, crowded closely by the purple range from prune to cyclamen. When red, green and blue appear, they are usually bold and bright. Black, gray and beige are still good for daytime.

Hats have shrunk to reasonable sized helmets and turbans. Many of them are in fur, to go with such fur trimmings as collars, cuffs, hems and narrow outline bands. Some designers showed two-color furs, typically brown with beige. In the same theme are wool coats lined with a contrasting color in the same wool.

Belts have never bene so plentiful since the sack consigned them to the limbo that is always only temporary in the fashon world. Most of them are wide ones for good measure.

Little Red Riding Hood seems to have been just about everybody's inspiration this season. Capes and hoods are all over.

Plaids are almost the only break from plain solid colors. Things get gay for the evening, though, with sinuous sequins and beads, glittering lame and embroidery, brocades and cut velvet. The long slim evening dress has snatched the lead from big-skirted ball dresses.

In a season that seemed tame by comparison with the old days of Fath and Schaiparelli, Nina Ricci's designer Jules Crahay came up with the only thing approaching a dramatic creation. This was his one-sleeved cape, with fan front thrown up over one shoulder.

Lucia Shehadi Weds Richard B. Hoadley

San Anselmo's First Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Lucia Emily Shehadi, daughter of the N. Nicholas Shehadis of San Anselmo, and Richard Bayard Hoadley.

Cynthia Ann Shehadi, as maid of honor for her sister, and bridesmaids Pamela H. Long of New York City and Mrs. Particia Hampsen of Seattle, the bridegroom's sister, wore ballerina gowns of aqua peau de soie.

A reception followed the ceremony on the patio of the church.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and San Francisco State College. This fall, she will do her student teaching in the San Jose School District.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Hoadley of Seattle, was graduated from Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., and is a student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. He is affiliated with the Inter-Collegiate Knights.

If Your Boy Plays Football Be Sure He's In Good Health

Did football practice start earlier this year? Or are our days hotter? Something is wrong. Several players have died from heat prostration in various parts of the country. If you have a boy who plays football, I have several suggestions for you.

Have your boy given a complete physical exam, and don't let him play without your doctor's full approval. I'm sorry, but you cannot always rely on exams given by team doctors. Most team doctors are very careful. But a few are not. I saw one doctor "examine" 100 boys in less than one hour. Enough said.

Check the safety equipment issued your son. Make certain it is complete and in good working order, and that your boy wears it in all scrimmages and games. Helmets are especially important. There have been many deaths because of inadequate safety equipment. Some schools give good protective gear to the first string players, but almost nothing to the scrubs. I believe every boy who goes into a scrimmage should have full protection. The lives of the scrubs are just as important as the lives of the varsity stars.

Ask about the schedule for the season. Be sure your boy's team will not play teams which clearly outclass it. Such games are especially dangerous. Inquire about football player insurance. Is the policy large enough to pay big medical bills? Many schools now carry insurance, but often the policies are small. Finally, make sure that a doctor will be present at all games, and that he will go out on the field and examine boys who get hurt. Amateur "trainers" sometimes make ghastly mistakes.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "A few years ago there was a scandal about coaches giving high school and college football players drugs, so they'd play harder. I believe some doctors uncovered the practice. Do coaches still do that?" R.C.

(A) As far as I know they do not. The practice was not common. I believe it never occurred in this community.

Women Should Learn To Spend Money Wisely

Women are the money bags of the country says an expert in finance, Mary G. Roebling.

"And if they are going to continue control of the nation's purse strings, they should learn to do it well as a contribution to our economy," she says.

The first woman to head a major banking institution and the first woman governor of the American Stock Exchange, Mrs. Roebling points out that 80 per cent of the nation's money is spent by women, "yet women are timid about seeking information that will answer their money problems."

Women own 52 per cent of all stock out today, she says, and when they become aware that high finance isn't a big complicated mishmash of egghead proportions, they become eager for financial knowledge.

"What they fail to realize is that they could stand on a street corner and ask their questions of the first 10 men they meet, and the men would not know the answers either."

Mrs. Roebling started her financial career as a customer's woman in a Philadelphia brokerage house. Fourteen years ago she assumed her late husband's post as director of the Trenton Trust Co. She is now president and chairman of the board. The bank's resources expanded from 17 million dollars to more than 90 million during her tenure.

Her aim has been to encourage women by education in finance, and she has persuaded brokerage houses to point up their advertising to women, service them with a monthly magazine and to institute investment clubs. (AP)

YOUR HOUSEHOLD

Many Modern Kitchens Lack Good Basic Culinary Tools

Does your kitchen measure up to par?

Chances are it doesn't, proud as we American housewives are of our automatic ovens, beaters and blenders, dishwashers and disposals. Surveys show that many American kitchens lack the inexpensive basic tools used in good cooking.

Even the well equipped kitchen is apt to be a grab-bag of spoons, sifters, beaters and other tools that are obsolete. While the man of the house won't do without his complete tool kit or his matched set of golf clubs, the housewife is likely to work three meals a day, seven days a week with odds and ends gotten years ago or passed along by a relative.

What's par for the well-equipped kitchen? Not including pots and bowls, 19 kitchen utensils will give the basic equipment. To purchase all 19 would cost you less than $20, a fraction of the price of the automatic appliances found in almost every kitchen.

Set of divided measuring cups, set of measuring spoons, flour sifter, kitchen tongs, glass measuring cup, two-tined fork, cake tester, pastry brush, grater for cheese, fruit rind and vegetables; slicer-serrator, can and bottle opener, vegetable parer, spatula, turner, paring knife, roasting pan, rolling pin and pastry cloth, baster, food masher.

Check, too, to see that the utensils you have are up-to-date. To be sure you have quality as well as quantity, check these points:

Individual, clearly-marked measuring cups. You can't accurately measure a half-cup in a one-cup measure.

A full set of measuring spoons. Look for the modern, long-handled spoons which reach easily into deep containers, make accurate work easy.

St. Rita's Festival This Weekend

The booth will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moraes. Coffee, homemade cake and hot dogs will be available throughout the festival, which will start on Saturday at 2 p.m. and continue through Monday at 10 p.m.

The Italian Catholic Federation will also be in charge of the chicken and spaghetti dinner which will be served on Saturday evening from 5:30 until 8 p.m. Mrs. David Lippi, chairman of the federation festivities has asked that reservations for the dinner be made for 5:30, 7 or 8 p.m. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Lippi or Mrs. Joseph Scafidi.

In charge of cooking the dinner will be Angelo Guaglianone and Gina Menchini.

Smooth Varnish

If bubbles form when you varnish, they can be removed before they dry by brushing them back into the surface with light feathering strokes of a nearly dry brush before the varnish sets. One way to avoid bubbles is not to stir or shake varnish. Secondly, do not brush varnish out vigorously as you do paint. Instead, flow the varnish on smoothly from a well-loaded brush with as few strokes as possible.

Cover Ironing Board

Fit ironing board covers snugly by lacing a cord through safety pins attached to the edges of the cover on the underside of the board. Line up pins opposite each other.

FOOD AND THE FAMILY

Barbecue Is Seen As Sign Of Affluence, Modern Life

One of a series of articles on the housewife and her family's attitude toward food as expressed in a new survey.

By BARBARA HOSMER

"Eating out-of-doors symbolizes modern living and affluence. It is a sign of having leisure and space, or being able to vary one's consumption in ingenious and civilized ways."

This is the finding of the social researchers, who conclude that backyard barbecues seem to be more characteristic of the upper middle class families than lower social strata, but do go on at all levels.

How much outdoor cooking is done depends on the place and type of residence, as we in Marin know, having considerable experience in patio chef work.

Part of the reason many Marinites settled here is that they wanted the space and climate to do such things as barbecue, which in the popular mind is linked with informal entertaining, swimming, the good old summertime and the "this is the life" kind of feeling.

Supposedly the barbecue is easy on the hosts and permits everyone to enjoy the sweet air of summer. Moreover, the food possibilities are many, the range going from hot dogs and burgers with all the fixin's through elaborate shish kabob or fine steaks.

Men customarily do the barbecuing, while the woman prepares all the side dishes and set the table. The men generally take all the bows for the meal, feeling that they have done the important part.

Sometimes the neighbors come over. "We get together with the people next door and have cook-outs, and we have had impromptu cookouts with other neighbors," one wife explained.

"We'll be around the pool, and then we'll just pitch in whatever food we've got and my husband usually does the cooking," she said.

But apartment dwellers, who are on the increase in Marin, tend to wait to be invited to others' barbacues, unless they are lucky enough to have a porch or patio large enough to grill their own foods. Then they usually can only accommodate their own families because of space limits.

Childbirth Series Slated Sept. 7

A new series of classes in the education for childbirth program will begin Sept. 1. They will be held Thursday from 2 to 2:30 p.m. and from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gunhild Brown and Mrs. William M. Weeks, registered physical therapists, will be the instructors. The classes are conducted in the office of Mrs. Brown, 711 D Annex, San Rafael.

The eight-week course includes training in exercise for relaxation, breathing techniques, and posture. Emphasis is given to the understanding of the processes of pregnancy and labor. Expectant fathers are invited to attend the parent's class, where films are shown. The expectant mother must have her doctor's written permission to enroll in the series.

Allender-McHarry Nuptials

White flowers were at the altar of the Protestant Chapel of Hamilton Air Force Base on Aug. 19 when Carol McHarry of Novato became the bride of Lt. James R. Allender.

The Rev. Wallace M. Hough officiated for the 2 o'clock double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. R. A. McHarry of Novato. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Allender of Garberville.

Capt. Fred Roll served as best man. Ushers were Lts. James Milner, Dean Peterson and William Foster. All the groomsmen are stationed at Hamilton Field.

A reception for 200 guests followed the ceremony at the Officers' Club.

The bride was graduated from San Rafael High School and College of Marin. She is now attending San Francisco State College. Her sorority is Beta Sigma Phi. Mr. and Mrs. John Lassman of Cherryvale, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Neal of Neosho, Mo., are her grandparents.

The bridegroom was graduated frfom the University of Washington and is a member of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity. He is a pilot with the 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton. He is the brother of Francis Allender of Eureka; Robert, of Arcata; Lee, of Garberville and William, of Santa Rosa.

Following a wedding trip to Canada, the newlyweds will make their home in Ignacio.

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The Samuel Gardiners entertained 50 friends at a dinner party Saturday at their Fairhills home. It was such a delightful evening that dinner was served in their large patio.

SEVERAL PRE-NUPTIAL events honored Susan Marie MacDonald who will become the bride of Stephen Mayhew Allen Saturday morning at the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo. The reception following the 11 o'clock ceremony will be in the Fireside Room of the church. Sunday Susan's mother entertained at a luncheon honoring the bride-to-be and the girls in her wedding party. Guests were Steve's mother, Mrs. Lewis Mayhew Allen of Kent Woodlands, Jeanette Dahl, who will be flower girl and her mother, Mrs. Charles Dahl of Fairfax. Heidi Hubbell of San Anselmo, Susan's friend since early girlhood, who will be organist, Lynne Nelson of San Anselmo and Millicent Mundt, formerly of that city, who with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Carlos Mundt, now lives in Carmel. Lynne and Millicent will be bridesmaids.

Recently Mrs. Allen gave a tea at her home honoring her future daughter-in-law. Invited to meet her were Kent Woodlands neighbors and friends from San Francisco and the Peninsula. The Allens will host a supper party Thursday night for the bridal party following the wedding rehearsal.

HOUSEGUESTS OF the Robert Aldermans of Ross were her cousin, Mrs. Pearl Serbus, and her 14 year old son, Allan. Mrs. Serbus was in San Francisco for a week on business before she came over for five days at the Alderman home. She is editor of three newspapers in the suburbs of Chicago, Dolton, Harvey and Riverdale. She was the original Prudence Penny of the Chicago Herald-American and has a newspaper column.

A CHAMPAGNE DINNER was given Saturday night by Mrs. Bari Frolich to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Ellison to Fairhills and to introduce them to some of their neighbors. Extending a warm welcome to the Ellisons were Senator and Mrs. John McCarthy, Messrs. and Mesdames Kenneth Davis, Hugo Rinaldi and Lou Ashe. (Mr. Ellison is a business associate of Lou Ashe.)

Highlight of the evening was an impromptu fashion show. The women guests modeled hats Mrs. Frolich had received from Mr. Tom, Hollywood designer. Ursula McCarthy did a clever and amusing commentary.

The party adjourned to the Lou Ashe home for a music finale. Margaret Davis, concert pianist, played a number of Bach compositions. Hugo Rinaldi entertained with violin numbers and Lou Ashe, who was a professional singer and has a glorious baritone voice, gave a delightful performance.

BACK in their Kentfield home after a two week vacation trip are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Barr. They left Aug. 15 for Pendleton, Ore. to visit Lynn's mother, Mrs. Sophia Thomson. After that they drove to Spokane, Wash. and to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Then they traveled north to Lake Louise, Banff and to Calgary, Canada. They crossed the border again to visit Glacier National Park in Montana, Grand Teton National Park and Yellowstone National Park. On the return trip the Barrs drove through Pocatello, Twin Falls, Idaho, then south to Jack-Pot, Elko, Winnemucca and Reno.

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 29, the 241st day of the year with 124 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1901, Kansas temperance agitator Carrie Nation, armed with a hatchet, descended on a New York City saloon. Earlier she had harrassed city hall officials.

In 1945, Marine Major Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, World War II hero, was found alive in a Japanese prison camp.

In 1960, the premier of Jordan and 11 others were killed when a time bomb exploded in the premier's office.

A thought for today: English poet Geoffrey Chaucer said: "Let no man think that he's exceptional, for fortune will desert us one and all."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Give Up Just Because Cards Seem To Favor Enemy

Don't give up just because the cards seem to lie favorably for your opponent. It's good for his soul to do a little work. Besides, he may find a way to misplay the hand.

Opening lead — ♠ 6

West opened the six of spades, and South wondered how he was going to play the diamonds. If he could afford it, he would try some sort of finesse. He was willing to give up one diamond trick to make sure of the other six tricks.

Meanwhile, East could see that the situation was virtually hopeless. West's opening lead was clearly top-of-nothing. South was going to win two spades, six or seven diamonds and goodness only knew what else.

PLAY ON FEAR: Instead of giving up East decided to play on South's fear. When declarer played the ten of spades dummy at the first trick, East put up the jack instead of winning with the ace.

South won with the queen of spades and reviewed the position. It seemed to him that West had led from a long spade suit headed by A-9-7-6. If East could lead a spade, the hand would blow up.

Since he didn't relish the idea of a blow-up, South decided to play the diamonds in the hope that the queen would drop. He played dummy's ace and king of diamonds, but the only thing that dropped was South's chin as he managed to snaggle only seven tricks.

"Very silly," you may say. Agreed. But South was an experienced, and perhaps you'd better knock wood to make sure it couldn't happen to you.

While you're knocking that wood, give East credit for his imaginative play at the first trick. If East played the ace of spades, South would have no fear of the spades. He would try a diamond finesse and would wind up making eleven or twelve tricks.

DAILY QUESTION: Partner opens with one heart, and the next player bids two diamonds. You hold:

♠ A J 9 7 2
♣ 9 6 5 3 2

What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The hand may be a misfit. If partner has strength in the unbid suit, he will reopen the bidding with a takeout double. If he cannot, you won't lose much by staying out of the bidding.

10 New Beer, Wine Licenses In Marin

Ten new on-sale beer and wine licenses for restaurants were approved for issuance in Marin yesterday by state liquor director Malcolm E. Harris.

Harris said drawings will be conducted in counties where the number of applications exceeds the available licenses. There were 435 licenses approved throughout the state, to go only to restaurants, Associated Press reported from Sacramento.

They were approved on the basis of legislation this year which removed beer and wine from the ratio of one alcoholic beverage license for each 1,000 population in a county.

Officials of the regional Alcoholic Beverage Control Department in Santa Rosa said thus far there had been no applications for the licenses.

Art Store Hours

Hours of Creative Arts, new arts and crafts supplies store at 22 El Portal in Sausalito, will be 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays, owner John Minton said today. He had earlier announced the closing hour Monday through Saturday would be 6 p.m.

Tomales High School Reschedules Opening

Tomales High School students were rejoicing today—their school has rescheduled its opening from Sept. 5 to Monday, Sept. 11.

Principal Anthony Matulich's secretary, Mrs. Helen Smith, announced that contractors remodeling classrooms and reconstructing an administrative building at the school will not be finished in time for a regular opening. She said they should be finished before Sept. 11.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Cost Of Living At New High --With Continued Rise Seen

NEW YORK (AP) — According to the official figures, the cost of living has moved to a new high—and probably will keep rising.

According to many harassed heads of families, making both ends meet keeps geeting harder.

But some business and financial spokesmen hold that the cost of living hasn't risen as much as the Labor Department's consumer price index indicates. They say the quality of many items has increased as well as the price and the index isn't adjusted to show that.

Many of you may retort that neither is it adjusted to take into account the numerous cases where quality of consumer items isn't what it used to be.

Another argument is that the rising cost of living has been offset by the increase in personal incomes — in many cases a rise from wage scales tied directly to the index itself. In other words, both prices and wages have risen, and only the marketplace value of the dollar has dropped.

In judging the worth of the index, others point out that in America individualists are still liberally sprinkled among the conformists. And the increasingly sophisticated housewife or head of the family often can switch from one item to another when prices seem out of line.

So, while the official index goes up seasonally or chronically, many families may simply have changed the items on the dinner table for the time being, or put off buying something or other, or otherwise changed their spending habits. The individual family budget, in other words, may be far different from the average which the consumer price index is supposed to mirror.

All these arguments would tend to minimize the threat of further inflation which some see in the slowly but steadily rising cost of living index.

And the official Washington view just now is that there is little danger because of abundant supplies of most things due to unusued industrial capacity, or a lack of any rush to buy by either consumers or businessmen.

Auto labor negotiations, talk of a price rise in steel this fall, or more and bigger increase in government spending if the Berlin crisis worsens—all these may affect the stock market, but is not official thing as yet.

But at the family level, rising costs are a very present problem.

Seasonal changes in the cost of food are more or less accepted. But always there is that periodic purchase or fee. The replacement always seems to cost more than the original bought a while back.

Or you may be surprised, in spite of all the warnings you had, how much more it will cost you to send your child to college this fall than it cost your parents when you went.

And each year there is something new that your family wants badly if it is to be as happy as the others in the neighborhood or as the families of your fellows at the office or the factory. These wants may be for goods, or, increasingly, they may be for services.

This is known as the rising standard of living and is one of the glories of a prosperous American economy.

But it is also known as the rising cost of living. Prices may go up, but so do the qualities we demand of the goods, services or conveniences we insist on—when we can pay for them.

No Change Seen For School Bus Schedule

There is no change anticipated in bus schedules for the Sausalito School District for the new school year, Supt. Marcus F. Davis said today.

Davis added that, for those parents new to the district, bus schedule information may be obtained by telephoning the district schools. School starts at 8:30 a.m. next Tuesday.

Readers Welcome
Newspaper Advertising

... for ads are news. Through the magic of paper, ink and ideas, they bring the story of products, prices and values. They bring it in print and they bring it today.

This explains why more than 80% of people favor newspaper advertising—more than for any other medium.

With this receptivity, your ads have a headstart in selling. And with the Independent-Journal you get a headstart in readership—for Marin families prefer the I-J's advertising 2 to 1* over any other newspaper that circulates in the county.

Here, then, is the ideal sales climate. So, if you're really sales-minded—come on in. We'll introduce you to 29,000 families ... with the highest average income in any county in the state.

Babysitting School Being Run By State

By ROBERT FAIRBANKS

Sacramento (UPI)—Lo. the new babysitter — a teen-age girl trained by professionals to fight fires, treat wounds and deal with lewd and lascivious phone calls. She is also trained to change diapers and tell bedtime stories.

Between 18 and 25 of the girls are graduating every week from a "school for babysitters" operated by the State Department of Employment.

Wynton W. Cochran, department representative in-charge, said that it was the first such school in California and probably the nation. If the four-day course proves successful among 6,000 girls registered as babysitters in the Sacramento area, it will soon be given in other parts of the state.

The school opened Aug. 7, he said, because the department got tired of hearing complaints about girls it referred to parents from its regional offices. At first, the department tried issuing pamphlets to the girls. They contained such instructions as:

But the complaints contined, mostly because a few of the girls did not know how to handle themselves in minor emergencies. One parent complained because a girl did no more than put an adhesive plaster on an infant's serious cut.

The new school opens with a two-day session on "The Care of Infants." Taught by a registered nurse, this part of the course covers such things as how to hold a baby, how to pass him from one person to another without dropping, diaper changing and feeding.

On the third day, a professional recreation instructor tells the girls how to keep older children amused. The instructor gives each girl a list of games and makes the point that it is best to switch children from active play to storytelling as bedtime nears.

"You won't have so much trouble getting them to sleep," the instructor said.

A policewoman, a fireman and a first aid instructor lecture on the fourth day. The policewoman tells the girls to lock the house and stay inside. If someone makes a lewd phone call, the girl should hang up and forget it. "These are sick people," the policewoman said.

SUMMONS

Plaintiff
vs.
CHARLOTTE ANDERSON,
Defendant

Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Marin, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

William R. Talley,
101 Casa Buena Drive,
Corte Madera, California,
WAbash 4-3078
Plaintiff's Attorney.

No. 34642.
Dept. No. 1.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA SEND GREETINGS TO CHARLOTTE ANDERSON

You are hereby directed to appear and answer the complaint filed in the County of Marin in an action entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin, within ten days after the service on you of this summons—if served within said County, or within thirty days if served elsewhere.

You are hereby notified that unless you appear and answer as above required, the said Plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint as arising upon contract, or will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

The object of this action is to have the Court decree the cancellation of a deed running from plaintiff to defendant; that plaintiff be adjudged the owner in fee simple of said real property and that defendant be adjudged to have no estate therein.

The premises affected by this action are situated in the Town of Corte Madera, County of Marin, State of California, commonly known as 673 Redwood Avenue, and particularly described as:

Lot numbered Two Hundred and Twenty-six (226) in Corte Madera Woods, Corte Madera, Marin County, California, as per amended maps filed in the office of the Recorder of said County of Marin.

WITNESS MY HAND AND THE SEAL OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF MARIN, this 21st day of August, 1961.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE

In the Matter of the Guardianship of the Person and Estate of LAURA BARSTOW MORRIS, also known as LAURA B. MORRIS, an Incompetent Person.

No. 13615.
Dept. No. 2.

Notice is hereby given that on or after October 15, 1961, the undersigned, WILLIAM R. TALLEY, as guardian of the person and estate of LAURA BARSTOW MORRIS, also known as LAURA B. MORRIS, an incompetent person, will sell at private sale to the highest net bidder, subject to confirmation by the above-entitled Superior Court, all the right, title, interest, and estate of said incompetent person in and to that certain real property located in the Town of Corte Madera, County of Marin, State of California, commonly known as 673 Redwood Avenue, and particularly described as:

Lot numbered Two Hundred and Twenty-Six (226) in Corte Madera Woods, Corte Madera, Marin County, California, as per amended maps filed in the office of the Recorder of said County of Marin.

Subject to: current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way and easements of record. Bids or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing and may be delivered to the guardian at his office, 101 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, California, or may be filed in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

Terms and conditions of sale: cash in lawful money of the United States of America; 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. Taxes and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be pro-rated as of the date of confirmation of sale. The examination of title, recording of conveyance, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

DATED: August 21, 1961.

THE MILL CREEK
"The Most Magnificent Address In Marin"
My family is raised. We wish to sell our home with its upkeep and loss of interest and move into an apt. But it must be very large and gorgeous. A 1-bedroom (900 sq. ft.) or 2 bedrm., 2 bath (1200 sq. ft.) We want Country-Park-like setting with tall beautiful redwood trees, a live creek meandering through the property. Must be level, and walking distance to the quaint downtown shopping of Mill Valley . . . OH DEAR! We have just wished ourselves into the MILL CREEK. You will too if you see this unbelievable setting. 3 Marinites Win Service Awards

Three Marin residents have been awarded a total of $750 in service awards from the Social Security Administration in San Francisco.

They are Mrs. Mercia L. Kahn, manager of the social security office at 761 South Van Ness Avenue in San Francisco and a resident of 16 Bayview Avenue, Larkspur, and other employees of the same office, Paul Seigel of Mill Valley and Arlo W. Giles of 153 Alpine Street, San Rafael.

The awards were presented by E. W. Tallman, western regional representative of the Social Security Administration, who said the three were being recognized for the office's "high quality of service to the public."

In 'Fleet Sail'

Participating in a large "fleet sail" aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger when the carrier left Hawaii last weekend for a cruise to the Western Pacific were Navy Lt. (jg) Clifford R. Den-Otter, son of Mrs. Lilley J. Den-Otter of 14 Willow Street, San Rafael, and Marshall E. Fenstermaker, Navy seaman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Fenstermaker of 620 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

New Teachers To Be Welcomed

Teachers new to San Rafael city schools, will be welcomed by the San Rafael Teachers Assn. at a breakfast at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow in the San Rafael High School cafeteria.

Sixty-five new teachers, along with administrators, principals and returning teachers are expected to be present, said Mrs. Margaret Schave, chairman of the event. Frances Mason, president of the association, which is a unit of the California Teachers Assn., will preside. Mrs. Edna Rossi and Mrs. Thelma Tabor are assisting in arrangements for the breakfast.

Did They Mean Cuties Or Duties?

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A copy of a City Council resolution commending George Arneson, retiring city purchasing director, was retyped because of this interesting error:

"Whereas he has carried on the cuties of his office with a minimum of cost to the city."

KTIM Plans Late News Broadcast

Heard at 9:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, the broadcast is devoted mainly to Marin coverage, with a brief look at regional and world developments. Turner pointed out that this late news was impossible formerly because of the AM station's sunset signoff time, dictated by the Federal Communications Commission. The FM outlet at 100.9 megacycles is on the air until 10:30 p.m. weekdays and 10 p.m. on Sunday.

In addition to full coverage from the Independent-Journal, the KTIM final edition picks up any newsbreaks after the I-J's press time, Turner said The newscast is put out by Bob Eldred.

Sausalitans Celebrate 50 Wedded Years

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Taylor, residents of Marin for 40 years, celebrated their golden wedding recently with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bianchi at the Bianchis' home in Contra Costa County.

Taylor, 80, and his wife, Christine, 84, reside at 33 Miller Avenue, Sausalito.

An engineer, Taylor was inspector during the building of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. He is a member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marin Engineers and assistant member of the U.S. Naval Institute. He was West Coast coordinating engineer of the U.S. Maritime Commission.

A charter member of Marvelous Marin and of the Redwood Empire Assn., Taylor was also once on the vestry of Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito.

He was the last chief engineer of Alto power house when it had its own turbines and steam driven generators.

Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of the Murray House Teaching College of Edinburgh.

New Lotion Bathes-Away Poison Oak

This month an exciting new scientific "miracle" product was placed on drug counters in this area. Called BATHE-AWAY the new product is not greasy or messy. It is an invisible delicately scented lotion that bathes away the itch of poison oak — usually with one application. Poison oak sufferers say it clears unsightly poison oak rash very quickly. Children may use it safely. Best idea for families in this poison oak danger area is to have BATHE-AWAY POISON OAK in the medicine chest ready for emergencies. See your druggist at once.

PARENTS OF 4-YEAR-OLDS:
WILL THEY BE READY?

Those students who start at the top of the class, usually stay at the top of the class—and just one simple step could assure your child of a happier, more productive school life. Research shows that the critical years between the ages of three and six are the years when the child's basic concepts and behavior patterns are established—so FYT Pre-Schools was formed to fill this aching void . . . where a scientifically controlled introduction to school in general, and reading in particular, could give the young child a head start towards a successful and happy school career. The purpose of FYT Pre-Schools is to condition children to find satisfaction and PLEASURE in the school situation—and they work towards this end through a carefully selected staff, presenting a program of instruction in foreign languages, music, science and reading readiness. To learn how FYT Pre-Schools foster a happy and creative attitude towards the classroom—and help your child to realize his full potential, phone for information or an interview—GReenfield 9-7711—or attend open house, Wednesday evenings at eight or Saturday at one at FYT Pre-Schools, 10 Joseph Court, Redwood Highway—opposite Terra Linda.
